Vol. XLIX. MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 7, 1930. C DAILY, FIVE CENTS

LAW BROKEN BY GANDHI

"Revolt" in India Launched

Leader Defies Salt Rules by Wading in Sea as His Followers Cheer

Jail and Others Seized But Police Fail to Molest Mahatma Himself

LONDON, April 7. (Monday) (AP)—A dispatch from Dandi, India, to the Daily Mail this morning quotes Mahatma Gandhi, Indian Nationalist leader, as saying that if he is not arrested for his breach of the salt-tax laws he will have to devise other means of forcing the issue with the authorities.

BOMBAY (India) April 6. (AP)—Mahatma Gandhi, Nationalist leader of India and Hindu philosopher, waded into the sea near this little village on the Gulf of Cambay at 6 a.m. today and violated the salt monopoly of the Indian government by boiling up sea water in an earthen pot to be heated for the production of salt.

Thus he opened the long-awaited nationalist campaign of nonviolent resistance to the government with a overt act of disobedience, which he has the goal of his 200-mile march from Ahmadabad with his band of volunteers.

The consequences of this simple action, performed in a primitive setting of marshland, small villages and long, monotonous coast line, are felt throughout the great peninsula of 350,000,000 inhabitants, of ultimately may be grave for the British authorities.

HIS SON ARRESTED

Though Gandhi himself was undoubtedly in violating the salt monopoly, police swiftly acted against nationalist attempting similar action elsewhere. Several persons were arrested.

Shortly after noon Ramdas Gandhi, one of his sons, was taken into custody with four others at Dharasad village in Kaira district for gathering salt. They were taken to Surat, but were released bail. They will be tried Tuesday.

A larger round-up was operated by the police at Viramgam, forty miles west of Ahmadabad. The police arrested Manilal Kothari, one of Gandhi's lieutenants, and fifty-five volunteers. Kothari later was sentenced to a fine of 500 rupees or six months' imprisonment.

A large quantity of salt collected by 300 volunteers in the Bardoli and Jalalpur districts was confiscated.

Beyond the police action in these areas, all restricted to the area in which Gandhi himself is operating, no reports of repression of the disobedience movement were received here.

Will Rogers Remarks:

SANTA MONICA, April 6. [To the Editor of The Times:] Tuesday Ruth Hanna goes to the post in Illinois, a woman by birth but a politician by training. I like her, she is not continually yapping about "the woman's angle." Women are not doing so poor in this country. We want a woman that will help out us men, we can't get a man in there to do it. She will be the first elected female to sit in the Senate. Ruth won't feel at home there, she is too young, there is forty old ladies in there now, only difference these don't knit.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

HAWKS WINS HIS GOAL

Flight in Glider Completed

Crowd Cheers as He Cuts From Plane and Lands in New York Park

Arrival Almost Hour Behind Schedule Due to Fight Against Headwind

NEW YORK, April 6. (AP)—Capt. Frank M. Hawks completed his transcontinental flight in a glider towed by an airplane at 4:16 p.m. today. He cut loose from the plane and glided to earth on the parade ground at Van Cortlandt Park, the Bronx.

The holder of the transcontinental speed record completed the feat, which is without parallel in aviation, with a beautiful landing. He cut the tow rope at an altitude of about 4000 feet, circled the field several times and settled gently to earth, while photographers and a crowd of spectators gathered about the glider.

Hawks sat smiling in the glass-inclosed cockpit while the photographers made pictures. He then left the glider to be congratulated by a reception committee while the crowd cheered.

DELAYED BY RAIN

On his flight today from Buffalo he was delayed by rainy weather. He stopped en route at Albany to refuel the tow plane.

A short time later the aerial tugboat that had towed the glider Eagle all the way from the Pa-

PRISONERS DIE IN DASH

Guards Kill Two at Folsom

Desperate Break Halted by Concerted Fire as Trio Runs Toward Canal

Another Convict May Die as Result of His Wounds; Victims All "Lifers"

SACRAMENTO, April 6. (Exclusive)—Two Folsom prison convicts were killed and a third probably fatally wounded when they made a desperate attempt today to dash to liberty.

The dead are Harry Stewart, 36 years of age, serving a life sentence for robbery committed in San Francisco, who was received at the prison December 27, 1928, and Edward D. Baker, 47, serving life as an habitual criminal for robbery committed in Orange county, received November 24, 1928.

W. H. Tinkelbaugh, 33 years of age, serving a life sentence for burglary committed in Orange county, was probably fatally wounded. He was received January 20, 1930. Tinkelbaugh was shot in the abdomen and an operation was performed in the prison hospital in the hope of saving his life. Prison physicians, however, said there is little chance for his recovery.

GUARDS OPEN FIRE

Shortly before 9 o'clock this morning the three convicts, apparently by prearrangement, ran down the tramway between the laundry and boiler room in the upper yard that leads into the lower yard and quarry.

The convicts defied the commands of armed guards to halt. Instead, they changed their course and ran zigzag up the railroad tracks toward the north wall, evidently planning to scale the barrier or to swim the canal bordering the railroad.

Once in the open seven or eight guards stationed at vantage points commanding the lower prison yard opened fire on the fleeing convicts with high-powered rifles. One at a time the prisoners dropped as the steel-nosed bullets found their mark. At first the guards shot to frighten the convicts into stopping, but the firing only served to quicken their pace.

TWO DIE INSTANTLY

Baker and Stewart died instantly, their bodies riddled with bullets. Tinkelbaugh, conscious but writhing in pain, was picked up by the guards and rushed to the hospital some distance away.

The regular Sunday baseball game was in progress when the guards opened fire on the fleeing convicts, and so interested were the 2000 or more prisoners in watching the contest that the slightest interruption in the game did not occur.

It was the second time that Baker had made an attempt to escape. On June 6, 1929, he crossed a pipe line, hand over hand, over the canal leading from the powerhouse and hid for several hours in a lumber pile.

Today he had discarded the striped suit which he wore as an attempted prison breaker, and had obtained a plain gray uniform and rubber-soled shoes. Warden Smith said Baker evidently had been planning the escape for several weeks, as guards had been watching him almost daily surveying the lower yard and paying particular attention to the movement of the guards.

PROVISIONS CARRIED

Smith declared that the convicts would have run into sure death at the north wall had they been able to elude the fire of the guards in the lower yard, as a guard is stationed with a machine gun near where their course would have taken them. The warden said that apparently the convicts were ignorant of the presence of this outpost.

Candy and other provisions wrapped in oil paper were found in the clothing of the convicts, indicating they planned to hide for some time in the event they were successful in getting outside the walls.

Warden Smith characterized the affair as a wild chance on the part of three life-terners, one without opportunity of parole, to gain their liberty. The State Board of Prison Directors, meeting at San Quentin, was notified immediately by Warden Smith of the attempted break. Smith will prepare a full report for submission to the board when it meets at Folsom next Saturday and Sunday.

Chileans Flee Volcano Peril

PUERTO MONTE (Chile) April 6. (AP)—Villagers living at the foot of the volcano Osorno, opposite Chile Island, have become alarmed at signs of sudden activity within the mountain and are fleeing to safe regions, according to dispatches received here.

Great streams of scalding water are gushing from Osorno's crater and flowing into Lake Todos Los Santos. Though a disastrous eruption is not feared, the authorities have taken precautions.

Osorno volcano rises to a height of 7500 feet on the west coast.

HARDWARE MAGNATE DIES

SEATTLE, April 6. (AP)—Succumbing to an attack of acute indigestion, Leo S. Schwabacher, 59 years of age, president of the Schwabacher Hardware Company and one of the Pacific Northwest's leading business men, died suddenly at his home here today.

FIVE KILLED IN MIDWEST AIR CRASHES

Two Lose Lives During Celebration in Nebraska; Three Die at Hays, Kan.

TILDEN (Neb.) April 6. (AP)—Two young men were killed and a third was injured critically near here late today, when the airplane in which they were riding went into a tail spin and burst into flames as it crashed from a height of 500 feet.

The fatal descent was witnessed by several thousand persons attending the dedication of a new State game reserve. All three men were residents of Plainview, Neb. The dead were Leon Baldwin, 24 years of age, and Leonard Alexander, 22.

Kenneth Kirk, 26, pilot and part-owner of the plane, is not expected to live.

HAYS (Kan.) April 6. (AP)—Three persons were killed late today in an airplane crash at the airport one mile west of here. The victims were Leslie Marshall, the pilot; Orville Herbert, 20 years of age, and Melvin Ridgeway, 20, of Ellis, Kan., passengers.

Herbert and Ridgeway were students. Marshall was a licensed pilot for Harry Kirk, production manager of the Phillips Petroleum Company, who lives here.

Ricard Takes Turn for Worse

SAN JOSE, April 6. (Exclusive)—Recovery of Rev. Jerome Ricard, 80 years of age, noted "padre of the rains" at Santa Clara University, was pronounced "very, very doubtful" by Dr. Fred C. Gerlach after another severe heart attack suffered at 7 o'clock tonight.

THIEVES RAID CHURCH

FRESNO, April 6. (AP)—While a large congregation was attending services at the St. James Episcopal Cathedral today thieves entered the women's locker rooms adjoining the auditorium and stole several handbags.

Eastman Gives Kodaks to All 12-Year-Olds

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) April 6. (Exclusive)—Any child who has a twelfth birthday this year will be given a camera as a birthday present by the Eastman Kodak Company, which expects to profit from the resultant increase in the sale of films.

Announcement to this effect was made today by company officials, and it is estimated that 500,000 such gifts will be distributed, with perhaps an added 50,000 to be given in Canada.

The distribution will begin May 1 and continue until June 1. The children have only to call on the kodak dealer nearest their home, with proof of age, and a camera will be forthcoming. The gift plan is in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the granting of the photographic patent to George Eastman.

Largest and Oldest Stone Forest Found

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) April 6. (AP)—Discovery of perhaps the largest and oldest of all petrified hardwood forests was made known here today by Prof. George R. Wieland of Yale University, who performed field work in the San Juan basin of New Mexico the last two summers.

There he gathered specimens of hardwoods, petrified cycads, palmettos, clumps of tree fern roots, the more usual pines, together with some bones of turtles and dinosaurs, all of which he estimated lived about 40,000,000 years ago.

IOWA HEALTH OFFICER DIES

DES MOINES (Iowa) April 6. (AP) Dr. Henry Albert, 52 years of age, State Health Commissioner since 1926, died today following an emergency operation for appendicitis. He formerly was director of the Nevada State Hygienic Laboratory. His leaves his widow.

GAIN MADE IN BUILDING CONTRACTS

Figures for March Show Increase of 45 Per Cent Over Preceding Month

WASHINGTON, April 6. (AP)—Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, tonight said statistics show building contracts awarded in March increased 45 per cent over the preceding month and were only 5 per cent below those for March of last year, when business was moving at high speed.

Speaking over the National Broadcasting System, Dr. Klein quoted figures compiled by the F. W. Dodge Corporation as indicating the steady improvement in business conditions this year, and said the rise in building contracts is "real news" indicative of the "anticipated dawn of a new day."

This is true, he said, particularly when consideration is also given to the fact that January of this year was 21 per cent below January of last year and February was about 12 per cent below February a year ago.

"Perhaps, he added, "even more important is the fact that some of the ultra-conservative governmental economists are right now boosting their estimates for nation-wide construction this year by approximately $1,000,000,000, placing the new total at $11,000,000,000 instead of $10,000,000,000 as estimated a few weeks ago."

PISCATORIAL CROWN WORN BY HOOVER

President Returns From Week-end Trip Unmatched as Fisherman

WASHINGTON, April 6. (AP)—Refreshed from his week-end trip to the mountains, President Hoover returned late today to the White House.

Throughout the 100-mile automobile trip to Washington from the camp on the headwaters of the Rapidan River in Virginia, the Presidential party faced a driving rainstorm.

This morning President Hoover visited the schoolhouse established through his efforts for the mountain children. A few persons were in the school at the time. President Hoover chatted a while with Miss Christine Vest, the schoolteacher. None of the Presidential party fished today and after a lunch at the lodge they started the return trip to Washington.

Mr. Hoover's catch of eleven mountain trout stood as the high mark of the party, although each member had good luck at the stream yesterday.

Fast Ambulance Runs Into Crowd

KANSAS CITY, April 6. (AP)—A speeding ambulance late today plowed through a group of persons waiting for a street car in a safety zone here, injuring at least fifteen, none critically. The ambulance had side-swiped an automobile at a busy street intersection, then swerved diagonally and plunged through the small crowd standing in the safety zone.

MEXICO UPRISING SUBDUED

Communist Plans for Nation-Wide Revolution Frustrated by Quick Action of Troops

(Copyright, 1930, by the New York World)

MEXICO CITY, April 6. (Exclusive)—Raids on Communist headquarters in four cities in the State of Vera Cruz, wholesale arrests of known radical leaders there and in Mexico City and quick concentration of government troops in localities where Mexican Reds are active, frustrated Communist plans to start a nation-wide revolutionary movement in Mexico today.

The planned uprising fizzled out dismally in Vera Cruz, Orizaba, Cordoba and Jalapa, the four cities where the Communist element is strongest, when virtual martial law went into effect there. All public buildings were heavily guarded by Federal troops. Particularly elaborate precautions were taken in Vera Cruz to protect the waterfront works. At the first signs of disorder anywhere the troops at once made clear the government's intention to prevent any demonstrations.

The plot missed fire completely here. Communist calls to action had stated that 1,000,000 unemployed Mexicans were expected to join in demonstrations. In Mexico City there were only 500 demonstrators and these were mostly women. They marched from Zocalo to Chapultepec Castle, the Presidential residence, a distance of four miles, unmolested. But when they sought to reach the castle gates they found all the approaches leading up to it blocked by mounted police armed with rifles and machine guns. A deputation of the marchers sought an audience with President Pascual Ortiz Rubio, but their request to see him was turned down.

The Communist plans in the State of Vera Cruz were more extensive, but equally fruitless. The police and military authorities who learned yesterday of a plot to overwhelm garrisons and raise the flag of the Third Internationale over public buildings took severe measures to suppress the revolt before it could get started.

In their raids on Communist headquarters they captured documents, including correspondence which put them in possession of the Communist plans for an uprising. With these in their possession, it was easy to checkmate every move of the Reds in advance.

The Third Internationale at Moscow is believed by officials here to have been behind the frustrated movement.

FOX GIVES UP CONTROL OF THEATER ENTERPRISE

Sells Block of Stock to Syndicate Headed by Harley L. Clarke; Will Head Advisory Board

NEW YORK, April 6. (Exclusive)—William Fox, president of the Fox Film Corporation, has given up control of the huge motion-picture producing corporation and chain of theaters which he has built up from a small start in the early days of the industry, Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Mr. Fox, announced late tonight that the producer had sold 151,000 shares of Class B stock which represented virtual control of the producing company and theater chain.

Mr. Fox will continue as chairman of the advisory board for five years, and the companies will continue under the name of William Fox, all productions being presented under this name, as heretofore. All debts of the companies will be paid in full with interest, Mr. Untermeyer said, and ample working capital will be provided, yet.

The shares were purchased by a syndicate headed by Harley L. Clarke, president of General Theaters Equipment, Inc. This corporation supplies equipment for a large percentage of the theaters of the country. Mr. Clarke also is president, treasurer and director of the Cinema Building Corporation.

UNTERMYER STATEMENT

Retirement of Mr. Fox from control of the companies was regarded by Mr. Untermyer as ending the financial difficulties which had plunged the companies into litigation in both the State and Federal courts.

"It will, I am sure, be a relief to the creditors and stockholders, and I believe the public, to learn that the financial troubles of the Fox companies have been satisfactorily adjusted," said Mr. Untermyer.

"Mr. Fox," continued Mr. Untermyer, "has sold his 151,000 of 'B' shares that represent the control of the Fox Films and Fox Theaters companies to a syndicate headed by Harley L. Clarke, president of General Theaters Equipment, Inc., under conditions that Mr. Fox is satisfied will safeguard the future prosperity and expansion of the companies and of their army of faithful employees who have for so many years aided him in upbuilding this great enterprise from a small beginning.

"The theaters company has recently been offered $110 a share net over and above all commissions for the Class A shares, which would cover their full initial cost, as against the stock market price of $36 during the panic when their forced sale would have bankrupted the theaters company if Mr. Fox had not come to the rescue and sacrificed his own securities to save this stock.

SAFEGUARD OWNERS

"There has been no time since the financial troubles of the company began, when Mr. Fox could not have sold his 'B' shares. This he has consistently refused to do until it could be accomplished so as to fully safeguard the rights of every shareholder and the future of the companies. The stockholders may be assured that the conditions that he has now imposed upon the sale will accomplish that purpose.

"A compromise plan of refinancing has been negotiated and is about to be issued jointly by Bancamerica, Blair, Lehman Brothers, Dillon, Read & Co., and Halsey, Stuart & Co., which will provide for an issue of $30,000,000 of 6½ per cent debentures with warrants for common stock of film attached and 1,200,000 shares of common stock Fox Film to be underwritten at $28 a share.

"Owing to the vastly changed market conditions it has been possible to evolve a plan that will be more economical to the companies than the Bancamerica-Blair plan, which was promulgated during a time of great financial stress and when the companies were on the verge of receivership. The credit for the rescue of the companies from this disaster is due entirely to the courage and vision of the Bancamerica-Blair-Lehman Bros.-Dillon-Read banking group, to whose aid, given at that critical juncture, the

Naval Pact's Net Gains Listed

Battleship Item Alone Will Mean $800,000,000 Profit for Three Countries

Tripartite Agreement Hailed as Great Success by Gibson Over Radio

LONDON, April 6. (AP) — In the common-sense language of dollars and cents, which every American taxpayer can understand, Ambassador Hugh Gibson of the American naval conference delegation this evening broadcast from London to the United States a clear-cut analysis of the American-British-Japanese naval agreement.

This is a definite achievement of the conference, no matter what fate befalls the final efforts now being made to bring France and Italy within the scope of a naval armaments treaty.

Americans who listened in to Mr. Gibson's speech did not have to understand parity, naval ratios, global tonnage, political formulas for security, or any other of the hobgoblins of the disarmament negotiations, to comprehend that a three-power pact in the item of battleships alone means a saving to the American, British and Japanese governments of between $800,000,000 and $900,000,000.

Mr. Gibson's outline of the conference achievements was as clear as a company's balance sheet. He boldly listed the net profits of disarmament at London and the losses that may have to be written down he handled in most diplomatic fashion.

Meanwhile, the conference marked time. It was learned tonight that Prime Minister MacDonald is more disconsolate than ever over the prospects for a five-power treaty.

At a press conference tonight, the British spokesman said that if anything that could cause optimism happened in Paris yesterday or today the Prime Minister has not learned of it. Foreign Minister Briand, who is expected back here Tuesday to resume political negotiations with Mr. MacDonald, appears, according to Paris dispatches, to have made little progress in moving the French Cabinet into action on security formulas.

ANOTHER BARRIER

Even with a formula found, hopes for a comprehensive pact do not run high, for beyond the barrier of the security problem still stands the Franco-Italian parity dispute.

Even certain parts of the proposed treaty, such as the humanization of submarine warfare, the technical scheme for limitation of tonnage by categories, etc., now are of doubtful value as far as all five powers are concerned, though it had been previously thought that France and Italy might be able to subscribe to them.

Certain conference officials now are discussing the probabilities

Sharpshooters Escort Auto Club Scouting Party Through Bandit Infested Country

BY HARRY CARR
"Times" Staff Representative

TEPIC (Nayarit, Mex.) April 6. (Exclusive)—We have been driving all day through a cruel country—the country of the bandits. At Acaponeta two bus loads of sharpshooters from the Nineteenth Cavalry escorted our party through to Tepic. With the American, Bristow, still in the hands of the Delgado band of cut throats, the Mexican government has started out on a ferocious bandit hunt. Four hundred cavalrymen are in hot pursuit of the ruffians who hold Bristow prisoner.

Heavily armed gunmen, disguised as ranchers, are wandering the roads of Nayarit, looking for bandits. It is a war of extermination, but it may cost the life of Bristow, who is an elderly man in poor health. Reports come in that he is having fainting spells and is collapsing under the strain of the terrific sleepless pace at which his captors are traveling.

This morning we drove to the old seaport town, San Blas, where the history of California began. We saw the old ruined church hidden in the jungle where Father Junipero Serra started with Portola to establish the missions of California, the cliff over which Father Mercado threw himself when the Spanish soldiers weaned away his followers in the first revolution against Spain. It was to San Blas and Acapulco that the rich Manila galleons came, usually hotly pursued by English corsairs. Some of the cannon still stand in the yard of the ancient harbor office. The waters of the harbor which now look so peaceful have been reddened with blood in a score of savage pirate battles.

BRISTOW RANSOM MONEY DISPATCHED

NOGALES (Ariz.) April 6. (AP)—Ransom money to be paid Mexican bandits for the release of J. R. Bristow, 60 years of age, American who is held captive near Tepic, Nayarit, was wired here today by Texas and Oklahoma bankers and immediately dispatched south by wire by local bankers to their correspondents at Mazatlan, Sin. The money wired here today and sent south is said to total $9000.

According to reports here the money must reach the bandits to-

Can you use $76

You know, of course, interest rates on loans generally have been reduced. But do you realize that you personally can profit from this trend?

You may be paying an interest rate on your real estate loan that is out of line with present conditions. That means that you are unnecessarily laying out money. By refinancing at our 7% rate you may be able to save as much as $76 a year interest on an $8000 loan.

Real Estate LOANS At an actual rate of 7%

To take advantage of the new trend in money rates, investigate Pacific States Savings' latest loan reduction to 7% simple interest on declining balance. We offer in addition to this rate, the lowest in our history, these outstanding advantages: (1) loans up to 75 per cent of the sound market value of your property; (2) terms from 5 to 15 years; (3) monthly payments as low as $8.90 per $1000, paying the loan in full; (4) no renewals necessary; (5) no charge for appraisement and preparation of papers unless the loan is consummated.

REFINANCE NOW . . . we are making loans on improved residential and income property meeting our qualifications in cities served by our offices and selected districts contiguous thereto.

If it is inconvenient to call, a booklet describing our loan plan will be sent to you upon request.

Gibson Interprets Pact for American Taxpayers

MacDonald Pessimistic Over Five-Power Treaty

whether any five-power agreement at all can be signed in London. Some quarters believe such matters will be left over for a future conference.

However, Ambassador Gibson, in his address broadcast throughout the United States, declared there still is prospect of a five-power treaty.

"We have good reason to hope that a five-power agreement may be signed before we leave here," Gibson said.

"Whether this is to be," he added, "we ought to know within a few days. If this is to be, it will mark the most notable testimony to the existence of a more secure confidence and peaceful world that any five powers have given since the war.

OTHERS MAY JOIN LATER

"If the full measure of that agreement cannot be had at this session, the three-power agreement can be made on a basis which will welcome in the other two powers when their difficulties have been solved. We feel sure of ultimate solution for the work that has been done here and the spirit in which it has been done is such as to spell either immediate or ultimate success."

Referring to the agreement already reached between the United States, Great Britain and Japan, Gibson, who is American Ambassador to Belgium, said it is "advantageous to all three countries and constitutes an important contribution to international friendship and good understanding."

"The great achievement of this conference," he said, "is that it has arrived at a basis for limiting all kinds of vessels in the three largest fleets and the cruiser, destroyer and submarine tonnage under this limitation will be far below the lowest limit which was discussed at Geneva in 1927.

AIMS EXPLAINED

"To those of us who have followed the efforts for limitation since the Washington conference, the results attained here so far are beyond reasonable expectation; but, actually, reduction is not the most important part of this agreement.

"If the reduction had been less and the agreement were made on a higher level, it would still contain the major objections for which the conference was called, which is the establishment of relationship between the countries based on the limitation agreement which provides every country with a definite knowledge of the plans of the others and that sense of security which comes from such knowledge.

"I should like to make that point clear. A fixed agreement relationship between navies is what produces security and consequent good will. At just what level that relationship is established is not so important, so far as security is concerned."

Voters Adopt New Liquor Law in Switzerland

GENEVA, April 6. (Exclusive)—Switzerland is now "one-quarter dry," is the opinion of prohibitionists following acceptance by the electorate today of new liquor laws. These slightly increase taxes on alcohol and cede existing private stills to Federal authorities. Eighty per cent of the electorate went to the polls.

What is regarded as a "brilliant victory for the government in its fight against alcoholism" was won by 487,340 votes against 314,316. Only five out of twenty-two cantons rejected the new measure.

Visitors will find drinks considerably dearer as a result of the vote.

Peach Canners Join Advertisers

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6. (AP)—A joint advertising campaign by the California peach canning industry and a national manufacturer of cereal products will be undertaken immediately with a view to stimulating the sale of canned cling peaches in the United States and abroad.

Preston McKinney, in making this announcement here today, said the project will be similar to an experimental merchandising campaign last year. McKinney is an official of the Canners' League of California.

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN LIBERALS BEATEN

ADELAIDE (South Australia) April 6. (AP)—The Liberal administration of Premier Butler, which came into power in South Australia in 1927, has been defeated in the state assembly elections by a definite swing toward labor and it is expected will offer its resignation to the Governor in a few days. The introduction of a system of preference voting has delayed declaration of the returns, but it was indicated today that labor has obtained twenty-eight seats, in the assembly of forty-six members.

GANDHI OPENS INDIA REVOLT

at the Mahatma's headquarters. There are no signs of any other immediate government move against the law breakers, and there are no rumors of plans for the arrest of Gandhi.

The only violence reported occurred between striking workers of the great Indian Peninsular Railway and police. The workers, who have been striking several weeks for better conditions, enthusiastically began to make things unpleasant for the authorities.

At Thana station, twenty miles from Bombay, strikers stoned and injured workers who had remained on the job, and policemen. At Kurla, also near Bombay, strikers were fired on by the police. Seven were injured.

At Thana, they tried passive resistance by standing on the tracks and trying to block trains, but policemen beat them off.

Nineteen strikers, including two leaders, have been arrested. Six, already tried, have been sentenced to three weeks of rigorous imprisonment.

There were no police in sight when Gandhi, at last at the end of his month of marching, and after prayer, meditation and fasting, gave the signal for disobedience to the salt laws all over India.

Leaning on the shoulder of the daughter of Abbas Tyabji, retired Baroda district judge who will lead the volunteers if Gandhi is arrested, the Mahatma went down into the sea to the accompaniment of shouts from his followers:

"Long live Mahatma Gandhi."

STATEMENT ISSUED

He dipped up a jug of water from the long gray line of breakers rolling in from the Arabian Sea, and carried it to the shore. Within the space of a few minutes the campaign had begun.

Immediately after coming out of the water, Gandhi issued a statement to the press, repeating that the fight against the salt tax should be accompanied by a campaign of propaganda for the boycott of foreign cloth and prohibition of liquor.

"Now that a technical or ceremonial breach of the salt law has been committed, such a course is open to any one who will risk prosecution," said Gandhi. "He may manufacture salt wherever he wishes and wherever convenient.

"My advice is that workers should everywhere manufacture salt and, where they know how, prepare and clean salt and use it and instruct the villagers to do likewise. At the same time the villager should be told that he runs the risk of prosecution. In other words, the villagers should be fully instructed as regards the salt law and the manner of breaking the regulations connected with it, so as to have the salt tax repealed. It should be made clear to the villagers that the breach is open and that such conduct is no way stealthy.

WOMEN TO HAVE ROLE

"They may help themselves to salt manufactured through nature in creeks and pits near the seashore, and use it themselves or for their cattle, and sell it to those who will buy, it being well understood that all such people are breaking the salt law and risking prosecution or being subjected by the so-called salt officers to harassment.

"This war against the salt tax should be continued during National Week that is up to the 13th inst. Those engaged in this sacred work should devote themselves to vigorous propaganda for a boycott against foreign cloth and the prohibition of liquor. I am preparing a message now for the women of India; who, I am becoming more and more convinced, can make a larger contribution than men toward the attainment of independence."

No policemen appeared on the scene while Gandhi was breaking the salt law.

EIGHTH CUTTEN ROBBER CAUGHT

All But One of Nine Men Now Brought to Justice

Gang Grimly Hunted Since Hold-up in 1922

Chicago Millionaire Spends Thousands in Quest

CHICAGO, April 6. (Exclusive)—Mercilessly and relentlessly, year after year, Arthur Cutten, famed for his millions and his daring operations in the grain pits, has hunted down the nine members of a band of robbers who, on March 27, 1922, invaded his Downers Grove mansion, robbed him and locked him in a basement vault to die.

One by one, over the eight years that have passed, Mr. Cutten has seen the robbers captured, prosecuted and sent to prison.

Simon Rosenberg, leader of the band, was arrested early today in Cleveland. He is the eighth one to be seized. There remains at large now of them all only Rosenberg's brother Kasper, and the multimillionaire grain speculator, grim and vindictive as he was from the beginning, says he will spend another eight years and more thousands to bring that last one to justice just as he already has spent eight years and other thousands to bring the others to book.

WHISKY STOLEN

The robbers when they invaded the home at the points of revolvers took $20,000 worth of jewelry, $500 in cash and twenty-five cases of whisky from Mr. and Mrs. Cutten and his brother Harry. But it wasn't the loss that angered the broker, inspiring his pitiless search.

"The money and jewelry were nothing," Mr. Cutten said today. And his lips snapped tightly shut. "What made me determined to get them if it took a lifetime was the fact they tied up Mrs. Cutten, tied up my brother and tied up the servants, and then locked me in the basement vault to be smothered to death.

"That was an unnecessary, futile and fiendish piece of cruelty. It filled me with rage and I vowed then that I would spend every dollar at my command, if necessary, to put them where they belong—behind bars."

WRIT APPLIED FOR

Dispatches from Cleveland during the day informed Mr. Cutten that Rosenberg had applied for a writ of habeas corpus in an effort to get away. The broker at once announced he will be in Cleveland when the hearing on that writ is called at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Private detectives in the employ of Mr. Cutten have followed Rosenberg from the Pacific Coast to the Atlantic, from the Gulf of Mexico to Canada. Working as an insurance and bond broker, Rosenberg has moved from city to city.

The robbery of Mr. Cutten's home grew out of a plot hatched by Joseph Vormittag, once a butler in the mansion. Others involved were Paul Graborski, Otto Tempera, Joseph Cornelissen, Gustave Kawell, John Kiminne, John Cuda and the two Rosenbergs.

Rosenberg and the brother still hunted are brothers of Barney Rosenberg, a lieutenant on the Lincoln Park police force. Their mother, according to the police, is now the wife of a rabbi in Los Angeles.

cific Coast, landed at Newark (N. J.) airport. There its pilot, J. D. "Duke" Jernigan, Jr., also received an ovation.

Hawks's long tour started last Sunday at San Diego, Cal. He made many stops en route.

His landing here was almost an hour behind the announced schedule. The result was that several planes of an aerial escort which had planned to meet him were not in the air. Planes carrying army officers and Department of Commerce inspectors had returned to Roosevelt and Mitchell fields a short time before, after a vain search of the air.

The reception committee which greeted Hawks was headed by Police Commissioner Whalen, representing the Mayor.

STRONG HEADWIND

At the Newark Airport about 18,000 persons watched Jernigan's landing. From Albany to New York, he said, the flyers had found the worst part of the entire journey. They had to buck a headwind of about forty miles an hour, which cut their flying speed down to about forty miles an hour. The trip, he said, had required two hours and forty minutes, whereas, he had often flown it in an hour and a half.

Leaving the field with a delegation in automobiles, accompanied by police motorcycle convoy, Jernigan drove to the Hudson Tunnel and thence to Van Cortlandt Park to meet Capt. Hawks and participate in a celebration of the termination of the long journey.

Jernigan was accompanied by W. H. Franklin of Ann Arbor, Mich., designer of the Eaglet.

FOX SELLS OUT FILM CONTROL

shareholders are primarily indebted for the salvation of their property.

"The present intrinsic value of the Loew shares, which is largely in excess of their cost, and the fact that the West-Coast properties, which stand on the books at about $10,000,000 can now be readily sold at $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 fairly illustrate the far-sighted vision of Mr. Fox's management and demonstrates how baseless were the reckless charges of waste and mismanagement that were founded upon the acquisition of the Loew shares.

"It would have been possible, and the companies under the guidance of Mr. Fox have been seriously considering the solution of their troubles by the sale of the Loew stock, which would have netted about $50,000,000 over the amount for which it is now pledged, and the raising of the balance of the money requirements could readily have been financed by an issue of convertible debentures which could have easily been sold in this market.

"This alternative was, however, rejected because of the belief that there was a still greater value in the Loew shares, which are now earning at the rate of about $14 a share, with every indication of largely increased earning and because of the desire to expand the activities of the company."

VICTORY FOR SHEEHAN

Mr. Fox's relinquishment of control is considered a victory for Winfield R. Sheehan, vice-president and general manager of the Fox companies, who has led the opposition to the refinancing plans of the president in the courts.

Mr. Sheehan has been one of the strongest advocates of the so-called Halsey-Stuart plan for refinancing the companies, and in a statement tonight said there will be no changes in the personnel of the companies and that he will continue as vice-president and general manager. The only changes, he said, will be in the financing of the companies. Mr. Sheehan will leave for Hollywood in two weeks.

"The new controlling ownership and the banking association of Halsey, Stuart & Co. and others are welcome and highly satisfactory to the executives and production staff," Mr. Sheehan said. "Personally, I have the highest admiration of Harley L. Clarke, and for his achievements in many lines of business. He will contribute much to the entire motion picture industry.

"Under the new order of our affairs we plan to produce and exhibit on an even more progressive scale than in the past. We plan to effect a world-wide organization that will compare favorably with the finest in any line of international industry, and we expect to merit the unqualified approval of the talking motion picture patrons throughout the world.

"We plan to continue our production expansion in Hollywood and will add to our large chain of theaters. Mr. Clarke has provided adequate finances to cover our pretentious expansion program. I expect to leave for Hollywood in about two weeks, where the production for 1930 will get under way immediately."

The trouble of the Fox corporations first became apparent last fall, when immediate financial aid was needed. An agreement was reached with Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., of which one condition was the establishment of a trusteeship to vote Mr. Fox's "B" stock controlling both corporations.

Besides Mr. Fox, the trustees were John E. Otterson of the Electrical Research Products Company and Harry L. Stuart of Halsey, Stuart & Co., representing two of the largest creditors of the Fox corporation. The agreement was signed on December 3, but never carried out. Three receiverships actions were filed in Federal Court, and in a vigorous effort to avert receivership, a rival banking group, including the Bancamerica-Blair Company, Dillon, Read & Co. and Lehmann Brothers, prepared another financing plan. A plan was proposed to obtain $65,000,000 by stock issue and debentures. A preferred stock issue included at first in the plan was cancelled and at the stockholders' meeting on March 5, this Bancamerica-Blair plan was approved over another advanced the day before by Halsey, Stuart & Co., and a group of minority stockholders. Dispute over this plan and the receivership suit in the courts have paralyzed constructive action in recent weeks.

CHINESE ARMIES ABOUT TO CLASH

Politico-Military Situation Nearing Climax

Nanking Forces Line Up to Attack Gen. Yen

War to Be Numbers Against Trained Troops

PEIPING (China) April 6. (AP)—The politico-military situation apparently was rapidly approaching a climax today, with extensive war preparations being made by both the Nanking government and Yen Hsi-shan, Governor of Shansi Province.

Lists of militarists expected to support or oppose the Nanking government are appearing daily in the vernacular press.

Feng Yu-hsiang, formerly Minister of War for the Nanking government and widely known as "the Christian general," having assumed the position of commander-in-chief in the Shansi field, observers calculate the combined forces of the northerners at two or three times the man-power controlled by Nanking. The Nanking government, however, has an army with more modern equipment and many troops well trained during long instruction by former German officers. The exact force that each side will be able to muster and how they will be distributed, continued indefinite today.

The force under Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang is slowly advancing toward Hankow, the "Chicago of China," while Shantung Province is expected to be the goal of Gen. Yen Hsi-shan's forces. Another anti-Nanking force is advancing along the railway toward Suchow, in Kiangsu Province, where Nanking massed the bulk of its forces.

Except for Shantung, North China today has been taken over wholly by Gens. Feng and Yen, while President Chiang Kai-shek, head of the Nanking armies, has returned to the capital after attending financial conferences in Shanghai. Japanese sources announced that Chiang had raised nearly 10,000,000 yen in Shanghai to finance his campaign.

TWO BITS OPENS HAREM'S DOORS

Turkish Sultan's Seraglio on Exhibition

Portal Once Death to Cross Made Showplace

Display Visualizes Passing of Fabled Orient

ISTANBUL, April 6. (AP)—Once royal dispenser of terror and mystery to the mystery-loving world, Istanbul now is selling the last of her secrets.

Tomorrow by order of the Turkish republic the doors of the imperial harem of the Seraglio Palace of the Ottoman Sultans will be thrown open. Then infidels and followers of the Prophet alike may pass, for the price of 25 cents, the threshold whose crossing once would have cost them their lives.

MYSTERIES PROFANED

For almost two years repairs have been under way to make ready this last portion of the Seraglio Palace for opening to the public. For four and a half centuries this was the most jealously guarded corner of the vast palace and of the vast Ottoman empire. Great walls, heavy bronze gates, thousands of soldiers without and hundreds of eunuchs within kept inviolate the mystery of the imperial harem.

Now the public may stalk through the dusky rooms and corridors that seem to trail on and on indefinitely, still faintly glowing with the same brocaded hangings and silken couches, tiled walls and frescoed ceilings of the imperial days, but empty of the sultanas and dowagers, the eunuchs and thousands of slaves who lived their hidden lives within these walls.

GONE ARE THE DAYS

Those who enter now will get more than their money's worth of beauty if they have an eye for inlaid wood, old rugs, old silks and curiously wrought bronze. They will get their fill of shivers, too, if they are equipped with a bit of historical lore.

There are shivers aplenty in one small, dark room where stands the bed in which the Dowager Sultana Kersem, so beautiful even in her old age that she was called "Body of the Moon," was strangled by Janissaries with the cords of her bed curtains. More shivers, too, in the cage-like room where Sultan Ibrahim the Mad, whose insanity had carpeted and hung the entire palace with fur, met the frequent Ottoman fate of strangulation.

ROXELANA'S ROOM

Terror and majesty walk in the apartments of the Sultana Hoursem, whom the western world knows mistakenly by the name of Roxelana. She was the Russian slave girl whom Sultan Suleiman the Magnificent made his wife and of whom he said: "To be husband of this woman is more to be desired than to be the greatest Sultan of the greatest empire in the world."

The powerful Sultan's passion for this slave girl and her passion for power marked Ottoman history with some of its most sanguinary pages. Grand Viziers who would not bow to the slave-Sultana's will were murdered, and treacherously murdered, too, was the splendid Crown Prince Mustapha, whom his implacable step-mother, Hoursem, could not let stand in the way of her complete control of the Sultan and of the empire.

ONE SECRET LEFT

There is one room of the harem apartments where the public will not enter tomorrow or perhaps ever. Outside its heavily grilled windows, where forty Moslem priests chant from the Koran year in and year out, the public may stand and peek. Only Sultan-Caliphs have ever entered that sanctuary, reputed to hold the mantle and the beard of the Prophet.

WIFE OF RICH LAND DEALER NAMES HER

Mary Katherine Campbell

BEAUTY ON RIVAL LIST IN DIVORCE

Miss America of 1922-23 Named as Co-respondent in Pedrick Suit

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) April 6. (Exclusive)—The beautiful Mary Katherine Campbell of Columbus, O., who won the Miss America title in both 1922 and 1923, was named as one of fourteen women with whom Leonard F. Pedrick, former millionaire real estate operator, says his wife accused him of being unfaithful.

The other thirteen women ranged in social position from nursemaids of the two children in the palatial Pedrick home to prominent Atlantic City society women and the wife of a cafe owner. But all her complaints are unfounded, said Patrick.

Mrs. Dorothy K. Pedrick, 39 years of age, charges her husband with desertion, while Pedrick, 37, in a counter-suit, charges extreme cruelty.

State Senator Emerson L. Emerson read Miss Campbell's name and the other thirteen women Pedrick said his wife mentioned as rivals. The realty man was asked: "Did your wife accuse you of being unfaithful with the following women?" to each name Pedrick answered: "Yes."

Pedrick said the reason he and his wife had reached the parting of their conjugal paths was that his fortune was wiped out in real estate depression in 1927.

ARGENTINA AIR LINE TO SLASH TIME

Service From New York to Buenos Aires Will be Cut to Seven Days

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 6. (Exclusive)—A seven-day air-mail service between New York City and Buenos Aires and Montevideo, South America, will be inaugurated the 26th inst., it was announced today by Assistant Postmaster-General Glover in charge of the air mail service. At present, it takes an air mail letter in New York eleven days to reach either of these South American cities. The establishment of night flying from New York to Miami during the past week as well as an entire day saved in a service through the Panama Canal have been the means of cutting down the time between New York and the South American cities by four days.

This fast air-mail service is to be put into effect by the Pan-American Airways System, which already has the contract for carrying the United States mails to Mexico, Central and South American cities, especially those on the western coast.

The present air-rail rate from New York and other cities in the United States to Buenos Aires and Montevideo is 55 cents for each half-ounce or fraction. To the other countries on which the Pan-American Airways operates the rate varies according to distance.

Mexico Plans to Ban Corn Made Liquor

MEXICO CITY, April 6. (AP)—The national antialcohol committee plans to recommend prohibition of manufacture of alcohol from corn. The committee is a semiofficial organization presided over by the Secretary of the Interior.

The committee will suggest that by this means the necessity of importing corn for use as food can be avoided and it will point out that sufficient alcohol to satisfy the country's needs can be made from materials now going to waste in the sugar-raising industry.

Decision to make this recommendation was taken by the committee as one of the first steps in its 1930 campaign to rid Mexico gradually of the drink habit.

FEDERAL EDUCATION UNIT PLAN OPPOSED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6. (Exclusive)—Opposition to the Capper-Robison bill, designed to establish a Federal department of education marked the closing session today at St. Ignatius College of the northern district conference of alumni and alumnae of Catholic colleges and convents in Central and Northern California. Delegates to the conference condemned the bill. Delegates were present from Notre Dame and other large Catholic educational institutions.

HAYS DEFENDED IN FILM ATTACK

Religious and Social Leaders Brand Foes' Charges

Deny Picture Group Courted Favors With Money

Not One Cent of Financial Help Given, They Say

NEW YORK, April 6. (Exclusive) A defense of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., signed by sixteen representatives of religious and social service organizations, was issued today from the office of Lee Hammer, director of recreation for the Russell Sage Foundation in reply to recent attacks on Will H. Hays.

Resentment was expressed by the signatories that Mr. Hays's organization should have been accused of giving financial aid to various civic religious and welfare organizations to further its own interests.

The statement follows:

"In view of the intimations that have recently appeared in the public press that the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., have given financial support to representatives of various civic, religious and welfare organizations and to individuals who were associated in the former public relations committee on motion pictures it seems desirable that the facts in this matter should be definitely and authoritatively stated.

"We who in the course of our work for our respective organizations, and as individuals, have come into contact with the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., resent these implications and wish to state publicly that no monetary considerations whatever have come to us or to our organizations as a result of our co-operation with the motion-picture industry, nor has money been offered or sought.

SATISFACTION ONLY PAY

"The industry has asked nothing but our advice and counsel on matters of picture production and has given nothing in return but their respectful and effective consideration of the proposals that we have made. In addition to presenting special criticisms and making suggestions for motion-picture improvement, we have considered it a privilege to help stimulate support of a number of highly commendable pictures that were not attracting sufficient patronage to pay for the cost of production. We believe that lack of support for meritorious productions has been one of the deterring influences in motion-picture improvement.

"Our only compensation has been a large amount of personal satisfaction in performing what we believe to be a public service by helping in the progressive improvement of motion-picture production and in influencing the recent adoption by all leading motion-picture producers of an excellent and far-reaching code of ethical practices. We expect that as long as individuals are interested in motion picture betterment we will continue to bring to the motion-picture industry by this and whatever other means are at hand our criticisms of short-comings and our encouragement of worthwhile productions.

PRAISE FOR HAYS

"It can be definitely stated that every suggestion which we have ever transmitted to the motion-picture organization or to Will H. Hays has received prompt and courteous consideration and has been carried out effectively in so far as it was reasonably possible to do so. Although there have been many difficult situations and problems coming before us we have felt that this plan of public participation in motion-picture improvement has resulted much more satisfactorily than anything else of what we have known."

Signers of the statement include:

James E. West, Chief Scout Executive, Boy Scouts of America; Mrs. Thomas A. McGoldrick, chairman motion-pictures bureau, International Federation of Catholic Alumnae; Harry S. Myers, secretary stereopticon lectures, moving-pictures exhibits, Northern Baptist convention; Mrs. Richard R. Russell national chairman of better films, national society, Daughters of the American Revolution; Mrs. William H. Pouch, New York State chairman of Better Films National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution; Mrs. Charles F. Reeder, president New York State Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Malcom P. MacCoy, chairman division of motion pictures, New York State Federation of Women's Clubs; Lee F. Hammer, director recreation department, Russell Sage Foundation; Col. Roy W. Winton, managing director Amateur Cinema League; Rev. Howard M. Lesourd, professor of religious education, school of religious education and social service, Boston University; Mrs. Clarence M. Busch, national president National League of American Penwomen; Mrs. R. C. Hetherower, national motion-picture chairman National League of American Penwomen; Mrs. Francis J. Plaza, State membership chairman, Massachusetts branch, American Association of University Women; Howard S. Braucher, secretary Playground and Recreation Association of America; Dr. Augustus O. Thomas, president World Federation of Education Associations; Mrs. Josephine M. Stearns, general secretary National Commission of Protestant Churchwomen and National Council of Federated Churchwomen.

Mrs. Thomas McGoldrick, chairman of the motion-picture bureau of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, issued a separate statement in which she said that the alumnae had watched with growing indignation efforts "to racketeer" the organizations which are trying "to promote the cause of better motion pictures through co-operation with the motion-picture industry of the United States.

The only suggestions she had ever received from the Hays organization came from Carl E. Milliken, secretary, and urged them to be more particular in detailed criticisms of pictures; to maintain their high standard of criticism and to register every complaint with him.

MILLIKEN'S STATEMENT

Methods of co-operation between these national organizations and the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America were further amplified by Mr. Milliken.

"Most certainly we have consulted with these groups," he declared. "Most certainly they have consulted with us. On the basis of a survey made by the Russell Sage Foundation, we established the Central Casting Bureau at Hollywood, which protects the movie extra from exploitation and makes available job placements in all the studios with no cost to the employee."

A long list of other accomplishments, all for the good of the industry, were enumerated by Milliken.

"We feel it our duty," said Mr. Milliken, "to pay a deserved tribute to the unselfish men and women who have helped to make the motion picture a vitally important community influence."

THE ICE BOX GOES TO COLLEGE . . .

COLUMBIA University co-operated with the refrigerator manufacturers in devising new iceboxes. Scientific methods of design and insulation make them remarkably efficient and sanitary. They provide generous storage space, and amply low temperatures (less than 50°) yet use but little ice.

BEAUTIFUL, TOO: Our new ice boxes gladden the hearts of women who take pride in their kitchens, with beautiful finish in white or soft pastel shades. See the remarkable new one-door box.

BUY FROM THE UNION ICE COMPANY AT HALF OLD-TIME PRICES: Just think—the prices of these new iceboxes, scientifically designed, beautifully styled—are only $30 to $70. And the Union Ice Company sells them on easy terms and will make a liberal allowance on your old refrigerator.

Ask The Union Ice Company about these new refrigerators today. Remember that a good icebox gives you one vital advantage no chemical refrigerator can—a constant circulation of clean, washed air that carries odors and impurities away and preserves the freshness and delicate flavor of your foods.

DON'T BE EXTRAVAGANT — Smart women these days are steering clear of expensive non-essentials. Ice gives the best refrigeration that money can buy at nominal cost. Why spend more and get less?

NEW COOLIDGE HOME SPACIOUS

The Beeches Called Show Place of Northampton

Majestic Range of Mountains Feature of Outlook

Guards Keep Out Crowds Who Seek Preview

NORTHAMPTON (Mass.) April 6. (CANA.)—The first public inspection of the Beeches, the new home which former President Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge will occupy about May 15, was permitted yesterday afternoon by the former owner, Mrs. Morris L. Comey.

The privileged visitors — representatives of newspapers from various sections of the country—gathered before the impressive entrance marked by granite gateposts, bearing bronze nameplates, shortly after 2 o'clock where they were met by Mrs. Comey.

Beside her stood Bartholomew Fennahan, Chief of Police in this city, and State Trooper Edward L. McGinley of the Leeds barracks, whose duty it is to turn away curious visitors who have flocked to the grounds in large numbers since the purchase of the home by Mr. Coolidge was made public.

MANY SEEK PREVIEW

Mrs. Comey told the visitors that during the last few days an average of fifty cars an hour had attempted unsuccessfully to enter the driveway.

"In Northampton there is no estate more beautiful than the Beeches, which is situated in a secluded part of the town on a high ledge facing the majestic Mount Tom range. With the rolling sweep of the Northampton meadows and the lazy, blue winding of the Connecticut River, the sixteen-room residence, surrounded by silvery gray beeches whose luxuriant foliage throws cool shadows over the wide lawns in the summer time, is a fitting home for the former President and his wife.

It will also, in all probability, be a welcome change from the small white frame house on Massasoit street where the Coolidges are daily subjected to the merciless scrutiny of hundreds of curious eyes and where there is little chance for Mrs. Coolidge to extend the gracious hospitality for which she became noted during the White House days.

"The Beeches" was built by Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, now president of Vassar College, while he was professor of English at Smith College in the years 1914-1915. The late Morris L. Comey bought the residence when Dr. MacCracken left Northampton in 1915 to become president of Vassar. With Mrs. Comey he developed the grounds extensively, making it one of the show places of Northampton.

MATCHES BEECHES

The exterior of the three-storied house is most informal and conforms in an unusually artistic fashion to its woodland setting. It is understood that Mrs. Comey had a special paint mixed to match the silvery color of the Beeches and the shingles are stained with this.

The gabled roof is covered with 1800 pounds of sheet copper that has been weather-stained to blend with the copper hue of the Beech foliage. The trim around the doors and windows is painted a delicate shade of green.

From the entrance gate a long, curving driveway winds under shade trees to the house and Mrs. Comey pointed out that the lawn surrounded by the driveway had been shaped to represent an enormous heart.

COOLIDGE STUDY

One enters the Beeches by a rear door, the front of the house facing toward the mountains. To the right of the entrance hall is a beautifully appointed library with an arched doorway, which, it is understood, will be used by Mr. Coolidge for his study.

The room contains a fireplace made of cream-colored caenstone and space for about 5000 volumes. In place of the conventional overhead dome there is suspended from the ceiling an exquisitely wrought bronze censer which Mrs. Comey brought from Damascus.

The woodwork throughout the house is red birch and the ceilings are linen. The walls downstairs are covered with Japanese grass cloth, with the exception of the dining-room, where there is cream-colored canvas. Upstairs, the bedroom papers were all purchased by Mrs. Comey at Lloyd's in London and are unfadable.

EXTENSION VIEW

The living and dining-room extend the entire length of the front of the house. Opening off the living-room is a spacious veranda where one may look over miles of countryside to the mountains.

Although the house is filled with windows letting in the sunshine throughout the day, Mrs. Comey pointed out that "The Beeches" is so secluded that at night, when the Coolidges dined or sat in their living-room, they will not have to draw the shades.

The butler's pantry is spacious and the kitchen large and cheerful with blue linoleum on the floor, a glistening white gas range and a corner which has been furnished for a servants' dining-room.

ELEVATOR IN HOUSE

There are house telephones on every floor and a main telephone system in the kitchen which reaches all floors and the two-car garage. The lights on the entrance gate posts are also illuminated from a switch in the kitchen. A private elevator automatically controlled runs from the basement to a large trunk room on the third floor.

A graceful stairway of red birch winds to the second floor, which consists of two guest suites, beautifully appointed, with a private bath and two other bedrooms with bath and dressing-room, also two sun porches.

One guest room is furnished in solid mahogany antiques, and Mrs. Comey intimated that she may leave the room as it is, since the furnishings had been made especially for it. She also said that the dining-room furniture will possibly remain for the use of the Coolidges. All the draperies in the house will be left to the new owners.

BRILLIANT PAPER

One of the upstairs porches opens off the other guest room which is in the front of the house. Next to this guest room is the chamber which it is understood is to be Mr. Coolidge's. The wallpaper consists of a brilliant pattern of pheasants and red roses and the draperies are of rose.

From this room a door leads into the bedroom which will be occupied by Mrs. Coolidge. A large fireplace, a private bath, a commodious dressing-room and a sun porch opening off the dressing-room make a charming suite. From her bedroom Mrs. Coolidge will be able to step into the private elevator and descend to the first floor.

The third floor contains two maids' rooms, a bath, a trunk room and a large billiard room. All the furniture on this floor will be left intact when the Coolidges take possession of their new home.

During the spring and summer months the grounds of the estate are gorgeous with flowers. In the rear of the house a perennial old-fashioned garden inclosed by a high hedge of spiraea, hydrangea and lilacs, contains an artistic marble bird bath surrounded with masses of vivid purple irises. Honeysuckle, clematis and ivy grow in profusion over the trellises around the private tennis court and one approaches the court under an archway glowing with Dorothy Perkins roses.

The peonies cultivated by Mrs. Comey have won prizes at flower shows, she told her visitors, and she said that she was accustomed to pick as many as ten dozen roses a day from her rose beds.

Several winding rustic pathways lead down the steep hillside in the front of the house to a cement swimming pool, 30x20 feet, which slopes off gradually to a deep end where it is safe to dive. An attractive summer house has been built beside the pool.

There are also extensive grape arbors. Mrs. Comey explained that different varieties were planted so that they would bear their fruit a week apart.

Mrs. Comey said that in the summer time the hill, now bare, is brilliant with nearly every species of wild flower common to this section of New England, and that in autumn the sumach covers it with flaming scarlet.

TWO NATURAL SPRINGS

Scattered around the grounds are rustic settees and bird baths and the tops of two dead trees have been cut off and a birdhouse perched on each stump. There are two natural springs on the estate and the water after being tested was pronounced 98 per cent pure.

No matter how warm the summer day there is always a cooling breeze from the mountains blowing through the open windows of the beeches, tempering the heat. It is during the summer, too, that the house and grounds are practically cut off from curious eyes because of the many trees which surround the estate thus affording Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge the utmost privacy, something they have lacked in their present home.

If Mr. Coolidge decides to walk to and from his office he will find the distance shortened by almost a mile as compared to the distance to Main street from the two-family frame house at 21 Massasoit street.

STABILIZATION TO BE WEIGHED

National Chamber Meeting to Discuss Business

Seventeen Hundred Bodies Will Send Delegates

Hoover Measures Will be Given Consideration

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 6. (Exclusive)—The possibilities of business stabilization on a nation-wide scale will be fully explored at the eighteenth annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States at Washington, the 28th inst. to May 1, next.

The meeting will be attended by more than 3000 business executives representing 1700 chambers of commerce and trade associations affiliated with the national body.

In considering practical methods for business stabilization the delegates will first make an appraisal of the stabilization measures initiated by President Hoover in the emergency which developed after the stock-market collapse last fall.

CONTINUING UNDERTAKING

Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the national business survey conference temporarily organized to deal with that emergency, will make a comprehensive report on the work of the conference, summarizing the problems it has encountered and the progress it has made. The feasibility of carrying this work forward as a continuing undertaking, it is understood, will be considered by this annual meeting of organized business. Among the members of the national business survey are Henry M. Robinson, Harry Chandler of Los Angeles, and Paul Shoup of San Francisco, president of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Following Mr. Barnes's report there will be a discussion of the "Economic Bases of Business Stabilization," by outstanding business leaders and nationally known economists.

In view of the current situation the discussion of a stabilization program for business is expected to arouse a great deal of interest. The practical experiences of the delegates in dealing with this question in their own businesses will give added importance to this timely discussion.

INDIVIDUAL EFFORT

In commenting today on this phase of the annual meeting program, the chamber pointed out that the "cyclical vicissitudes through which business passes have heretofore been regarded in a large measure as inevitable, but in the past few years they have been the subject of broad analytical study. Individual manufacturing corporations have attempted to reduce seasonal rises and dips in production which result in costly irregularities, with some success. In some instances two or more individual industries have by co-operation reduced the fluctuations in employment.

"At the same time industries, through their trade associations, are displaying growing interest in maintaining their activities at a more even flow by a closer relation of production volume to distribution and consumption by more orderly planning at longer range.

"Progress in these experimental attempts has been definite enough to open wider possibilities of achievement on a broader scale. The next logical step would appear to be the consideration of the possibilities of stabilization of all economic factors on a national scale."

SNOW REMOVAL COSTLY

SUSANVILLE, April 6. (AP)—It cost $8279.10 to remove snow from the 130 miles of highway between Mineral and the Nevada State line, and 2,094,150 cubic yards were moved, according to figures compiled here, covering the past winter.

TACOMA . . .

a world port of great charm and beauty

HUGH WALPOLE, in one of his novels in which he extols the beauties of certain cities of the world, refers to "the beautiful curve of Tacoma."

You will understand what he means if you will walk or drive North a short distance from your hotel to the beautiful promontory of Prospect Hill. Here you may gaze upon a superb panorama of Puget Sound as from a balcony. Below you vessels silently coming and going from the seven seas, at your feet the tops of evergreen trees and nestling in between, lawns vividly green and roses in rich and fragrant profusion.

In the distance, a magnificent sweep of friendly islands and spacious mainland fringing the glacial peaks of the Cascade and Olympic mountains marking the east and west boundaries of the great Puget Sound basin.

To the southeast, filling the entire sky, looking just beyond Tacoma's busy mills and factories and the Puyallup Valley, the majestic mountain towering 14,408 feet into the blue of the heavens. This is indeed a sight never to be forgotten.

You will enjoy, also, the thrill of hooking a great scrappy salmon just off Point Defiance Park—you'll find boats and tackle for rent.

Tacoma is only one of the seven friendly cities that welcome you to "The Evergreen Playground." Visit Longview, Seattle, Everett, Bellingham, Vancouver, B.C., and Victoria, B. C. All share alike in scenic attractions, unusual accommodations and perfect summer climate.

SENATE TO TAKE UP PROHIBITION

Action Expected on Bill to Shift Enforcement

Mitchell Will Give Views on Inquiry Resolution

Brookhart to Answer Wet Speech by Tydings

WASHINGTON, April 6. (AP)—Prohibition gets its long-awaited consideration in the dry dominated Senate this week, and leaders are hopeful of getting action on the House measure to transfer enforcement from the Treasury to the Justice Department.

Atty.-Gen. Mitchell will go before the Senate Judiciary Committee tomorrow to give his views on the Norris resolution providing for a Senate inquiry of dry enforcement. Committee members are ready to ask Mr. Mitchell also about his plans for enforcement if the transfer bill becomes law.

STILL IN COMMITTEE

Ready to give prohibition the right of way in the Senate, Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, was busy today trying to arrange to get the transfer bill out of the Judiciary Committee. However, Chairman Norris of the committee said that the subcommittee considering the bill has not made a report and he is not hopeful of committee action on it tomorrow.

Senator Brookhart of Iowa, a Republican dry, is prepared to open the wet-and-dry discussion in the Senate with a reply to the speech by Senator Tydings of Maryland, Democratic wet, who cited a mass of statistics in his contention that the prohibition law has failed to prohibit.

Senate drys also have given notice that they are willing to vote on the resolution of Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, proposing repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. But the Wisconsin Senator's resolution is still before the Judiciary Committee, too. He has said, however, he will bring it up in the Senate. No chance whatever, is conceded this resolution.

FEWER PROSECUTIONS

Preliminary to the appearance of Atty.-Gen. Mitchell, the Department of Justice made public today a table comparing the number of prohibition prosecutions in the Federal courts during the last six months of 1929 with those during the same period in 1928. It showed a decrease.

In the last six months of 1929 when the Jones law, providing increased penalties, was in full effect, 26,811 prohibition cases were instituted by the government, compared with 27,575 for the same period in 1928 before the Jones law became operative.

Despite the decrease in prosecutions, there was a slight increase in convictions and pleas of guilty. The total of fines was $3,379,448 for the 1929 period compared with $3,222,146 for 1928. The convictions and pleas of guilty for 1929 were 24,213 against 23,683 for 1926.

The department offered no comment on the statistics which showed little difference in the amount of fines under the operation of the Jones law. The southern and northern districts of New York showed the greatest decreases in the number of prohibition cases last year over 1928. However, the western district of New York showed one of the greatest increases.

In the New York southern district there were 4205 cases instituted in the 1928 period compared with 1650 in 1929; in Northern New York there were 1339 compared with 453 the following year; in Western New York there were 813 cases in 1928 and 1161 in 1929.

The eastern district of Michigan, including the city of Detroit, reported the largest amount of fines for the last six months of 1929, a total of $478,550. This is a greater amount than the combined totals of the fines in the four New York districts, amounting to $375,737.

DECISION DUE WEDNESDAY

In the House, the Judiciary Committee expects to reach a decision Wednesday on the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission's legislative program. Only one of these bills, providing for absentee service on speakeasies in injunction proceedings, has been approved.

Representative La Guardia, Republican, New York, in a statement today, asserted that the bill to authorize State officers to seize automobiles transporting liquor in violation of the dry law would place 70,000 "irresponsible State officers in service of the Federal government, including governors, State treasurers and all other law officers."

"If they committed murder in the performance," La Guardia said, "it would be up to the Federal District Attorney to defend them. The proposal of the Law Enforcement Commission should never be enacted, and I don't believe it will."

Congressional leaders believe there is prospect for final enactment of only one of the prohibition bills—that providing for transfer of the enforcement from the Treasury to the Justice Department.

BISHOP CANNON SAYS WET ATTACK HAS FAILED

WASHINGTON, April 6. (AP)—In a statement cabled from London to the Board of Temperance and Social Service of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Bishop James Cannon, Jr. said tonight that the wets appearing before the House Judiciary Committee have "made out no convincing case for the repeal of the prohibition law."

Summarizing the testimony given in the hearings, Bishop Cannon said "They did make out a case for more education and stricter enforcement."

GANGSTERS' PLOT HINTED IN MURDER

Arkansas Suspect Keeps Silence Fearing Revenge, His Lawyers State

BENTONVILLE (Ark.) April 6. (AP)—A St. Louis gangster angle was brought into the foreground of the William Robert Pearman murder mystery today by John R. Duty of Rogers, Ark., chief counsel for Dr. A. J. Bass, Columbia, Mo., retired dentist, held in connection with Pearman's slaying. Authorities say the murder grew out of a $200,000 insurance swindle plot.

Adding to a statement given out last night by Boyle Clark of Columbia, another attorney for Dr. Bass, Duty told news men today that Bass was inveigled into the insurance fraud scheme under threat of death.

Dr. Bass's silence since his imprisonment on charges of murder was attributed in part by Duty to fear of reprisal against others by persons involved in the murder. Duty also said that Bass was not the "master mind" in the insurance plot and that in time he will tell everything."

Duty said that in his opinion, based on information now in his possession, St. Louis gangsters were the principals in both the insurance plot scheme and the murder.

Antiradical Paraders Riot

CHICAGO, April 6. (Exclusive)—A Ukrainian anti-Communist parade and mass meeting here today ended in a riot between radical and antiradical factions. The melee centered around St. Nicholas Ukrainian Catholic Church, North Oakley Boulevard and Rice street.

Police dispersed the rioters but not before the clash spread into the lobby of the church as the parishioners were coming from 11 o'clock services. Dozens of persons were knocked down, slugged and trampled. Two were seriously injured.

NEW BILLS ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON, April 6. (AP)—The third issue of Treasury bills to finance the government was announced today by Secretary Mellon, who called for bids for $50,000,000 or thereabouts to be opened the 11th inst.

HEROINE WINS WITH SPUDS

Portia Drops Law to Grow Potatoes and Saves Old Homestead

ALLIANCE (Neb.) April 6. (AP)—Just like the melodrama of old, the mortgage on the old homestead was coming due and something had to be done about it. So Miss Charlotte Worley set about to do it.

She dropped her practice of law, donned a pair of overalls and went to work raising potatoes on her mother's ranch, all of which wasn't much news for the newspapers until they learned today that she recently realized $84,000 from 30,000 bushels of certified seed potatoes and that the homestead is safe from foreclosure.

MORMONS OPEN GREAT FESTIVAL

Centennial Marked by Rally From Many Lands

Historical Pageant Presented by Company of 1000

Message of Church Leader Goes to Far Places

SALT LAKE CITY, April 6. (AP) The centennial of the establishment of "Mormonism" was hailed here today by thousands gathered from many parts of the earth for the celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the organization of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

The day's activities, opened this morning by Herber J. Grant, president of the church, in a message from the first presidency that asked the world to judge the body by the fruits of its first 100 years, found their culmination tonight in the initial presentation by 1000 actors, singers and musicians of an original pageant, "The Message of the Ages."

Sketching the history of the Latter Day Saints Church from its organization by Joseph Smith 100 years ago today, following what were declared to be divine revelations, President Grant pictured its present status in scriptural allusions.

SCRIPTURAL MESSAGE

"The Lord's house has been established in the tops of the mountains, and people from all nations have flown into it," he said. "Through the blessings of the Lord upon their labors, the desert has been subdued and made to blossoms as the rose. Solitary places have been made glad because of them. Cities have been established, springs of water have broken out which have given life to the thirsty land, music and the voices of children are heard in the streets where desolation and silence had reigned for ages.

"The future," he added, "is pregnant with hope for the church."

While several thousand members of the Latter-Day Saints priesthood filled the great Mormon Tabernacle at the opening session of the 100th annual conference this morning, many other thousands listened to the address of President Grant and the other proceedings over a public-address system that carried them to the Temple Square outside the tabernacle, to two other assembly halls on and near the grounds and to two downtown theaters. Radio receivers made them available to other congregations in ward meeting-houses in this and near-by communities.

WORDS SPREAD AFAR

The message of the first presidency, translated into many foreign tongues, was read at the same hour to congregations of Latter-Day Saints in many other parts of the world.

The story of the divine plan of salvation as embodied in the Mormon doctrine was told tonight in strikingly colorful pageantry on a great stage that filled one end of the tabernacle. Starting with the creation, it portrayed the history of the race as recorded in the Bible and the Book of Mormon, down through the times of the patriarchs, the prophets and the ministry of Christ.

Then the "restoration of the gospel," through Joseph Smith, the organization of the Latter Day Saints Church and the migration of the Mormon pioneers across the plains to Utah were depicted. The parts of many of the pioneers were portrayed by their grandsons, and many of the properties in the scene representing their migration were the identical ones used by their ancestors.

The pageant closed with symbolical scenes showing the gathering of representatives of the entire earth to the Mormon faith, and representing the activities and accomplishments of the Latter Day Saints Church. Dressed in the costumes of their native lands, some 200 Mormon converts from other countries participated in the former scene.

The pageant will be presented each night for two weeks.

MISSOURI GROUP CONSECRATES AUDITORIUM

INDEPENDENCE (Mo.) April 6. (AP)—Communicants of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints celebrated the centennial of Mormonism and consecrated their large new auditorium here today. A lineal descendant of Joseph Smith, who called a small group into his religion in Fayette, N. Y., April 6, 1830, summoned to communion more than 7000 of the international church membership a century later.

At the bidding of Dr. Frederick M. Smith, grandson of Joseph Smith, delegates to the centennial conference filed into the new temple to receive communion at two services directed by 200 ministers.

Another descendant of the founder, Dr. Elbert A. Smith, officiated at evening vesper services following an afternoon concert by the centennial band.

The $1,000,000 auditorium, on an eminence visible for miles around, is 250 by 270 feet and its dome towers 114 feet from the street level. Its interior height from the main floor is sixty-seven feet. The building, seating 7000, has no pillars and no steps, ramps being used for elevation.

Across the street the Church of Christ celebrated the 100th anniversary on its temple lot, with similar communion observance. This group has no titular head. Two years ago its members undertook construction of a temple to cost from $600,000 to $700,000 and excavation has been mostly completed. The problem will be considered at its centennial conference this week.

Another problem facing this group is the case of Otto Fetting of Port Huron, Mich., "silenced" last autumn by the general conference for asserted heresy. Fetting preached and practiced "rebaptism" of persons coming into the church from other Mormon factions, and has continued to do so since the "silencing." He is here now, preaching at the Church of Jesus Christ, a third group having a small church near the others.

HUGE TAXES DUE ON INHERITANCE

J. L. Spreckels Estate to Pay $2,171,481.03

State to Get $1,467,797.03; Federal Share $703,684

Figures Based Upon Court's Appraisal, $16,074,354.79

SAN DIEGO, April 6.—State inheritance tax of $1,467,797.03 must be paid by the estate of John D. Spreckels, local capitalist, who died June 7, 1926, according to a report filed in Superior Court by Edwin N. Goodwin, inheritance tax appraiser.

Market value of the estate was fixed by Goodwin at $16,074,384.79. Expenses of Spreckels's last illness and funeral were $32,106 and debts of the estate at time of death were $1,161,000, in addition to $23,250 taxes due, the report shows.

Fees to executors of the will were $161,573.55, and their attorneys received an equal sum. Cost of appraisement was fixed at $37,235.68.

These deductions left a clear market value of $13,792,616.23. This value was reached after figuring Federal estate taxes at $703,684.

Among bequests made in the will were $500,000 to Mercy Hospital, $100,000 to Walter D. K. Gibson, $20,000 to United States Senator Shortridge and $20,000 each to William Clayton, William H. Hannam, Fred S. Samuels, Charles A. Gibson, Emily A. Gibson, John Krabbenhoft, L. F. Cokroft and Olga Schoenhueb. Hans Tiedeman was given $5000. Grace Hamilton, a daughter, was given $2,702,682.92. Bequests to other members of the family included $2,790,043.77 to Lillie Wegeforth, daughter; $2,753,-830.20 to Claus Spreckels, son, and about $1,256,000 to each of four grandchildren.

Memorial for Miss Aurelia Harwood Urged

UPLAND, April 6.—Plans were made known here today for the proposed erection of a costly memorial near Manker Flats in San Antonio Canyon for Miss Aurelia Harwood, member of the well-known local Harwood family, whose death occurred several months ago.

Miss Harwood was the first and only woman president of the Statewide Sierra Club, "organized to explore, enjoy and render accessible the mountain regions of the Pacific Coast; to publish authentic information regarding them, to enlist the support and co-operation of the people and the government in preserving the forests and other natural features of the Sierra Nevada Mountains."

John Muir was first president of the organization which came into existence in 1892.

The memorial proposed for Miss Harwood is a lodge to cost several thousand dollars. If there is no alteration in present plans, the lodge will be built on a five-acre tract with funds contributed by members of the Sierra Club. The finance committee in charge of the project is Ernest Dawson, Los Angeles business man.

Miss Harwood was one of the most enthusiastic members of the club, and was particularly active in preserving the wild life of the local San Bernardino Mountains. At the time of her death she was president of the club.

Local members of the club are Dr. R. C. Stone, Miss Marcia Snyder, F. H. Manter, Mrs. Katherine Weber, W. A. Getty, Mrs. Lucy H. Jorgensen, J. Herbert Williams and Miss Gertrude Reid.

Van Nuys Civic Leaders to Give Turkey Dinner

VAN NUYS, April 6.—President John C. Austin and Manager Arthur G. Arnoll of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce will be guests of honor at the annual turkey dinner and meeting to be given in the Van Nuys Woman's Club tomorrow night by the Van Nuys chamber.

Other prominent guests will be County Supervisors Henry W. Wright and Frank L. Shaw; Councilman Randall, W. P. Whitsett, president of the Metropolitan Water Board; Commissioner A. B. Prior of the Water and Power Board; Edgar A. Elkins of the Board of Public Works, and Mark C. Sutton of the Board of Public Utilities.

Principal speaker will be Will G. Farrell, past president of the Salt Lake Chamber of Commerce and past president of the Salt Lake Rotary Club. He is now head of the insurance department of the Los Angeles chamber. C. C. Campbell, manager of the Pacific Telephone Company in San Fernando Valley, is in charge of the entertainment program, which will consist of a half-dozen musical numbers.

SANTA PAULANS HAVE AIRPORT ASSOCIATION

VENTURA, April 6.—Articles of incorporation for the Santa Paula Airport Association, Ltd., were filed Saturday with County Clerk L. E. Hallowell, stating that the organization is to further aviation and the science of flying as a recreation, commercial necessity, profession and as a public duty. The purpose of the association also includes, according to the articles, "to encourage the art of gliding and glider construction." Stock of the company is rated as worth $75,000, there being 750 shares of a par value of $100 each. Those named as directors and stockholders are Ralph E. Dickenson, Albert J. Thille, M. L. Steckel, Laurence D. Gardner and Milton M. Teague.

CHIEFS OF POLICE IN POLITICS

Imperial Valley Municipal Contests in Three Cities Center Around Their Jobs

EL CENTRO, April 6.—It will be open season on police chiefs in at least three Imperial Valley towns, when the voters go to the polls for the annual city election next Tuesday.

In Calipatria, a bitter political fight centers around the retention of C. G. Smith, Chief of Police, who was twice arrested on criminal complaints and released without penalty during the past year.

In El Centro there are four candidates to fill two vacancies on the board of trustees and here also the police department looms in the background as one of the main issues of the campaign. The candidates are: Herbert Fawcett, incumbent; John Rice, John R. Zurcher and Emery Girard.

Calexico has three candidates for two trusteeships. Mayor A. J. Mercire and Finance Commissioner Paul Anderson are seeking re-election and Isaac Schlatter is backed by a local group, which wants to oust Police Chief Louis Marsh.

Speaker Urges Better Method of Irrigation

SANTA BARBARA, April 6.—Dams and reservoirs on the coast side of the Santa Ynez range are impractical, but an educational program to encourage better irrigation methods must be adopted by the Santa Barbara County Farm Bureau if the water resources of the coast section are to be preserved, J. E. Brown, irrigation specialist of the extension department of the University of California, told directors of the bureau in the last meeting.

The Coast Farm Center, of which Otto Lee is president, won the membership contest this year. The Seaside Oil Company's trophy was awarded to the center for having 100 per cent of the ranchers in the district in the Farm Bureau. The center has forty-two members. The biggest farm center is Lompoc, which reported 130 members.

MRS. PYLE HEADS P.-T.A.

SOUTH GATE, April 6. — Mrs. G. C. Pyle has been elected president of the Liberty Parent-Teacher Association, Mrs. C. A. Lowe, vice-president; Mrs. R. W. Merrick, secretary; Mrs. Kline, treasurer; Mrs. Herman Leichenring, historian, and Mrs. J. S. Farrow, auditor.

HEMET, April 6.—With prospects of the greatest throng of sightseers to rendezvous in the vicinity, in the history of the production, during the showings of the 1930 Ramona Pageant here, the pageant association has established a bureau of information to direct visitors to points of historical interest in the Ramona country.

The bureau is located in the pageant offices in the Hotel Alessandro here and will be maintained throughout the three week-ends the pageant will be staged, the dates being the 26th and 27th inst., and May 3 and 4, and May 10 and 11, according to Edward Poorman, the president-manager.

Famed landmarks figuring in episodes of the spectacular drama in the vicinity of Hemet, include the adobe hut occupied by Ramona and Alessandro at Aguanga, Ramona's grave on the Indian reservation, the 150-year-old Pico hacienda near San Jacinto, the Newhill Indian Park, remains of the Butterfield stage station, the Estudillo mansion, and innumerable other interesting locations.

In all directions from the Ramona Bowl are the sites of Indian villages where the metates, or primitive grinding-mills used by the squaws of an earlier day to make acorn flour, may be seen. The quadruple swastika rock near Hemet, of mysterious Indian origin, and the primitive kilns in Massacre Canyon near San Jacinto, are also favored points for sightseers.

Among those who have volunteered to serve in the information bureau are Grace Woods, Sally Skinner and Charlie Van Fleet, who take part in the pageant.

Liquor Charges Result in Fines

HUNTINGTON PARK, April 6. H. B. Rossiter of Long Beach and L. P. Rossiter of this city were before Judge Louis Budway of City Court yesterday, where the former was fined $100 for possession of liquor and $50 for intoxication, and the latter $50 on an intoxication charge. They had entered a plea of guilty to the charges against them the day before. Both men were arrested here early in the week, when found in an automobile, the car assertedly containing a quantity of liquor.

MISFORTUNE PICKS ON MAIMED WOMAN

CUCAMONGA, April 6.—Mrs. Ida Rice Davis is convinced she is the victim of misfortune. Several months ago she fell and so severely fractured her left arm it was necessary to amputate part of it. She is again confined to her home. While working about her home Mrs. Davis fell and fractured the bone of the maimed arm and was removed to San Antonio Community Hospital.

STATE PARK BONDS URGED

Cities From Seal Beach to San Clemente Will Demand Orange County Supervisors Call Election

COSTA MESA, April 6.—Cities from Seal Beach to San Clemente will demand that Orange County Supervisors call a bond election for the acquisition of land for a beach park along the Orange county coast line, it was intimated here today by Dr. C. G. Huston, who is arranging a number of special meetings between clubs and other organizations when the State park plan will be explained.

Immediate action is necessary, it is explained by T. B. Talbert, because options held on property located between Newport and Huntington Beach will expire in the next few months and owners of the property cannot be expected the renewal of options at the present price.

Three persons now own the land along the coast which it would be necessary to purchase. Approximately 345 acres north of the Coast Highway and a considerable amount of acreage between the highway and ocean, can be purchased for a total of $1,482,270, it is stated by Talbert. Of this amount Orange county would have to vote only $741,135. The remainder of the purchase price would be paid by the State and the park would be taken over and developed by the State.

Talbert's plan calls for the dredging of canals in the now swampy land north of the highway and building of inland bays and lagoons where boating and still-water swimming might be enjoyed. Parking space for hundreds of automobiles would be provided and the park would also be accessible by Pacific Electric trains and by busses, he says.

WONDER PLANT PROVES QUEER

Importation From China Has Topsy-turvy Character; Water Causes it to Dry Up; Moist Breath Hinders Its Growth; Sunshine and Fresh Air Not Needed

BELL, April 6.—A very peculiar plant, termed "the wonder plant," is to be found at the home of Dr. B. T. Richardson, 67 years of age, retired, who resides at 4004 Bell avenue. It was a gift to him from Prof. G. D. Sargeant, a friend of college days, now connected with the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, as a botanist and geologist.

In explaining "the wonder plant," Dr. Richardson says that water, if applied to the plant when it is ready to bloom, will cause it to dry and wither away; that if moist breath is blown upon it, growth will be retarded. If the bulb should be thrown in some corner of a living-room, it will thrive and bring forth a white blossom, and if placed out of doors on cement it will produce a purple bloom. If the bulb is placed in very wet soil, it will shrink and finally be resolved into dust. The plant comes from the remote interior of China and will not grow if placed in any kind of soil where there is moisture. Neither sunshine nor fresh air are necessary for its development.

The doctor also has another peculiar plant which he secured from the South Sea Islands, this plant being known as a "Darlingtonia." It is a slender plant with two bright red leaves at the top. If placed in a residence, this plant will draw to it all kinds of winged insects such as flies and others, and they will be absorbed, it is stated. Dr. Richardson says that cockroaches and other insects of this species will not remain in a house where the shrubs are located.

FLOWER SHOW ANNOUNCED

Laguna Beach to Present Second Annual Event Friday, Saturday Under Garden Club Auspices

LAGUNA BEACH, April 6.—Laguna Beach is giving its second annual flower show, sponsored by the Garden Club, next Friday and Saturday afternoon and evening. The show will be held in the Community Playhouse in the center of the town and all of the surrounding towns are invited. A special invitation is extended to garden clubs or garden sections of woman's clubs.

Many beautiful and unique features are being planned to show off the flowers which grow so easily and luxuriantly in and around Laguna.

The Garden Club, much interested in civic improvement, is also conducting a garden contest at the same time and handsome prizes will be given away at the Flower Show for both.

There will be music, an exhibition of flower paintings in connection with the display of flowers and succulents in fifteen classes, both professional and amateur.

It is the policy of those in charge of Laguna's flower shows to keep them free from all commercialism, and to preserve the spirit of simplicity and beauty unspoiled by any idea of money making. The display is for the pleasure of all and the sponsors ask no other reward than an artistic success and the joy of achievement.

Exhibits can only be accepted from local residents but visitors are welcome from everywhere.

TWO-CHUTE JUMP MADE BY HERBER

Transport Pilot's Wife Will Attempt to Break Altitude Leap Record

ALHAMBRA, April 6.—Two parachutes lowered Edgar Herber, local air jumper, to the ground this afternoon near the Garvey Airport on Garvey Road following an exhibition leap from a plane piloted by Mrs. Juanita Burns, operator of the airport and commercial pilot.

Herber had planned to open one chute, cut one loose and then open the other, but he was unable to free himself from the first one and opened the second as a unique demonstration for the crowd at the airport. He jumped from the plane at 5000 feet and fell 1000 feet before pulling the release ring of the first chute.

Mrs. Betty Woodward of this city, wife of a transport pilot, will attempt to break the world's altitude parachute jump record for women above the Garvey field on the 20th inst., Mrs. Burns announced. The present record is approximately 14,000, held by Miss Billie Brown of El Monte and set last winter near the Garvey airport. Mrs. Woodward will jump from Mrs. Burns's ship at 16,000 feet. It will be her first air leap.

Cemetery for Catholics of County Sought

REDLANDS, April 6. — A Catholic cemetery for San Bernardino county and the city of Riverside will be established in Reche Canyon, on the Redlands-Riverside road, if the San Bernardino County Supervisors approve the request of Attorney Walter E. Byrne, representing the Catholic churches of Redlands, San Bernardino, Ontario, Colton and Riverside. Options have been obtained on a sixty-eight-acre site in the canyon owned by G. P. Walin of Colton.

Riverside has no Catholic burying ground. The one used in San Bernardino, that on E street, is now in a highly developed and growing district. Recently a road was put through the cemetery. As soon as arrangements can be completed, the caskets will be removed to the new site.

Redlands people are looking forward to the time when available space in Hillside Cemetery will be exhausted. That, according to the church authorities, will not be soon, but preparation must be made for the future. Families that have plots in Hillside Cemetery will use them.

If the Reche Canyon site is approved, the first interments probably will be those of persons who die in Ontario.

Three Hospitals Gain Approval

VENTURA, April 6.—According to word received here, three hospitals and the State Girls' School Hospital in Ventura county have been placed on the approved list of the Council on Medical Education, and on the list of hospitals of the American Medical Association receiving "the highest indorsement."

Big Sisters' Hospital, Ventura County Hospital and Ventura School for Girls, all in this city, and St. John's Hospital, Oxnard, are the institutions named.

DR. PAUL HAMILTON EXCHANGE CLUB HEAD

ALHAMBRA, April 6.—Dr. Paul M. Hamilton has been elected president of the Alhambra Exchange Club, succeeding Bryson MacGill. Other officers named were: Vice-president, Edwin O'Brien; secretary, H. H. Montgomery; treasurer, Dr. C. W. Burton; sergeant-at-arms, V. V. Stockton. The new officers will be installed on May 2 at a dinner to be held in the Elks' clubhouse, with members of Pasadena, Monterey Park and Monrovia Exchange clubs in attendance.

'Miracle Man' of Chino Valley in Trouble Again

CHINO, April 6. — Again Armando Dominguez, "miracle man" of Chino Valley, has failed in his miracles and police have halted his profession.

Dominguez, who several years ago created a national sensation through his seemingly wonderful cures, is again slated for court trial following his arrest here on a charge of practicing medicine without a license. Judge Ralph Homan has not yet set date for his hearing.

While Dominguez was at the height of his career, sick and ailing men and women from all parts of the United States found their way to his humble shack here and went away evidently cured by miracles. He has been arrested frequently for practicing his "profession" without having produced a license. The last time he was arrested he was given a suspended jail sentence.

It is believed now that he will be forced to serve his suspended term in jail and suffer whatever additional penalty the court imposes. Dominguez charged no fee for his miracle cures, but received all gratuities with a smile.

Ministers Plan for Holy Week

REDLANDS, April 6.—Plans for holy week services were practically completed yesterday at the meeting of the Ministerial Union, and arrangements for the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of Protestantism here were discussed.

The daily union meetings during holy week will be held at the Presbyterian Church. The first four days they will be from 12:10 to 12:45 p.m., but on Good Friday will cover a period from 12 o'clock noon until 3 p.m. The following program has been announced:

Monday—Rev. W. J. Dentler, pastor of the Lutheran Church, presiding; speaker, Rev. William C. Miller of San Bernardino First Lutheran Church.

Tuesday—Rev. Lewis Jacobsen, pastor of the First Baptist Church, presiding; speaker, Rev. H. E. Owings of Santa Ana First Baptist Church.

Wednesday—Rev. Robert Dougherty, pastor of the State-street Christian Church, presiding; speaker, Rev. H. C. Hutshar of Pomona First Christian Church.

Thursday—Rev. C. E. Ruchman, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, presiding; speaker, Rev. Sam Hughes of Riverside First Methodist Church.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME AT HERMOSA BEACH

HERMOSA BEACH, April 6.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the beach home of Dr. Ruth D. Sanderson of Los Angeles, located at Highland and Longfellow avenue here. The house, a two-story light frame structure, was one of the first built here and although occupied during the early part of last night was untenated at the time of the fire. Amount of loss had not been fixed today.

THINK OF THE SMEARED FACES

Concessionaire Makes 4,000,000th Cone

Jean Sharcott, an Ultimate Consumer

About to officiate, without assistance, in a ceremony which resulted in the disappearance of the 4,000,000th ice cream cone produced by a Venice business man. "Give me credit, too," Jean insisted. "What good would it do him to make 'em, if it wasn't for me to eat 'em?"

VENICE, April 6.—Four-million ice-cream cones! Sounds like the fond dream of a hungry child. It also is the proud achievement of Jack Haistein, veteran concessionaire at the local beach. Haistein has been baking crispy cones ever since the late Abbot Kinney founded this city.

Each of his transactions nets only a nickel or a dime, but when the cash register clicks off its four-millionth sale, the cone business assumes proportions of mass production and a major industry. He figures that, if all the lip smacking could be combined in a single chorus, the appetite-whetting music would be heard around the world.

Man Believed Fatally Injured in Truck Crash

SANTA BARBARA, April 6.—Benjamin Y. Pico, 40 years of age, Goleta, was probably fatally injured here today, when the car which he was driving somersaulted three times on Cabrillo Beach Boulevard in the midst of a heavy Sunday traffic.

Apparently the wheels of the car locked. Pico was traveling about twenty-five miles an hour, according to eye witnesses. His car shimmied, then bucked and rolled over on its side. It turned over three times.

He was severely cut about the body and received internal injuries. The arteries in both arms were severed at the wrist. Traffic Officer Albert Leavitt applied tourniquets to his arms and rendered first aid. Pico was rushed to the Cottage Hospital, where doctors said he has only a slight chance to recover.

MOTORCYCLIST HURT IN CRASH WITH MOTOR CAR

PASADENA, April 6.—In a collision at West Walnut street and Cypress avenue today, A. D. Reisner, 621 Justin avenue, Glendale, sustained fractures of his left leg and ankle when his motorcycle was struck by an automobile. D. W. Coyle, 2940 Santa Rosa avenue, Altadena, was driving the automobile, the police report. Reisner received treatment at the Emergency Hospital and was then taken to his home.

PAST COMMANDERS' NIGHT ANNOUNCED

ONTARIO, April 5.—First Past Commanders' Night for John Dillon Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, is announced for the evening of the 21st inst., at Ontario American Legion clubhouse. Antonio D. Entenza of Los Angeles, past national commander, will be guest of honor. Other visitors will be Col. Clarence N. Jones of Hollywood, Al Monson of Los Angeles, department commander, and members of the local Legion post. Dinner will be served to the post members and visitors.

AMERICAN TEACHER HONORED

English-Speaking Union Picks Miss E. Louise Noyes for Distinction

SANTA BARBARA, April 6.—As the first American teacher to be sent to England by the English-Speaking Union to study social conditions, Miss E. Louise Noyes of Santa Barbara High School, will leave this summer for a tour of the island, it was announced here today by Robert Hunter of the Santa Barbara branch of the English-Speaking Union.

Miss Noyes's trip is made possible by contributions of Maj. and Mrs. Max C. Fleischmann, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Chatfield Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Isham, Oakleigh Throen and George Owen Knapp.

The idea of an exchange of teachers between the two countries was suggested by Walter Hines Page, former American Ambassador to England. England sent a teacher to this country last year for the purpose of studying social conditions here.

Behymer Will Attend Music Week Concert

SANTA ANA, April 6.—L. E. Behymer, Los Angeles impresario, has accepted the invitation of the Music Week Committee to speak here at the opening concert May 4, it was learned at a committee meeting here.

A tentative program for the entire week was worked out and has been arranged as follows: Sunday afternoon, band concert and chorus singing at Birch Park; talk by L. E. Beyhmer; Sunday night, church services in keeping with Music Week; Monday, school night; Tuesday, Santa Ana Symphony Orchestra concert; Wednesday, Junior College night; Thursday, presentation of the operetta, "The Belle of Havana," Charles Wakefield Cadman, director; Friday, Santa Ana municipal band concert; Cantanto Club and American Auxiliary Glee Club programs. Saturday night, theater night.

GOLDEN WEDDING HELD

TORRANCE, April 6.—Celebrating their golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Burger of this place were honored by friends at a series of events during the past few days culminating in a dinner at the home of their daughter, Mrs. H. T. Lintott, at 1508 Acacia avenue. Many gifts and messages of congratulations marked the day.

SCHOOL'S NAME RANKLES

Monrovia-Duarte-Arcadia Students Urge Change in Nomenclature; Present Title "Too Ordinary"

MONROVIA, April 6.—In answer to a written communication from the Arcadia Chamber of Commerce requesting that the high-school trustees take some action regarding a change in the name of the Monrovia-Duarte-Arcadia High School, it was announced today that the school board would consider the request as soon as a satisfactory name had been agreed upon by civic organizations of the three communities.

According to board officials, they will have nothing more to do with the matter until proposed new names for the three-community institution have been submitted to the board for final selection.

"If any of the new names are better than the present one and satisfy the request, we will consider making the change," A. R. Clifton, superintendent of schools, stated today.

Civic organizations of the three cities have been officially notified to select new names and submit them to the board within the next few days if immediate action in the matter is desired upon the part of the high-school board.

The Arcadia Chamber of Commerce request comes as an aftermath to a movement started by students at the high school who favor a change in the name. An editorial in the school paper, the Wildcat, stimulated the students to action several months ago and the subject has since been popular. The far-reaching cry of the students is, that the present name of the high school is "too ordinary."

CONQUISTADOR SPIRIT ALIVE IN SAN IGNACIO

[The following dispatch, written several days ago, was delayed in transmission.]

BY HARRY CARR
"Times" Staff Representative

ELOTA (Sin.) April 2. (Exclusive) The spirit of the conquistadores is not yet dead in San Ignacio, perched like a hawk on a mountainside in Sinaloa.

All day, the Mayor of the town waited for the scouting party of the Automobile Club of Southern California. The Mayor had his best cartridge belt and his new sombrero, with him waited his faithful Achates, Aurelio, in a darn near new Palm Beach suit.

A Jewish gentleman visiting from San Francisco showed the Mayor how to crease his pants and how to say "welcome to Mexico my friend." Nothing happened all day and as the sun sank with a sob of dismay over the peaks of the Sierra Agua Nueva, the fact became evident that treachery was abroad, that the scouting party of gringoes had been enticed over another road to another town.

Even at that moment, the club cars were pulling up with grunting brakes in front of the casa of the Senora Reyes in the rival town of Elota, down by the river.

PAUL REVERE RIDE

The Mayor of San Ignacio instantly rose to the crisis. A Paul Revere was sent galloping furiously from hacienda to hacienda collecting the members of the San Ignacio town band, Pedro, Jesus Maria, Pablo, Juan—all seized like Cincinnatus from the plow.

The Baile of Elota was at its height. The Senor Reyes, being the town apothecary, had suspended business and had thrown open the drug store as a reception room for those who did not dance. Some gent's sombrero was hanging on the bottle of quinine pills, and a bells was using the shining can of the mustard plasters for a make-up mirror. The Elota band was stationed right outside the front window surrounded by ragged peons in white pants, while all the children in town seemed to have gathered in front of the door, wistfully peeking in where the gringoes in field boots and white trousers were preparing to trip a measure with Maria Theresa, the daughter of the government telephone operator.

DRAMATIC INTERRUPTION

But wait. Hold everything. There comes a dramatic interruption. Snorts up to the door a truck and a touring car. Bursts through the crowd the tall Mayor of San Ignacio, the gent in the Palm Beach suit and the Jewish gent from San Francisco. Following them, eight beauteous senoritas from the first families of San Ignacio. And behind them the band.

The San Ignacio band pushed its way through the crowd and took station in the patio, there to wait with pity and contempt while the band of Elota outside on the porch nervously quavered through Quatro Milpas and Rancho Grande. Then Pablo, the leader of the San Ignacio band, puffed out his lips, majestically raised elgrande contra bajo to his mouth and startled the echoes of the ancient pueblo with such a magnificent um-pa! um-pa! um-pa! that the band of Elota retired crushed and overwhelmed. All night long, did Pablo lead his valient band through such modern masterpieces of harmony as "Show Me the 'Way to Go Home" and "Weary River" elegances brought to San Ignacio by the Jewish gentleman from San Francisco in a musics phonograph box.

BEER KEGS EMPTY

Critics among us said that the San Ignacio played cock-eyed music and out of tune, but I aver that, as they played, it was like rivers of honey under the light of the silver moon, like silver ships upon a perfumed sea, and the senoritas of San Ignacio danced with such light heels that they would not have dented the bubbles on the foam of Venus bath and were so lovely that words fail—ojos calientes.

About 4:30 a.m. the San Ignacio beer kegs were empty and the band was trying to play two or three pieces at the same time.

At 6 o'clock Pablo shut one eye to see single and gave an imperious signal for another piece, but the band just guttered and gave a dying whuff. It was through.

Then from concealment came a thrilling challenge. The Elota band, which had been waiting with diabolic craft for this event, took up the dying torch and crashed out Rancho Grande with fresh zeal. Pablo gave back a red-eyed glare, but had no answer. At 8 o'clock the Mayor of San Ignacio gathered up the eight so beautiful senoritas and the band and started home. We overtook them at the old Aztec town of Piaxtla. They had observed that the town store had a cement porch. Having been up for nearly two hours without dancing, they stopped and had a dance on the cement porch, the brass band of San Ignacio tooting fiercely in memory of the abominable treachery of the band of Elota.

RICH WOMAN GIVES WORK TO JOBLESS

Lady Bountiful Solves Unemployment Problem by Hiring All Idle Villagers

POMFRET (Ct.) April 6. (Exclusive)—Mrs. C. Morris Murray, Boston social registerite, the "lady bountiful of Abingdon, Ct.," has solved the unemployment problem for her village.

Mrs. Murray, reputed to be worth $35,000,000, has given employment on her $1,000,000 estate known as the Gwen Caret farm, near Pomfret to every inhabitant of the village of Abingdon who was out of work.

The population of the village is 350. Two weeks ago Mrs. Murray discovered that several persons were jobless, so she sent out word she would employ everyone who needed work. She had men move a 100-year-old elm, ninety-five feet high, a distance of three miles, and plant it on her estate. Last year, to overcome lack of work in the village, she had a mile-long ditch dug and ran piping through it, to create an artificial lake on the farm. She maintains a home there for fourteen aged couples who live in a house she had built primarily to give employment to out-of-work residents of Abingdon.

BRIGANDS IN CHINA FREE MISSIONARY

Kansas Woman Held Since March 27 Released, Says Dispatch From Changsha

SHANGHAI, April 7. (Monday) (AP) A dispatch from Changsha, Hunan Province, received early today at Hankow stated that brigands have released Miss Nina E. Gemmell, American missionary formerly of Girard, Kan., and former Pomona College (Cal.) student.

Miss Gemmell was captured ...ong with the British missionaries, Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Porteus, during a raid on Yuanchow, Kiangsi Province, March 27. No details of the missionary's release were given in the brief Changsha dispatch nor were the British missionaries mentioned.

Chinese press advices said 300 bandits had captured, looted and burned numerous villages in the neighborhood of Sunkiang, Kiangsu Province, kidnaping fifty school children for ransom and killing three constables and a magistrate.

Sunkiang is twenty-five miles southwest of Shanghai. The plundered district borders the Shanghai-Hankow Railroad.

A similar dispatch stated that pirates raided ten cargo junks at the mouth of the Yangtse River and escaped with their loot to the northward.

Colleges Give Views on Radio in Education

WASHINGTON, April 6. (AP)—The advisory committee on education by radio reported today that it had received from twenty-three colleges and universities owning and operating stations, opinions that favorable results can be obtained from the use of the radio for education.

Some expressed doubt as to the place of the radio in credit work, but felt that its possibilities in supplementing the work of schools are unlimited. Others were indifferent, had no opinion, or felt that more study is needed before a definite program is mapped out. Still others were enthusiastic regarding the possibilities of education by radio.

KILLING OF DOG BRINGS CHARGE

Cruelty Laid to Man After He Assertedly Hits Two and Then Drives On

Harry Nagin, 1146 Stone street, will be tried for cruelty to animals as a result of failing to stop and render aid to two dogs which were run over by his automobile. In Municipal Judge Curtis's court he pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for May 1.

Herbert Hallett of the State Commission for Protection of Children and Animals reported that Nagin's car killed one dog belonging to Hector Tate, 15 years of age, of 2035 Maple avenue, and injured another. After the accident Nagin failed to stop until forced to the curb by other motorists who observed the incident, the officer charged.

ATHEISTS LAY EASTER PLANS

Period Will be Devoted to Industrialization

New Antireligious Schools Will be Opened

List of Priests Renouncing Faith Published

MOSCOW, April 6. (AP)—Leaders of the society of militant atheists today decided that their antireligious activities during the approaching Easter holidays will be centered largely on helping to fulfill the government's five-year industrialization plan, collective farms scheme, and fight against alcohol, instead of ridiculing priests and the church as heretofore.

The decisions are in line with resolutions adopted at the all-union atheistic congress recently, which decried the use of any methods other than peaceful persuasion for converting religious believers to atheism.

Two hundred new "antireligious cells" will be established in Moscow, and special antireligious schools for the peasants will be opened on Easter day. Similar institutions will be started in other sections of the country.

The official atheist organ, "Bezojnik," today publishes the names and addresses of forty-eight Russian priests who have renounced their faith within the past five days.

THOUSANDS REGAIN CIVIL PRIVILEGES

MOSCOW, April 6. (Jewish Telegraph Agency)—Of the thousands of lishentsky (people without citizenship rights) who have applied for reinstatement in accordance with a recent decision of the soviet government, 38 per cent already have been reinstated. In the Caucasian city of Satahker 1435 Jews were reinstated today, and the entire Jewish population of Satahker is only 1477.

Isvestia, official government paper, today emphasized that in cases where parents have not been reinstated their children should not suffer. It explains that the soviet government is extremely interested in the younger generation and in most cases the children of lishentsky do not agree with the views of their parents, anyway.

Tulsa Airport Claims Record

TULSA (Okla.) April 6. (AP)—A world's record for commercial air traffic is claimed by the Tulsa Municipal Airport following compilation of a report showing 2209 passengers were cleared, in and out, during March.

The figure exceeds by approximately 3000, the combined totals of Europe's leading airports, Croydon, Le Bourget and Tempiehofer fields for February.

PIONEER TRAINED RAT EXHIBITOR SUCCUMBS

NEW YORK, April 6. (AP)—Newman Leo Graham, nationally known exhibitor of trained animals in vaudeville, died of a heart attack today at the Hotel Belvedere. He was 45 years of age. Graham created a vaudeville sensation twenty-four years ago when he introduced at the old Hammerstein Theater what has been said to be the first trained rat on the stage. Since then he and his wife Alice had toured the country's vaudeville circuits with the act, Lady Alice's Pets.

LATEST SOUTHERN PACIFIC NEWS AND TRAVEL BARGAINS

When you go East this summer...

...Your Greatest Choice of Routes and Service

WHEREVER you want to go, Southern Pacific is the logical place to come for your travel needs, for this great system offers more complete service and a greater choice of routes than any other railroad.

Not one, but four great Southern Pacific routes to select from when you go East! Choose the one that suits your plans best. Then come back another Southern Pacific route. See a part of America new to you. Double the interest and variety of your trip, this way.

Only Southern Pacific offers this choice. More complete service—service to more eastern destinations than any other railroad. And you can go with every travel luxury, in trains unsurpassed for refinements of comfort, and service—or in comfortable, money-saving tourist sleepers or coaches.

For instance, you may ride from Southern California straight through to Atlanta, Cheyenne, Chicago, Dallas, Des Moines, Denver, Fort Worth, Houston, Kansas City, El Paso, Little Rock, Memphis, Minneapolis, New Orleans, Oklahoma City, Omaha, Portland, St. Louis, St. Paul, San Antonio, Seattle, Washington, D. C., and dozens of other points both on and off Southern Pacific's Four Great Routes, without changing cars.

Choose from These Four Routes

GOLDEN STATE ROUTE: The direct low-altitude line to Chicago, via Phoenix, El Paso, Kansas City.

SUNSET ROUTE: Via Phoenix, El Paso, San Antonio, Houston and New Orleans. Then choice of trains to midwest or east.

Or Southern Pacific steamship to New York, at no extra cost.

OVERLAND ROUTE: Lake Tahoe Line, via San Francisco, across Great Salt Lake by rail, Omaha, Chicago.

SHASTA ROUTE: Through California, past glorious mountain and lake scenery, to Portland. Then east through Canada or along our northern boundary. Fare slightly more this way.

In addition to its four routes east, Southern Pacific covers the Pacific Coast with an intensive network of lines—to San Francisco... Del Monte... Yosemite... Portland... Phoenix ...all the cities and resorts that make this region the world playground that it is.

Free Booklet

We have prepared a new illustrated booklet, "Four Great Routes to the East," which should be helpful to you in planning your next trip. Call, phone or write for your free copy.

Olympic Main Event Draws Fistic Spotlight

Experts Predict Knockout Ending for Bout

Primo Carnera, the biggest man in town, is ready to make his bow tomorrow night before the Los Angeles fistic public. Italy's giant heavyweight will go ten rounds or less at the Olympic against Nell Clisby, ebony boxer, from Riverside.

JACK DOYLE

Carnera finished his training for the bout with a short three-round workout yesterday afternoon at the Main-street Athletic Club. He cuffed his two sparring mates, John Lester Johnson and Larry Serrati, around at will—did one round of shadow boxing and then called it a day.

There are few among the fistic experts here who believe the bout will go more than a few rounds. Carnera has astounded most of the doubting Thomases with his boxing skill in workouts at the Main-street during the past week. Serratti and Johnson, two fair-size heavyweights, have been just like babes in the arms of the Italian behemoth.

Carnera and Clisby will weigh in tomorrow at 2:30 at Dr. Lloyd Mace's office in the State Athletic Commission suite. The Man Mountain Venetian, who stands 6 feet 7½ inches, will

Coast League Season to Open Tomorrow

Portland Will Encounter Seraph Outfit

Stars Start Against Oaks in the North

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6. (AP)—Primed for a tough pennant race, teams of the Pacific Coast League wound up their training camp and exhibition game season today preparatory to opening of the schedule next Tuesday.

For the third successive year, the eight clubs of the Class AA circuit will go through a split-season campaign. Winners of the two halves will meet in a play-off series. A split season has been more satisfactory from an attendance standpoint.

San Francisco's Seals and Los Angeles' Angels, preseason favorites, will face Seattle and Portland, respectively. Hollywood's Stars, last year's pennant winners, will meet Oakland in the opening series with the San Francisco Missions, 1929 runner-ups, at Sacramento.

The circuit appears more evenly balanced than for many seasons in the past.

Opening series:
Mission at Sacramento.
Seattle at San Francisco.
Hollywood at Oakland.
Portland at Los Angeles.

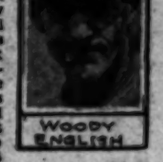
Cubs Go on Slugging Spree in Last Local Game

BY BOB RAY

Either Joe McCarthy's Chicago Cubs or Oscar Vitt's Hollywood Stars—maybe it was both of them—did an awfully dirty trick on some 11,000 fans that came out to Wrigley Field yesterday expecting to see a ball game. What they saw wasn't a ball game, it was just a track meet. The National League champions clouted the ball all over the lot and wound up with a 20-to-5 victory.



WOODY ENGLISH

It looked doubly bad for both teams because they immediately left town after the game. The Cubs departed for Kansas City, where they will bore the citizens of the Missouri metropolis. The Stars left for Oakland, where they will open the Coast League season tomorrow against the Acorns and hope for much better pitching than they received yesterday.

Frank Shellenback, one of the aces of the Stars' championship team last year, started on the mound for Hollywood and what the Cubs didn't do to his offerings wasn't worth doing. Shelly didn't have anything but a prayer and it looked as though that was directed in the wrong channel. The Cubs hammered

...gle of cars in front of him. Quinn's driving was undoubtedly the most spectacular and hair-raising of any that has been witnessed at the local oval this year.

Soon after being passed by Quinn, May's mount burst out a connecting rod and he was forced from the track. Kenealy had been nursing his crippled mount along at a good pace when it also refused to function.

By the end of the eightieth lap all but four cars had been forced from the grind.

Carefully coached by Russell Garnett, Stubblefield began to make up the few yards separating him from the leader, Quinn. On the ninety-second time around, Stubblefield sensed his chance and shot even with Quinn as they went into the north turn.

While traveling at a break-neck pace around the curve, the rear wheel on Quinn's mount severed connections and bounded through the fence. Quinn has become so accustomed to that kind of luck that it is no longer a novelty to him, but merely a matter of course. Quinn's pit crew put on a new wheel and the luckless pilot managed to finish in third place.

Expert driving by the fifteen pilots in the consolation race prevented a possible disaster. It all happened just as Starter Fred

CARDS TO GET TROPHIES BACK

Bear Officials Say Cups Will be Returned

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—With the expected return to Stanford University tomorrow morning of the trophies stolen in reprisal after Crimsonites wrested their historic ax from the guardianship of Norman Horner, University of California student, the hatchet will be "buried" by the rival factions.

That was the prevailing opinion on both campuses today when William W. Monahan, graduate manager of associated students at California, announced definite information that the "revenge loot" was returned by express Saturday. Monahan said he had the assurance of a spokesman for the group who took the half-dozen silver cups and footballs that they would be back at Stanford tomorrow. Monahan declined to reveal the name of the informant.

Following Saturday's game, in which Horner's pitching and batting were credited with bringing victory to California, he was the guest of honor at a celebration attended by hundreds of his fraternity brothers and other students, held at the Alpha Gamma Rho house. Much of the evening was passed in reading scores of telegrams from alumni who, in distant cities, had read telegraphed news of the ball game score, and who offered congratulations and reassurances. In fact, Horner's gameness in continuing to pitch the entire game despite the jeers of California sympathisers, is said to have changed his status on the campus from "goat" to hero.

SACRAMENTO SCHOOLBOY TRIMS JOHNNY McHUGH IN NORTHERN TOURNEY

PLEASANTON (Cal.) April 6. (AP) Playing almost flawless golf, Tommy Dwyer, Sacramento schoolboy, defeated John J. McHugh, defending champion, 4 and 3, today in the first round of the Northern California golf tournament at Castlewood Country Club.

JOHNNY McHUGH

The young six-footer from the Del Paso Country Club carded a flock of birdies and pars for a 36, one below par on the outgoing nine, while McHugh, sadly off his game, turned in a 39. McHugh was two down at the turn and was unable to cope with Dwyer's machine-like play. Dwyer had two birdies on the first five holes and exceeded par only once during the contest. He has been golfing only four years. He is in the junior class of the Christian Brothers' College in Sacramento.

BIGGEST UPSET

The abrupt exit of the defending champion was the biggest upset of the day which was featured by extra-hole matches.

Ralph Hoffman, Castlewood champion, after being four down with four to play, defeated Thomas Telfer of Orinda with a birdie on the twenty-third hole. James Rea, Stanford freshman, from the San Jose Country Club, defeated Dr. C. H. Walter, national senior champion, on the nineteenth after being three down with six to play.

Both James (Babe) Ritchie of Stockton and Gustav Schwartz of Beresford, who tied for medal honors, were beaten. Dr. Jack Wolf, former San Francisco city champion, carded 68, four under par, to eliminate Ritchie, 1 up, in the second round.

Schwartz met defeat at the hands of Warner Edmonds of Stanford University, four down and three to play.

Wolf was all square with Ritchie at the turn but came back in 31, four under par, with birdies to halve the seventeenth and eighteenth holes. Wolf was out in 37. Ritchie scored 33-36—69, against par of 37-35—72.

FERRERA WINNER

Charles Ferrera, San Francisco city champion, and H. A. (Polly) Willard, runner up, gained quarter-final places in the championship. Ferrera disposed of George Ritchie, former Northern California titlist, 1 up.

In the second round Herbert Schultz, Jr., of the University of California, defeated Warner Edmonds of Stanford, 4 and 3, to enter the quarter-finals.

Gerald Hardy of Monterey, also moved up by eliminating Edgar Lindner, University of California, 2 and 1.

Hugh Ditzler, Claremont, defeated C. H. Johnstone, Olympic Club, 2 and 1, while Ralph Hoffman, Castlewood, won from Richard Stevenson, Stanford, 3 and 4.

H. A. Willard, San Francisco, defeated Benny Ruckner, University of California, 1 up.

Tom Dwyer had a stiffer time of it in the second round in defeating James Rea, Stanford, 1 up.

PURPLE RIDERS WIN POLO TILT

Boeseke's Team Trips Four Led by Eric Pedley

With Neil McCarthy and little Gordon Cronkhite playing the star roles, Long-Legged Elmer Boeseke's Purple four rode to an 11-to-6 victory over the White horsemen, captained by Eric Pedley. McCarthy and Cronkhite played a fine game of polo yesterday riding rings around the White four. Boeseke as usual was a tower on both defense and offense with the result that the Purples had the game stowed away before the fifth chukker had been reached.

ELMER BOESEKE

McCarthy was high-point man with four goals. Cronkhite tallied three times, Steen Fletcher twice and Boeseke twice for the winners. Pedley scored three times. Paddock twice, and Jim Spalding once for the losing team. The game was played at Midwick.

Capt. Wesley White refereed.

Line-ups:

Purples		Whites
Fletcher (2)	No. 1	Spalding (1)
McCarthy (4)	No. 2	Paddock (2)
Boeseke (2)	No. 3	Pedley (3)

Uplifters Bow to Tiger Four

Dr. Harry Wilson, popular Southland sportsman, led his Tiger polo-ists to an 11-to-7 victory over the Uplifters' four yesterday at the Rustic Canyon Field. Wilson scored five goals for his team and gave a fine performance on the defense.

T. Lyell Puckett was the star of the Uplifters' four. He tallied four goals with his mallet during the afternoon. Young will Rogers turned in a nice game at No. 1 for the Tigers, as did Snowy Baker, the No. 2 man.

The line-ups:

Uplifters		Tigers
Puckett (4)	No. 1	Rogers, Jr. (2)
Hackley	No. 2	Baker (1)
Simpson (2)	No. 3	Wilson (3)
Beal (1)	Back	Smith (1)

MAGYARS WIN OVER SCOTS

Hungarians Score 3-to-2 Victory Over Highlanders in Soccer Tilt, Winning Place in Cup Play

The Magyar soccer football team finally proved its superiority over the Scottish Highlanders in yesterday's feature game at Loyola Field, thereby winning a place in the semifinals of the Los Angeles cup series.

Yesterday's game, the third straight contest between those bitter City League rivals, found the Hungarians on the long end of a 3-to-2 score. A week ago the two foes fought to a 3-to-3 deadlock and the week before played to the same score, also in an overtime contest.

The Highlanders lacked the dash and fire they displaye in the two previous games while the Magyars played steady football to win their one-point decision. The Scots were the first to score yesterday, Summers breaking through one minute after the start of the game. Johnny Hodgert of the Hungarians equalized in the first period and the interval score was tied and the interval score was 1 to 1.

Shortly after the start of the second half, the Magyars took the lead when Espinoza scored and Montserrat followed with another to give the leaders a 3-to-1 edge. The second and final Scot tally was counted by Johnny Holmes on a converted penalty.

McDonald, who played a great game at halfback last week, was shifted to fullback yesterday in the absence of Bert Tunacliffe and again starred until he was removed from the field with two broken ribs.

In yesterday's opening game the Sons of St. George wound up their season by trimming Richfield, 3 to 2. Miller scored twice and Forsyth added the third tally.

Next Sunday the Magyars meet the L.A.A.C. Mercurias in a semi-final cup game, the winner to play the Hollywood Sheiks for the trophy. Hollywood goes to San Francisco next week for a semifinal game for the coveted California trophy.

JACKIE FIELDS TACKLES FREEMAN AT CLEVELAND

NEW YORK, April 6. (AP)—Rather slim pickings are in store for the fight fans of the United States this week with a nontitle bout for Jackie Fields of Los Angeles, holder of the world's welterweight championship, and another appearance of the huge Primo Carnera as the highlights of the program.

JACKIE FIELDS

Fields tackles Tommy Freeman, Erie (Pa.) slugger, in a twelve-round bout at Cleveland Tuesday night. His title will not be at stake. Carnera, at Los Angeles, the same evening takes on Nell Clisby, Riverside (Cal.) negro, who weighs a mere 200 pounds. Clisby's record is just about as impressive as those of Carnera's previous opponents on his barnstorming tour. The bout is scheduled for ten rounds.

Other bouts on the national program are of no particular importance. New York fans must confine their attention to the smaller arenas while the circus occupies Madison Square Garden. A three-day program of the national amateur championships supplants professional boxing in Boston.

SOUVENIR HUNTER CAPTURES CARNERA'S SHOES, GLOVES

A souvenir hunter almost found a way to stop this fellow Primo Carnera, Italian man mountain. It came about in this way yesterday at the Main-street Athletic Club, where Carnera has been training for his clash with Nell Clisby, Tuesday, at the Olympic. When Carnera showed up for his final workout, he discovered that his twenty-two-inch shoes and his huge boxing gloves that resemble pillows more than they do leather mitts, had been lifted from the dressing-room during the night. Primo in a fit of temper all but broke up the place when he realized what had happened. It was necessary to send post haste to the Alexandria Hotel where he has been stopping, for a pair of his road shoes and another set of gloves. His workout was held up for about a half-hour on this account. Carlo Curtis, Main-street promoter, refunded the Carnera management $60 for the loss of the gloves and shoes.

Carnera will talk over KHJ from The Times tower today during the 12:30 news broadcast.

DOEG DEFEATS VAN RYN IN NEW ORLEANS FINALS

NEW ORLEANS, April 6. (AP)—John H. Doeg of Santa Monica, No. 3 national ranking tennis player, today won the singles championship over John Van Ryn, Orange, N. J., No. 5 in rank, in the invitation tournament of the New Orleans Country Club in a contest that was forced to five sets.

Doeg started off as if he would make quick work of his rival by taking the first two sets, 6-4, 6-2. Then Van Ryn found his range and drove the Californian into defeat in the next two, 6-4, 6-1. Here both players settled down to a careful game. Doeg finally took the set, 6-4, and the championship mainly because of his ability at the net.

In the morning semifinals Doeg eliminated Sidney B. Wood, Jr., For-

FAMINE AT S.C. LIKELY TO END

True Strength of Cardinals Still Unknown

Templeton Likely to Uncork Some Surprises

Welsh's Return to Form to Aid Trojans

BY BRAVEN DYER

Scenting a Trojan victory for the first time in four years, track athletes of the University of Southern are slated to put in three busy days this week in preparation for Saturday's all-important meet with Stanford. The event is billed for Patterson Field, Eagle Rock.

JESS MORTENSON

Troy has won but one meet from Stanford since the war, a period of eleven years. Now it appears that the famine is at an end; although there is still a chance that Dink Templeton may slip one over on the hungry Trojans. Dink wastes no points and it's a cinch that he will bob up with a few surprises Saturday. Whether he can uncork enough to overcome S.C.'s advantage in better performers remains to be seen.

WON IN 1928

Stanford last lost to S.C. in 1928, the score being 67 1-2 to 63 1-2. A lot of Trojan followers failed to get much of a kick out of that victory, however, for Stanford protested one of S.C.'s runners and Troy, ignoring this, went on to win anyway. Not for me to decide who was right, but anyway it cast something of a stigma on the victory.

Since then and period to that Templeton socked it to the Trojans hot and heavy. Dink has been sawing wood up north of late and the true strength of his team has not been revealed. Templeton does not believe in playing his hand for the public's benefit and Stanford's power will go undisplayed until Saturday.

The meet has assumed considerable importance following the row between Templeton and S.C. officials over site of the affair. Dink was right in squawking because he had not been consulted, but he won't find many coaches to agree with his contention that Patterson Field isn't a fit place to hold a meet.

And that item about "protecting the safety of the public" is to laugh. You would think Patterson Field was no bigger than a pup tent. Spectators do get hit by implements now and then to be sure. I recall Jack Merchant throwing the hammer into the stands at Berkeley several years ago. Only Saturday afternoon in Seattle a spectator was hit by a flying discus. I can't recall anybody having been clipped at Patterson Field and unless some of the boys get a lot wilder than they have ever been before there will be no casualties.

CAN'T GUARANTEE

Of course, S.C. probably can't guarantee absolute safety for every spectator who attends the meet. For instance, if Joe Glump gets hot-headed about something and starts an argument with Phil Aspinwall there might be blows, in which case it is hard to see how the Trojan management could be held responsible despite that piece about the "public's safety."

Jeddy Welsh's return to the form in the highs as attested by his 14 4-5s. race Saturday is good news to the Trojans. He will give Podge Smith a great race.

There's really only one thing bothering the Trojans right now and that's the condition of Capt. Jess Mortensen. "Mort" hasn't had an official javelin throw this year and what he can do remains to be seen. Unless his injured shoulder has mended it is unlikely that Jess will place at all, in which case Stanford will probably take first and third.

If anybody read the writer's yarn yesterday morning about the San Diego-Oxy meet they probably wondered what it was all about. The telegraph company succeeded wonderfully in garbling the copy so that not even Houdini could have told what it meant. Smith won the low hurdles all right, but lost the highs when he hit the next to last timber. San Diego had a chance to win the meet by copping the relay if Fox and Wilson ran one-two in the lows, but Smith had his dander up by this time and just did nose out Fox at the tape (to take the abbreviated barrier event. In the highs Smith and Fox were running neck and neck when the San Diego ace began to pull away. It was then that Smith strained himself too much and rammed into the hurdle.

BEAVERS' LUCKY STREAK FINISHED

SAN JOSE, April 6. (AP)—Seattle broke the Portland Beaver winning streak by winning the third game of their exhibition series here today, 5 to 3, to end the spring training season in San Jose.

Andy House, former St. Mary's star allowed two hits and no runs in the five innings he pitched for Seattle. Home runs were made by Borreani, Seattle catcher, and Orwoll, Beaver first baseman. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Seattle	5	7	0
Portland	3	6	3

House, Hanson, Lewandowski and Borreani; Fullerton, Cassavella and Rapp.

TROBABE NINE PLAYS FOUR TILTS THIS WEEK

Completing their 1930 season, the freshman baseball players of the University of Southern California will have four games this week. The Trobabes will meet Poly High today at Poly, Oneonta Military Academy tomorrow at Oneonta, U.C.L.A. frosh Wednesday at Westwood and the Bruin frosh again Friday at Bovard Field.

Card-Trojan Track Ducats on Sale Today

Tickets for the University of Southern California-Stanford track meet at the Occidental College field Saturday will go on sale today at the B. H. Dyas Company, Seventh and Olive streets, and at the Trojan students' store on the S. C. campus. According to Assistant General Manager Arnold Eddy of the Trojans, there will be 2000 reserved seats, located in the east bleachers of the field adjacent to the 100-yard dash straightaway, and 5000 unreserved seats placed on sale. All tickets will be $1. Because the Trojans and Cards have teams that are already being considered the most dangerous contenders for the national intercollegiate championships, the meet holds unusual interest for track fans, and the biggest advance sale in the history of dual meet competition in the Southland is anticipated.

DOEG WINNER OVER VAN RYN

est Hills, N. Y., Wood took the first set, 6-4, but Doeg snatched the second, 6-2. The third set went to Doeg, 9-7.

Van Ryn fared easier in eliminating Frank X. Shields of New York, 6-2, 6-3.

Doeg also shared the doubles championship yesterday in the invitation tournament with his nationals partner, George M. Lott, Jr., of Chicago, by defeating Van Ryn and Donald Cram of Nashville.

STUBBLEFIELD RACE VICTOR

Wagner raised his arm to give the boys the checkered flag. Charley Gelston, riding in the second lane behind Bobby Scovel, gave his mount too much gas which caused his car to climb right up on the hind end of Scovell's job. In the confusion which resulted, Swede Smith's No. 24 was badly damaged and the remaining entrants gave a beautiful exhibition of driving as they skidded and swerved down the track. Gelston and Smith were forced to withdraw because of damaged cars, this being the extent of injuries suffered by the participants.

ATHLETICS CLEAN UP NEWARK BALL CLUB

NEWARK (N. J.) April 6. (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Newark Bears of the International League, 5 to 3, here today, in a contest that was called in the sixth inning on account of rain.

Dibrel Williams, rookie infielder from the Southern Association, clouted a home run off Al Mamaux with two men on the bags in the fourth inning to give the Athletics their winning margin.

Glenn Liebhardt, another youngster, pitched for the A's and kept nine Newark hits fairly well scattered. Andy Cohen, former Giant infielder, led the Bears at bat with a double and a triple.

Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia (A.)	5	9	0
Newark (Int.)	3	9	0

Liebhardt and Schang; Mamaux, Fischer and Munn.

HOUSTON CLUB WINS OVER PIRATES, 5-0

HOUSTON, April 6. (AP)—The right-hand slants of Allyn Stout today subdued the Pittsburgh Pirates, who were whitewashed, 5 to 0, by Houston of the Texas League in the final game of a four-game exhibition series in which the two split even. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Pittsburgh (N.)	0	7	1
Houston (Texas)	5	6	1

Meine, Spencer and Steel; Stout and Morrow.

RED SOX NAB GAME

INDIANAPOLIS, April 6. (AP)—By garnering seventeen hits the Boston Red Sox defeated Indianapolis, 8 to 6, here today.

The feature of the day's batting was two home runs by Todt and another by Scarriott.

Put Weight on Heels on This Golfing Shot

BY SOL METZGER

Phil Perkins developed his own golf, thought out the methods for overcoming its many difficulties. Relative to the shot played from a lie below him he has reached the same conclusions as did old Sandy Herd, former British open champion, who still rolls 'em around in the low 70's.

Both get their weight back on their heels when encountering such a lie. The idea is to brace against the tendency to fall into the ball as they swing through.

Their other common point on this difficult shot is to slightly bend the knees at address. That gives them enough relaxation to offset the tendency to rigidly brace themselves, a tendency that automatically occurs when you bend over a ball.

Learn to putt well. Sol Metzger has prepared a new illustrated leaflet on "Putting" which he will send free to any reader requesting it. Address Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Rockne Boards Train for Test

MIAMI (Fla.) April 6. (AP)—Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach, left here by train tonight for Rochester, Minn., where he will undergo a thorough physical examination before returning to his home at South Bend, Ind.

Rockne has been undergoing treatment here for a leg ailment. He was accompanied tonight by Dr. C. J. Barborka of Rochester, who came here to make the trip north with him.

The coach was taken to the train in an ambulance from St. Francis Hospital, where he has taken treatment recently for what his physicians said was a slight bronchial disorder.

"It's not as bad as it seems," Rockne said, as he left Miami. "I'm feeling fine."

Dr. Barborka said Rockne is in good physical condition and that he will be able to be on the football field this year. The ailment prevented him from doing this last year.

Gilmore Lions Capture Title

Scoring a fluke goal in the final minute of play, the Gilmore Lions defeated the Union Oil pucks, 1 to 0, last night at the Winter Garden Ice Palace to win the Southern California amateur hockey championship.

The Union Oil goalie successfully parried a shot to the net, but the ball bounced off the chest of a Gilmore player into the net for a goal.

As a result of their victory, the Lions will face a Vancouver team on Wednesday in the first game of a championship series.

SANTA BARBARA POLO TEAM ANNEXES TITLE

SAN MATEO, April 6. (AP)—Green-shirted polo ists from Santa Barbara defeated the San Mateo Terrors, 9 to 5, here today in the finals of the Pacific Coast novice championship. Jim Colt, Santa Barbara captain, was high scorer of the game with seven goals. Every member of the San Mateo team played up to his handicap.

SUTTER RACKETERS WIN

SACRAMENTO, April 6. (AP)—Losing only one singles and one doubles match, the Sutter Lawn Tennis Club team of Sacramento defeated the Monwood club of Oakland in the opening round of the Northern California Association tournament today. The score was 7 to 2, Sacramento winning five singles matches and two doubles.

MISSIONS BUMP VALLEJO

VALLEJO, April 6. (AP)—The San Francisco Mission baseball team defeated the Vallejo Grays, 12 to 2, here today and left tonight for Sacramento, where the Missions open the Coast League Tuesday.

STATE TOURNEY ON TODAY

Mrs. Pressler Defends California Championship at Wilshire; Strong Field Enters

an entry of more than 100 women with eighty-eight entries having been received up until Saturday evening. Post entries will be taken at the first tee until 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Pressler, who started the year in an auspicious manner by winning the Los Angeles Country Club invitation tournament, is favored on all sides to win the State championship for the second consecutive year. Mrs. Pressler's victory in the State championship at Beresford a year ago started her off on a smashing string of victories. Despite losing the western women's championship, which she held in 1927 and 1928, the San Gabriel star was runner-up to Miss Glenna Collett in the national women's championship, won the Southern California women's title for the second consecutive year, the Del Monte women's crown, and the midwinter invitation event.

If she repeats her performance of last year, Mrs. Pressler will top the sixteen qualifiers for the championship flight. She has done much to discourage the idea that the medalist is apt to take an early trimming in the match play. It would not be surprising to see Mrs. Pressler medal in the 70's.

MRS. LIFUR FAVORED

Mrs. Gregg Lifur of the Riviera Country Club, victor over Miss Marion Hollins in the recent Pebble Beach women's tournament, is against expected to give Mrs. Pressler her chief competition. It is hoped that the draw will not bring them together in the early rounds. Another thirty-six-hole final matches between Mrs. Pressler and Mrs. Lifur would be worth going a long ways to see.

Mrs. Lifur has been working diligently on her game, and intimated the other day at Riviera that she was much improved. Lew Scott has been working with her, and he is one of the best instructors in the Southland.

Prospects are bright that it will require an even 90 or better to qualify for the championship flight. Among the leading entrants who should all shoot in the low 80's are Mrs. Roy Green of California, Los Angeles city champion; Miss Beatrice Gottlieb of Los Angeles, Mrs. R. S. Edwards of California, Miss Helen Lawson of Wilshire, Miss Helen Luscombe of San Diego and Mrs. C. J. Woerner of Los Angeles in addition to those named earlier in the story.

Mrs. Jones is a welcome prodigal daughter. She has been out of active competition for more than a year, but has been practicing regularly and is still scoring in the 80's.

She defeated Mrs. Pressler in the finals of the 1927 State championship.

Mrs. Pressler will hit the first ball this morning at 9:30, and will play her round with Mrs. Jones.

Following are the complete pairings:

9:30—Mrs. Leona Pressler, Mrs. Rose Jones.
9:35—Mrs. R. S. Edwards, Mrs. Gregg Lifur.
9:40—Mrs. C. J. Woerner, Mrs. Mark Steele.

FLINTRIDGE OPENS NEW FIRST HOLE

Members of the Flintridge Country Club celebrated the opening of a new first hole on Saturday. A best-ball tournament was held. E. B. "Bud" Yoakum and W. H. Mathewson, 77-12—65; Glen Evans and George Meyers, 83-18—65, and M. T. Mears and C. M. Birney, 84-19—65, tied for first prize.

A. W. Maine and C. E. Foote were the only ones to score birdie 3's on the new hole.

DUTRA BROTHERS BURN VIRGINIA COURSE

The Dutra brothers, Olin and Mortie, set a new course record at the Virginia Country Club yesterday in an exhibition match with Dallas Jeffers and Larry Gleason when they finished with a best ball of 60, eleven under par. Both had individual balls of 68.

Mortie recently moved from the Northwest to become professional of the Virginia club, while Olin is pro at the Brentwood Country Club.

MORRISON, HUNTER ANNEX MATCH

By shooting a best ball of 30 on the last nine, Fred Morrison of the Midwick Country Club and Willie I. Hunter of Montebello Park defeated Dr. W. W. Savage and Lew Owens of San Bernardino yesterday, 1 up. The match was an exhibition played over the Gate City links.

PORTER AND WELCH TO BOX WEDNESDAY

Leonard oPrier, kayo victor over Vearl Whitehead and the boy who whipped Leonard Bennett and drew with Baby Sal Sorio, is slated to battle Freddie Welsh in an eight-round main event at the Ocean Park sleep palace next Wednesday night, according to an announcement by Promoter Claude Bridge.

The Welsh-Porter duel is slated to go eight rounds and the boys will tip the beams at 138 pounds.

Dave Leivas meets Bob Burray in a rematch bout. The pair are to fight the six-round semi-wind-up. Jimmy De Luccia will mix with Benny Stien in a four-round special event. Two four-round preliminaries are also scheduled. Rus Brock meets Tiger Jordan at 135 pounds and Joe Nelson meets Mike Cordova at 130 pounds.

BRAVES AT WORST

CHATTANOOGA (Tenn.) April 6. (AP)—The Boston Braves got a lot of bad baseball out of their systems today in offering the worst exhibition of their spring tour when they lost to the Washington Senators, 10 to 3, in the first of a five-game series. It was the fifth straight defeat for the Tribe.

SANTA BARBARA READY FOR YACHTING SEASON

Santa Barbara's fleet of pleasure craft, headed by one of the finest boats on the Pacific Coast, Maj. Max C. Fleischmann's yacht Haida, now numbers seventy-five and the yachting season for cruises to the islands and up and down the channel will be in full swing by the middle of the month, according to Commodore W. P. Butcher of the Santa Barbara Yacht Club.

Many new boats have made their appearance in Santa Barbara since the completion of the breakwater. Among the outstanding new boats is Dwight Faulding's Aafji, which will carry the local yacht club's burgee in the approaching race to Tahiti. No interclub yacht races are scheduled for the harbor for this summer, but the power boats and star boats will hold weekly races during the warmer months.

There are a half-dozen star boats in the local fleet. Harold Doulton who represented Santa Barbara in last year's international star-boat race has purchased a new boat, Skipper H. W. A. Dickinson, Al Hayward, Winsor Soule and Alex McKellar have star boats which will race this season.

Other new boats added to the yacht fleet are: Talbot Walker's new ketch, Marinero; Francis B. Lloyd's schooner, the Wanderlure; T. Myers's schooner, Blue Moon. Other boats flying the local club's burgee include:

C. B. Mitchel's power cruiser, Sea Bee; Chris Holmes's cruiser Gypsy; C. W. Dabney's yawl Bayadere; Sylsby Spalding's sloop Westward; Roy Jones's yawl Nymph; W. R. McKeen's power cruiser Reta Laufa; W. C. Logan's cruiser Sea Scout; Harold Doulton's cruiser Miramar; E. C. Converse's cruiser Enos; Walter Collinge's Peter Pan; J. R. Johnson's Dodger; Aero-Marine owned by Prescott, Metcalf and Gordon Sackett; Zalos Scott's Winnie S III; Andrew McDonough's Da Vinci; Howard Fallon's Helen; A. E. Sanborn's Traveler; E. S. Pillsbury's Lucky Lady; E. A. Armstrong's La Eva; Yacht and Motor Sales' Vignette, operated by the Sea Scouts; G. T. Sowell's Scout and the Al-Jerry, owned by Al Hayward and Gerald Adrian.

LEWIS TO TACKLE MARSHALL

Daro Signs Both Mat Stars to Appear in Olympic Top Spot Next Week

EVERETT MARSHALL

Everett Marshall, the sensational young Glendale mat whirlwind who has become nationally recognized as one of the leading heavyweight title contenders, will meet Ed (Strangler) Lewis, former world's mat king, in a best two out of three fall finish mat battle at the Olympic on the 16th inst.

The match was closed by "Carnation" Lou Daro, local promoter, yesterday, following another meeting with Billy Sandow manager of the 235-pound head-crushing giant. It was reported that the bout was agreed to by Sandow when Daro agreed to a compromise offer to the former champion. Under the terms of the agreement, it was stated, Lewis will receive 45 per cent of the gate receipts to meet Marshall.

Sandow agreed to take this cut of the receipts only after the promoter consented to scale the Olympic Auditorium to a $5 top. By doing this, Sandow will receive nearly the $20,000 guarantee asked for to meet Marshall. The last time the Olympic was scaled at such a price for a wrestling bout it drew slightly more than $40,000. That bout was between Joe Stecher and Champion Gus Sonnenberg.

In signing Lewis, Daro opened the way for a possible match between Marshall and Sonnenberg, should Marshall win. The champion has consistently refused to consider the airplane-spin exponent as a title contender until after he has defeated either Lewis or Joe Stecher. He wired Promoter Daro that he would ignore any offers to meet Marshall until that time.

Marshall has defeated several big mat stars here since the first of the year. He started out by putting Joe Malcewicz away in less than a half-hour's time. He followed it up with victories over Stanley Stasiak, Dr. Karl Sarpolis and two over Nick Lutze. All victories were decisive. Mat experts rate him as the greatest young championship prospect seen in the local ring.

Favorites Win Way to Finals

All divisions in the Harvard Tennis Club tournament were carried to the final round yesterday when the quarter and semifinal matches were played in all divisions. Every favorite came through undefeated, and the various champions of the club will be decided next Sunday when the final round will be held in all events.

Gertrude Hauswald and Gladys Pats are the finalists in the women's singles, following their victories over Jo Sokolow and Thelma Blevins, respectively. Bill Wanamaker and Bob Brashear came through to the finals in the men's division, winning their semifinal matches easily.

Women's singles — Gertrude Hauswald defeated Jo Sokolow, 6-1, 6-0; Gladys Pats defeated Thelma Blevins, 6-2, 7-5.

Men's singles — Wanamaker defeated J. Pierle, 6-1, 6-2; Bob Brashear defeated Wyman Condon, 6-2, 6-4.

Men's doubles — Bill Wanamaker and Bob Brashear defeated Tom Chetham and Jay Schwartz, 6-2, 6-1; Herbert Swan and Wyman Condon defeated Bob Edwards and Fred White, 6-3, 6-2.

Women's doubles — Gertrude Hauswald and Gladys Pats defeated Mary Kay and Frances Hipman, 6-1, 6-1; Adele Dennison and Thelma Blevins defeated Helen White and Mabel Priester, 6-4, 6-2; Gertrude Hauswald and Gladys Pats defeated Ted Meffert and Mabel Priester, 6-3, 6-3.

Mixed doubles — Mr. and Mrs. Brashear defeated Al Bokstor and Ray Stoke, 6-3, 6-3; Adele Dennison and Al Callahan defeated Stephen Bowring and William Bond, 6-4, 6-4; Gladys Pats and Bill Wanamaker defeated Bob Bagley and Mabel Priester, 6-2, 6-1; Gertrude Hauswald and Herbert Swan defeated Adele Dennison and Al Callahan, 6-3, 6-4; Gladys Pats and Bill Wanamaker defeated Mr. and Mrs. Brashear, 6-2, 6-2.

BEAR CREWS TAKE WORKOUT

SEATTLE, April 6. (AP)—Taking advantage of the ideal weather conditions, Coach Ky Ebright, put his University of California varsity and junior varsity crews through a brisk workout over the three-mile Lake Washington course shortly after his arrival here early today from Berkeley. The Bear varsity, junior varsity and freshmen crews will meet Washington oarsmen over the same course next Friday. Ebright said his crews "went over the course after a fashion" but that no time was kept of the trial spin.

CUBS MASSACRE SHEIKS

National League Champs Trim Stars, 20-5, and Then Depart; English Clouts Two Home Runs

the Sheik spitball slabster for ten hits and eleven runs in less than two innings, which should indicate that Shellenback evidently wasn't bearing down.

JOHNS CLOUTED, TOO

Augustus Johns, the square-shouldered southpaw, took up the hurling burden where Shellenback dropped it like a hot potato, but the Cubs kept on clouting just the same. Jim Turner took the mound in the eighth and blanked the visitors in the last two rounds.

In all twenty-five hits rattled off the Chicago war clubs and six of those safeties were home runs. Woody English showed up his slugging mates by clouting two out of the lot while Hack Wilson, Kiki Cuyler, Slug Tolson and Hal Carlson got but one homer apiece. Carlson, by the way, did rather well for a pitcher, clouting out a double and a single aside from his home run.

Carlson blanked the Stars in the four innings he pitched and then gave way to Guy Bush, the Mississippi side-wheeler. Bush had a lot of fun and put plenty of gestures in his mound acting but the Stars got to him for five runs to save themselves the embarrassment of being shut out. Mickey Heath's home run with two on in the seventh accounted for three of the runs off the lanky Cub speedball hurler.

Bill Rumler again had a big day at the plate, ramming out four safeties in five trips to the plate to almost equal his performance of Saturday. Rumler got nine hits in ten times at bat against the Cubs and announced that he's going to give somebody a battle for the Coast League batting championship this season.

CUBS SCORE 'EM EARLY

Inasmuch as the Cubs took all the starch out of the game by scoring five runs in the first inning, six more in the second, two in the third and three in the fourth, the less said about the details the better for all concerned.

Before departing for Oakland last night, Skipper Vitt announced that Hank Halvey would pitch the opener for Hollywood tomorrow. The Sheik pilot said that he would stand pat on the line-up he used in the exhibitions against the Cubs.

The Portland Beavers arrive in Los Angeles this morning for the local opener against the Angels. Both teams will work out today at Wrigley Field. Carl Mays and Clyde Barfoot are expected to be the rival starting twirlers in the Beaver-Seraph struggle.

SHEIKS FACE RICHFIELDS

Oakland Puck Chasers Meet Los Angeles Team in Title Play-off Tilt Tonight

Intense intercity rivalry prevailing between the Oakland Sheiks and Los Angeles Richfields is expected to make a near free-for-all of the third game in their California Hockey League championship play-off at the Winter Garden Ice Palace tonight.

This enmity of the Bay area and Los Angeles has been further intensified by the fact that these same Oilers, in reaching the finals of the championship flight, had to trample that other Bay City entry, San Francisco. The loud and raucous squawk made by San Francisco over that defeat and the determination of the Sheiks to avenge it promises great flashes of brilliant hockey tonight and in the fourth game at the Garden Thursday night.

Oakland had the advantage of playing the first two games of the five-game title play-off on its home ice, but now that advantage all rests with a rough, aggressive Richfield team, rated the toughest squad in the league on its home court.

The Sheiks gained the jump on the well pullers by winning the first game in the north, 3 to 2, but it may be a much different story tonight if the Oilers have another such game in their system as they played last week in trouncing San Francisco at the Garden, 6 to 0. Hockey critics who saw that flash of form rate the Oilers on a par with any team in the league, not excepting the Oaks. And everyone knows that during the season's schedule these Oaks swept everything before them.

Garden officials have provided a real incentive for an Oiler win by booking the local team for intersectional clashes with the Chicago Black Hawks and world champion Boston Bruins later in the month. The Oilers realize that as California League champions they can command much more respect in the intersectional series than they can merely as runners-up.

Furthermore, the Oilers want to trim the Sheiks so fairly and squarely that there can be no squawk such as San Francisco made over that 6-to-0 defeat.

Stauber Ties in U.P. Shoot

Several nationally known trapshooters turned out yesterday for the first National Amateur Trapshooting Association meet to be held at the Union Pacific Knickerbocker field. These registered shoots are held the first Sunday of every month at the railroad on a nonprofit basis. Because of this and the fact that it was a registered shoot several score of shooters turned out in spite of the heavy wind that came up shortly before noon.

A. J. Stauber, world's champion long-run shooter was one of the highlights at the shoot. Stauber holds a record of 694 consecutive "breaks" without a miss. He also held the national high average in 1926, 1927 and 1928. His high average of 99.12 out of 100 targets has never been equalled.

Railroad officials also announced that following the success of the shoot yesterday they will hold regular shoots every Saturday afternoon and Sunday with the registered shoot of the A.-T.-A. coming the first Sunday of every month.

Stauber, F. B. Hatfield and J. Ingle tied for honors in the fifty-target handicap of the registered meet with a score of 47.

The following are the scores as they were chalked up:

100-target registered shoot at sixteen yards—C. Hamels, 88; H. E. Marshall, 87; Earle, 90; Mrs. Gibbs, 90; Mrs. Gibbs, 90; Mrs. Gowland, 86; Knight, 94; H. W. Gowland, 86; Ford, 93; H. W. TENNIS FINALS AT PARK

Results of the final Griffith Park tennis matches played yesterday are as follows: Page defeated Baldwin, 8-6, 4-6, 7-5, in the men's singles. Park defeated Manning, 6-2, 8-10, 6-4, in the women's singles. Page and Steiner won the men's doubles from Weldon and Dworkin, 7-5, 3-6, 8-6.

Huntingtons Nab Trackfest

TUSTIN, April 6.—Huntington Beach Union High School track squad won the Orange county track meet at Tustin yesterday with 41 points, Anaheim found second place with 32 and Tustin close on the heels of Anaheim scored 31½. Excelsior with 27½ points won the B and Huntington scored 24 in second. Class C made a good showing. Huntington Beach, 30½, and Excelsior, 17 1-3.

Koenig, Huntington Beach midget sprinter, high-point man, was a credit again to his school in the 100-yard dash at 10 3-5; he was timed 26 3-5s. in the 220-yard dash and broke the record in the broad jump at 21ft.

Features of the day. Crafts of Tustin broke the half-mile record, 2m. 3s. Greenwald, Huntington Beach, trotted off to victory in the quarter-mile and broke the record in 51 4-5s.

Hapes, Garden Grove, made a new discus record for his school at 126ft.

The Tustin cinderpath is slow but it didn't hold Huntington Beach back for they won the relay, making another new record.

In Class B Pargee of Orange established a new pole vault record, 11ft. 6 3-8in. Tinsley, in the 660-yard dash at 1m. 30 2-5s. Furuta, Japanese, Huntington Beach, was the star in Class C, winning the pole vault at 10ft. 6in.; the high jump at 5ft. 6in., both new records. Sheue says to watch this lad's smoke hereafter.

Sheue, coach at the Huntington Beach school for several years, turned out Ross Nichols, who later was entered in the Olympics in 1928. He also is responsible for Virgil Elliott's records in the Huntington Beach school and at Bethany College. Virgil is attending Yale studying for the ministry and incidentally is a coach in one of the high schools near by. Valencia Orange Show at Anaheim expects to have fifteen or twenty schools from Southern California accept invitations to their second annual invitational track meet, the 12th inst. All high schools with an enrollment under 1000 may accept.

LOUISVILLE COLONELS DEFEAT DETROIT NINE

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) April 6. (AP) The Louisville Colonels of the American Association drove George Uhle from the box and whipped Detroit here today, 8 to 7.

Oxy Nine to Travel North

Coach Bill Anderson's Occidental nine has scheduled a three-game series with Fresno State for this week and will leave Wednesday noon for Fresno, playing there the three following days. According to Dick Tavenner, Oxy diamond manager, fourteen players will make the northern trip, returning Sunday.

SAN FERNANDO NINE WINS

The San Fernando Merchants won a ragged baseball game from the Owensmouth nine yesterday, chalking up a 11-to-2 victory. The game was played on the winner's diamond and was featured by the strong batting attack presented by the Merchants.

HUSKY HEAVERS

Matt McGrath and Pat McDonald, New York police officials, are still competing at the age of 50 or more and between them they have won something like thirty Olympic and national weight-throwing championships.

Rajah's Sore Heel Will be Tested Today

CHICAGO, April 6. (AP)—Rogers Hornsby, chief of the Chicago Cubs' band of cripples, will arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning for an examination of his ailing right heel.

The Rajah left Los Angeles Friday night on rather short notice, but not without taking time to say that nothing like a sore heel could keep him out of the National League champion's line-up for even a part of the season.

Manager Joe McCarthy and President William L. Veeck, however, were not inclined to take chances, and a thorough examination was scheduled for tomorrow immediately after Hornsby arrives. The heel was operated on early in the winter for the removal of a bony growth. Hornsby took it easy during the early part of the training season on Catalina Island, and the heel appeared to be well.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan's warriors came to the entrance of Opar's treasure chamber just as the earthquake subsided. For two days they labored to tear a way through the debris-jammed passage. When they found the task impossible they were forced to conclude Tarzan lay dead beneath the rock mass. Tearfully they left what they thought was his tomb, taking with them the heavy burden of gold which the ape-man had already brought forth.

This would at least furnish comfort, if not happiness, to their bereaved and beloved mistress. They made their mournful way back across the desolate valley and downward through the forests to the distant bungalow of Tarzan. As they marched a sorry fate was already drawing down upon that peaceful happy home. From the north came Achmet Zek riding to the summons of Werper's letter. With him came his horde of renegade Arabs.

Mugambi, the black Hercules, who had been Tarzan's faithful friend, was the first to note the bold approach of the sinister caravan. He had been left in charge of the warriors who remained to guard Lady Greystoke. Quickly he assembled his men as the raiders halted a hundred yards out upon the plain. From the now barred windows of the bungalow Lady Greystoke surveyed her bodyguard with unmixed pride and affection, having no fear.

"Arabs," Mugambi had explained to her, "they come for no good purpose in the absence of the Great Bwana." Jane saw the white-robed force of mounted Arabs and between them and the bungalow the glistening bodies of her Waziri. The sun glanced on their metal-shod spears and picked out the gorgeous colors in the feathers of their war bonnets above the glossy skins of their broad shoulders. "What harm," she thought, "can befall me with such as these to protect me."

ELLIOTT WELL SHOWING DROP

Kettleman Hills Discovery Project Slumping

Sharp Decline in Pressure of Gas Reported

Decrease Laid to Trio of New Completions

That the completion of three wells near the Milham Exploration Company's Elliott No. 1 discovery well on the north dome of the Kettleman Hills Oil field is having the desired effect of pulling down the gas pressure there is indicated by the fact that the daily flow from Elliott No. 1 has not exceeded 2600 barrels for several weeks.

Milham's discovery well was brought in during October, 1928, and has been on steady production since, although its flow has varied somewhat, depending upon gas pressure. The project was yielding approximately 3400 barrels daily before the recent decline. With the recent completion of the Standard Oil Company's No. 81 as a direct offset, the agreement reached nearly a year ago to bring in a group of wells to deplete the discovery well's gas pressure so the field's output could be controlled has been carried out.

The gas pressure in Elliott No. 1 once reached a peak of 30,000,000 cubic feet daily, but during the past five months it has been nearer 20,000,000, a portion of which is being fed to natural gas pipe lines of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

The Continental Oil Company's Elliott No. 12-8 now is the best producer at Kettleman Hills. It is flowing about 4000 barrels daily, but Standard's No. 8 near by has nearly the same production. The Petroleum Securities Company's Felix No. 1 about a mile from the most active portion of the north dome is yielding less than 1300 barrels daily.

Operations in Kern Fields at Reduced Pace

BAKERSFIELD, April 6. (Exclusive)—Oil-field developments in Kern county last week simmered down to three wells spudded in, two tests for water shutoff and two redrilling jobs.

The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company began drilling its No. 9 well on Sec. 7, 32-23, in the Midway field. The Standard Oil Company spudded its No. 99 in the same field on Sec. 1, 32-23, and Chanslor-Canfield started its No. 33 on Sec. 23, 28-27, in the Kern River field.

Tests for water shut-off included the Republic Petroleum Company's No. 27, on Sec. 7, 32-23, in the Midway field, and the Shell Oil Company's No. 1 on the Olcese lease on Sec. 21, 32-29, at Round Mountain.

Redrilling jobs reported were North American Oil Consolidated No. 5 on Sec. 8, 11-23, of Maricopa Flat and Pan-American Petroleum Company's No. 9-D, on Sec. 1, 31-24, Elk Hills.

Cities Service Plans Refinery in Texas City

AUSTIN (Tex.) April 6. (Exclusive)—Plans will be completed soon for a refinery of an initial capacity of 30,000 barrels daily which the Cities Service Company, through one of its operating subsidiaries, will construct on Carpenter's Bayou, which has a deep water outlet to the Houston ship channel.

In connection with the project, the Empire Pipe Line Company, a Cities Service subsidiary, will construct a twelve-inch trunk pipe line from Oklahoma City to the site of the proposed refinery, 512 miles. The pipe line will handle the oil of the Indian Territory Illuminating Company, another Cities Service subsidiary. Details of the proposed improvements are being worked out at the general offices of the company at Bartlesville, Okla.

Optimism Felt for Mexico Oil

MEXICO CITY, April 6. (Exclusive)—Optimism with regard to reopening of oil operations on a large scale in Mexico continues to be felt here. Excelsior quotes oil authorities as pointing to oil production gains in the United States, and to favorable petroleum legislation in Mexico, as factors that will serve to revive the industry here.

ELLIOTT WELL SHOWING DROP

Cochuma Hills Discovery Project Slumping

Decrease Laid to Trio of New Completions

That the completion of three wells near the Milham Exploration Company's Elliott No. 1 discovery well on the north dome of the Ketchum Hills Oil field is having the normal effect of pulling down the gas pressure there is indicated by the fact that the daily flow from Elliott No. 1 has not exceeded 2800 barrels for several weeks.

Elliott's discovery well was brought in during October, 1929, and has been on steady production ever since, although its flow has varied somewhat, depending upon gas pressure. The project was yielding approximately 3400 barrels daily before the recent decline. With the recent completion of the Standard Oil Company's No. 61 as a direct offset, the agreement reached nearly a year ago to bring in a group of wells to deplete the discovery well gas pressure so the field's output could be controlled has been carried out.

The gas pressure in Elliott No. 1 was reached a peak of 80,000,000 cubic feet daily, but during the past few months it has been nearer 60,000,000, a portion of which is being fed to natural gas pipe lines of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

The Continental Oil Company's Elliott No. 13-8 now is the best producer at Ketchum Hills. It is being shown 4000 barrels daily, but Standard's No. 6 nearby has nearly the same production. The Pendleton Securities Company's Felix No. 1 about a mile from the most productive portion of the north dome is making less than 1300 barrels daily.

Rewelling jobs reported were North American Oil Consolidated No. 6 on Sec. 6, 11-23, of Maricopa Flat, and Pan-American Petroleum Company's No. 9-D, on Sec. 1, 31-24, in Elk Hills.

Cities Service Plans Refinery in Texas City

TEXAS CITY (Tex.) April 6. (Exclusive)—Plant will be completed soon for a refinery of an initial capacity of 25,000 barrels daily which the Cities Service Company, through one of its operating subsidiaries, will build on Carpenter's Bayou, which has a deep water outlet to the ship channel.

In connection with the project, the Empire Pipe Line Company, a Cities Service subsidiary, will construct a twelve-inch trunk pipe line from Oklahoma City to the site of the proposed refinery, 512 miles. The pipe line will handle the oil of the Texas Panhandle Territory illuminating oils. Another Cities Service refinery, at Ponca City, Okla., is being worked out by engineers of the general offices of the company at Bartlesville, Okla.

ISLAND OIL HUNT DUE SOON

Standard Expected to Start Drilling Operations on Santa Cruz at Early Date

Santa Cruz Island, embracing about 53,000 acres, which was leased three months ago, soon may be the scene of considerable activity, for the agreement to start operations there may be put into effect by the Standard Oil Company within a short time.

With the coming of workmen and equipment and supplies, the sport of English gentlemen will pass. They have enjoyed many years of wild boar hunting over the mountainous island.

Little has been known geologically about the Santa Barbara group of islands off shore from Santa Barbara. This group includes Anacapa, Santa Cruz, Santa Rosa and San Miguel islands.

In keeping with its intentions to determine if the islands contain oil in commercial quantities, Standard is reliably reported to be leasing Santa Rosa Island, which embraces approximately 35,000 acres. Although somewhat smaller than Santa Cruz Island, the former is considered one of the most likely prospects for discovery of oil.

ANACAPA PASSED UP

For several years oil operators have considered drilling for oil on one of the islands off shore from Santa Barbara and one major operator is reported to have thoroughly geologized the group and decided to let them pass. It was soon determined, however, that Anacapa Island is entirely basaltic in character, as also are Santa Cruz and Santa Rosa islands.

Santa Cruz Island is nearer the mainland than Santa Rosa Island. It is devoted chiefly to cattle-raising, is fairly well timbered and has a good water supply. The island is mostly basaltic in character, but an area of several square miles at the northwesterly edge is sedimentary and seems to consist chiefly of Santa Margarita, Temblor and Vaqueros formations.

When Standard starts operations it is believed that the extreme northwesterly tip of Santa Cruz Island will be the location selected. This island is separated from Santa Rosa Island by the Santa Cruz passage and it is in this passage that submarine oil seepages have been reported. The greatest depth of the passage is 144 feet.

FORMATION DIFFERENT

Santa Rosa Island is considerably different in character from Santa Cruz. There is a wider diversity of topography and vegetation. The island has no satisfactory supply of fresh water, most of the springs being rather brackish. The island is chiefly of sedimentary origin, although there are numerous outcroppings of tertiary basalt on the south half of the island. It is almost evenly divided by a notable east-west fault, which apparently has resulted in a horizontal displacement of nearly two miles, as well as a vertical displacement of several hundred feet. This fault continues east and west from Santa Rosa Island and marks the south shore of San Miguel Island, and is also apparent in Santa Cruz Island. It is a complementary fault as referred to the continental shelf fault a few miles further south.

From the standpoint of some geologists all of the Santa Rosa Island south of the main fault above referred to will prove unproductive. However, north of this fault is an area of approximately thirty square miles composed entirely of a conformable sequence of the Santa Margarita, Temblor and Vaqueros formations, and slightly different from the same formations as exposed just across the Santa Barbara channel on the mainland, and all of which have been productive of oil at various places in California.

The Vaqueros formation is the source of the oil in the Elwood field, only thirty-five miles to the north. There are several instances of suitable structure on Santa Rosa Island, the most notable one being a large east-west anticline only about one mile north of the division fault. From a structural standpoint this anticline offers considerable promise. There are other smaller anticlines on the north half of the island, and, in addition, it is significant that the shallow waters of Becher's Bay apparently cover several worthwhile prospecting areas.

Immediately opposite on Santa Cruz Island is the area which is similar to the north half of Santa Rosa Island. The structural conditions are reported as favorable and prospecting may be carried on a considerable distance off shore. It now is believed that both Santa Rosa and Santa Cruz islands have areas as favorable for prospecting as areas along the Santa Barbara coast before discovery of the Elwood field. The Santa Barbara channel is a submerged valley, somewhat similar to the San Joaquin Valley, and it seems reasonable to expect, oil men say, that since similar formations and structural conditions are found on both sides of this submerged valley, sooner or later oil fields will be discovered on the southern side, as well as on the northern side, which already has yielded the Elwood, Capitan, Santa Barbara and Seacliff fields.

Wildcat Near Belridge Down in Hard Shale

BELRIDGE, April 6. (Exclusive) K. C. Wallace's drilling job in the unproven part of Belridge, on Sec. 32, 29-21, is down more than 2800 feet and going through a hard brown shale formation, according to reports from that field. The well has the 6 1-4-inch casing at 2591 feet.

Reports from the field say that the old Keystone Petroleum project on Sec. 18, 28-22, once taken over by the Republic Petroleum Company, now will be rejuvenated by the Rio Grande Oil Company. Keystone, drilling to about 3150 feet, found plenty of gas and then drilled ahead through tremendous difficulties to the 3681-foot level where operations ceased.

VIGOROUS MOVE AT SIGNAL HILL

More Than 250 Producers in Field Shut In

To combat overproduction of oil in the Signal Hill field, Umpire Nell H. Anderson has completely shut in more than 250 producers, according to records. Of this group, 200 are intermediate zone wells and approximately fifty are deep producers.

Despite that drastic step, however, Signal Hill's flow yesterday was in excess of 101,000 barrels, against an allowable of 95,800 barrels, to reach the quota named a week ago by the general committee on State-wide curtailment of oil.

Throughout the entire Signal Hill field 101 projects are drilling ahead. Many of these are in the extreme southeasterly portion of the field where the deep sand has proved so productive. In that portion of the field the Ring Oil Company's Sam Johnson well recently was brought in for about 500 barrels of oil a day, while the Interstate Oil Company's Jones No. 2 was completed for fifty barrels daily.

On the extreme south flank of the field J. J. Davis's No. 15 came in for 500 barrels daily, and if water is successfully shut out of the Petrolo Syndicate's Meyer No. 2 that project may be on steady production early this week. E. B. Campbell's No. 1 increased its flow during the customary five-day flow test and now is producing more than 1100 barrels of oil a day.

CINNABAR PROPERTY REOPENS

Mina Mercury Company Resumes Activity After Improving Plant

MINA (Nev.) April 6, Exclusive)—Work was resumed last week on the quicksilver properties of the Mina Mercury Co., near Mina, by W. G. Fairbanks and B. F. Miller, Jr., Los Angeles capitalists. The plant is to be improved and enlarged, and development of demonstrated ore bodies vigorously prosecuted. The property is credited with containing some of the largest cinnabar deposits in Nevada.

The old Bullfrog district, scene of a wild gold rush in 1905, is again attracting much interest as the result of promising discoveries. The Klair-Mulqueeney lease on the property of the Original Bullfrog Company, of Los Angeles, reports a strike of specimen gold ore, and is sacking rich material for shipment. The product is said to compare favorably with the high-grade that started the original rush. R. P. Alward and associates report the development of a four-foot ledge of excellent gold ore on their claims, about one mile south of the Original Bullfrog.

The mill at the Tybo lead-zinc mines of the Treadwell-Yukon Company is treating 312 tons of ore daily, and crosscutting to the main ore body is proceeding from the 880-foot level. About 170 men are employed in mine and plant. Late work has materially increased reserves of commercial ore, and the outlook is said to be promising for a prosperous year, despite low prices of lead, silver and zinc.

Huge Earthen Oil Reservoir Nearing Finish

BAKERSFIELD, April 6. (Exclusive)—Excavation work on the $600,000 earthen reservoir which the Petroleum Securities Company is building near Kern County Airport, five miles north of here, is about completed.

The reservoir is located near the Standard Oil Company's tank farm, and when completed will be used to store oil from the Petroleum Securities Company's wells in the Poso Creek field. At present the oil from the Poso Creek wells is going into two 80,000-barrel tanks near the site of the earthen reservoir.

NEW GOLD MILL IN COMMISSION

Plant at White Bear Now on Steady Production

Management Says Outlook at Property Bright

Promising Ore Find Reported from Mt. Lily

SACRAMENTO, April 6. (Exclusive)—The new sixty-ton mill has been placed in commission at the historic White Bear gold mine, ten miles southwest of Sawyer's Bar, and steady production has begun. The management states that four excellent ledges have been developed with sufficient ore in sight to assure steady operations for at least three years. In the past ten months the company expended about $85,000 in developing and equipping the property.

A three-foot ledge of $40 gold ore has been opened in the Mt. Lily mine five miles northeast of Columbia, according to the owners. The property has been developed to a depth exceeding 800 feet by a 1000-foot tunnel and provided with equipment. The new ledge shows considerable free gold.

Development of extensive lode and placers properties near Forest is being pressed vigorously by the Anglo-Pacific Company. The holdings are said to contain continuations of several noted veins worked in the Sixteen-to-One, Plumbago and other Allegheny properties, besides valuable placers. The miners are being paid in gold by the company, as the men prefer the yellow metal to currency.

The Consolidated Copper Company, working extensive copper properties in Siskiyou county, reports that plans for installation of a concentrating mill and aerial tramway have been approved by the stockholders. The plant will be built at Copper, about four miles from the mines, and ore sent to the concentrators by an aerial tramline. Large deposits of commercial ore are said to be demonstrated.

Discovery of rich gold quartz on the Openshaw ranch, near Crescent Mills in Plumas county, is attracting much interest. At a depth of four feet a ten-inch shoot of specimen ore shows, with the ore said to be widening steadily with depth. The strike was made in a virgin area and has caused a brisk demand for neighboring locations.

ACTIVITY OF MILHAM OIL HOLDING UP

Situation at Company's Various Buttonwillow Projects Reported

BUTTONWILLOW, April 6. (Exclusive)—The Milham Exploration Company continues its development activity in the Buttonwillow district.

Rigging up rotary is going ahead at Kern No. 7 well on Sec. 5, 28-23. Rigs have been erected for No. 9 and No. 10 on the same section and these will be spudded in as soon as preliminary work is completed.

Milham at present is fishing in its No. 6 well on Sec. 8, 28-23. Bottom of the hole is at 4946 feet.

The company's Crites No. 1 well on Sec. 8, 28-23, is down 2673 feet with no important showings.

The General Petroleum Corporation is nearing the gas zone in its Morris No. 1 well on Sec. 6, 28-23. The well is down 2400 feet and gas is expected within the next 400 feet.

The Norden Corporation, Ltd., has staked a location to drill for gas, but work on the derrick has not yet been started.

Lease on Huge Texas Wildcat Area Reported

EAGLE PASS (Tex.) April 6. (Exclusive)—One of the largest oil and gas leases ever obtained by an oil company is that of the Coahuila Oil and Gas Company, embracing 3,000,000 acres, including the Lajous ranch, situated in the State of Coahuila, Mex., and extending to within about fifteen miles of Eagle Pass. It is wildcat territory.

Preliminary to deep test drilling, the company has obtained much subsurface geological data by means of shallow holes that were drilled upon the land. It is stated by B. H. Magruder of Piedras Negras, Mex., who is in charge of field operations, that the first deep test will be started the latter part of June. The Coahuila Oil and Gas Company is subsidiary of the Lloyd Oil Corporation of Fort Worth, of which Dr. A. D. Lloyd is president.

WHERE MOST AUTOS GET GAS

Figueroa Street Leads in Service Stations With Melrose Avenue Second in Sealer's Survey

The interesting fact that Figueroa street leads all others in this district in number of automobile service stations has just been brought to light by James C. Hoppes, deputy under Charles M. Fuller, sealer of weights and measures for Los Angeles county.

All gasoline and oil measuring devices in the city and county are inspected by Mr. Fuller's office to prevent short weights and measures, and in the course of a year Mr. Hoppes has occasion to visit practically all the filling stations in Los Angeles.

Mr. Hoppes finds that Figueroa street leads them all with eighty-three service stations in 10.3 miles between Sunset Boulevard and One Hundred and Twentieth street. In a survey of forty principal streets it has been found that Melrose avenue has the greatest number of pumps per mile and is second in number of stations.

It is believed that Huntington Drive leads in the number of stations over a considerable distance, while Walnut street, Pasadena, which is a very short thoroughfare, leads in number of pumps per mile. Surveying 499.2 miles, Mr. Hoppes found that there were 2178 stations in that distance, or more than four to the mile, with 5748 pumps to serve patrons. The result of his survey is set forth in the accompanying table:

PAY-ROLL IN MINE FIELD HOLDING UP

Arizona Survey Reports Employment Far Ahead of That in 1926

PHOENIX, April 6. (Exclusive)—According to William E. Hunter of the State Industrial Commission, Arizona mine pay rolls increased 64 per cent in 1929 compared with 1926, last year's total having been $34,459,330. Though there has been a material decrease in the first quarter of 1930, the pay-roll expenditures still are well ahead of those of four years ago, while the wage per individual is larger.

It is believed that only by maximum production can there be full economy in the production of copper, but costs still are well below those of several years ago. Much of this happy condition is credited to betterment of processes, but there also have been large cost reductions due to the decrease of accidents and their consequent damage expenditures. Compared with 1928, this saving has amounted to over $250,000 in the past year.

Largely due to the efforts of the Arizona Industrial Congress, the mining corporations are adding yearly to the percentage of purchases made within the State. Most of the explosives come from a mutually owned factory near Benson, while lumber, foundry products, oxygen and agricultural products are purchased at home to as large an extent as possible. The Phelps Dodge Corporation, alone, last year bought supplies in Arizona valued at $1,172,647, while a number of other corporations passed the $500,000 mark.

Sale of Gallup Coal Expanding

GALLUP (N. M.) April 6. (Exclusive)—A new market for Gallup coal is being opened, on a small scale, in the Arizona agricultural valleys to the southwest.

Farmers who bring their products here for sale now are returning, even 100 miles, with loads of coal, which find ready sale in such towns as St. Johns, where it has been found much better than wood for winter needs.

OIL ACTIVITY IN MARICOPA FIELD TOLD

Barnsdall Hazleton No. 3 Down 2200 Feet; Clune-Doyle Well Swabbing

MARICOPA, April 6. (Exclusive) Drilling in Barnsdall Oil Company's Haleton No. 3 well on Sec. 8, 11-23, at Maricopa Flats has progressed to more than 2200 feet.

The hard, sandy shale formation is being cored. The sixteen-inch casing is at 598 feet. Barnsdall has two other wells, both of which are good producers for that territory.

Doyle-Clune's recent completion at Maricopa Flat, on Sec. 8, 11-23, is being swabbed. With bottom at 3761 feet, the well was brought in as an excellent commercial producer.

Now the swabbing follows landing of fifty-three feet of liner.

This is the first project drilled by Doyle and Clune, and is the first well to get production from that particular level. Some say that Doyle-Clune has opened up a new producing area.

Kaaba Mining Corporation in Smelter Deal

KINGMAN (Ariz.) April 6. (Exclusive)—Statement has been made locally that Kaaba Mining and Milling Corporation interests have joined in a new organization, the Kingman Smelting and Refining Company, for erection here of a smelting customs plant of eighty tons daily capacity. While the main object is to be the handling of Kaaba ores, especially for saving the vanadium values, the plant is to be open also for custom business. A part of the necessary equipment already is available here.

Savings of 95 per cent are reported in operation of the Walkover mill, the concentrates averaging about $120 gold, together with a quantity of arsenical pyrites. Belief is expressed that profit eventually will be secured through saving of the arsenic.

Five sacks of ore from the Black Wonder claim in Silver Creek district, near Oatman, have sample value of $2400 a ton in gold. The material comes from a fourteen-inch vein, worked down to fourteen feet depth.

OLD CANARIO CONTROL SOLD

TUCSON (Ariz.) April 6. (Exclusive)—The Canario mines, near Nacozari, for years exploited by the Cameron-Michel organization of New York, have been taken over by the Amex Copper Company, reported to be in possession of 51 per cent of the Canario stock issue, with the balance set aside for the old stockholders.

For the present, on an appropriation of $100,000, development is to be confined to the Lillie shaft, in which it is said a considerable body of 2½-per cent concentrating copper ore already is available for stoping. In charge is to be S. H. Pyle, formerly a Canario executive.

Back of the Amex is the Santa Rita Copper Company, headed by H. L. Berkey of Tucson, which is headquarters for the organization. This company has been operating in this vicinity for several years, developing the old Rosemont and Helvetia and other mines in the Santa Rita Mountains.

Their location is handy to Sahuarita, where there is to be lease of the eighty-ton mill of the Minerals & Metals Corporation, with possibility of later erection of a 500-ton flotation plant on the Helvetia, one of the best-known mines of Arizona. Belief is expressed that much of the ore, as well as the old dumps, may be handled cheaply by steam shovel. The dumps are reported to sample $6 a ton in copper and to contain about 500,000 tons.

Capital for the proposed operations both in Mexico and here is said to have been secured in New York, where the Santa Rita company maintains offices.

FAMOUS OLD MINE AGAIN OPERATING

Mammoth at Goldfields Being Worked on Lease by Colorado Group

MESA (Ariz.) April 6. (Exclusive) New life has been brought to the famous old Mammoth mine, at Goldfields, on the Apache Trail highway, twenty-five miles east of Mesa. It has a record of several millions production in gold when operated, more than thirty years ago, by Sullivan & Hall of Colorado, who quit when the vein faulted.

In later years it was worked by George U. Young of Phoenix, once Territorial Secretary of State, but with little apparent success. After his death, the property was taken over by the Apache Trail Gold Mining Company, A. H. Severinghaus manager, representing former stockholders, and there was report of discovery of fresh ore in a northern extension.

The mine now is being operated under lease by the Metallurgical Research and Mining Company of Colorado, reported to have blocked out ore in sufficient quantity and grade to warrant erection of a fifty-ton rod mill and amalgamating plant, which are to be in operation this month.

When Young died, four years ago, his widow sued a life insurance company on a $30,000 accident policy, claiming that death had been due to an accident, injury received when his foot was struck by a falling timber. Arizona judgment for the plaintiff recently was reversed by a San Francisco Federal court, with direction for a new trial.

KERN FIELD ADDS FOUR PRODUCERS

Doyle Oil Completes Two and Standard and Shell One Each

BAKERSFIELD, April 6. (Exclusive) — Four new wells brought in during the past week in Kern county added 3625 barrels of oil to the daily output of this area.

The Doyle Petroleum Corporation completed Son-Crall No. 7, which is doing 1600 barrels daily, and No. 4, which is doing 1700 barrels. Both are on Sec. 8, 11-28, on Maricopa Flat. The former was completed at 3490 feet and the latter at 3585 feet.

The Standard Oil Company brought in its No. 9-SK well on Sec. 8, 11-23, of Maricopa Flat, with 175 barrels daily of 24 deg. gravity oil from a depth of 3699 feet.

The Shell Oil Company completed Brackenbury No. 1 on Sec. 27, 29-27, in the Fruitvale field for 150 barrels of oil of 16.4 deg. gravity oil. This well is a recompletion, having redrilled after recementing. Bottom is now at 4040 feet.

NEW HOBBS PIPE LINE PROJECTED

Atlantic Company Third to Announce Entry

Will Run from Midland Tank Farm in Texas

Project Fourth for Service in Lea County

ARTESIA (N. M.) April 6. (Exclusive)—The race to enter the Hobbs field with a pipe line has been intensified by the recent announcement that the Atlantic Pipe Line Company is preparing to enter that area with a ten-inch line, it being the third company to announce its intentions to build into Hobbs.

Field reports say that this company will construct its line from its Midland Texas tank farm and follow the so-called Hobbs high into the State. Preparatory to the construction of the line, ground is being broken at Hobbs for the erection of five 55,000-barrel storage tanks, it is reported.

The Atlantic line will give Lea county four oil trunk lines, in addition to the six-inch line of the Texas-Pacific Coal and Oil Company. Several months ago the Texas Pipe Line Company constructed a line to the Lea district. Last week, it was learned, that both the Shell Pipe Line Company and the Humble Pipe Line Company would extend their lines into Hobbs. Humble has served the Jal district in the southeastern portion of the county with a line for several months.

The most interesting well in the southwest area is the State No. 1-C of Cranfill & Reynolds on Sec. 16, 23-36, offsetting State No. 3 of the Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil Company. This test is spraying oil at the rate of about 200 barrels daily from two lime breaks, one at 3647 to 3655 and the other from 3660 to 3665 feet. Drilling is under way below 3675 feet.

A second location in Andrews county, Texas, is expected to further test the Hobbs-Andrews tie-up theory, which is now looked on with favor by some companies. The test is said to be a joint effort of the Humble-Penn-Atlantic Oil companies and is located on Sec. 20, block A-37, public school lands in Andrews county, Texas.

Work Resumed on Old Duster

OILDALE, April 6. (Exclusive)—Revival of activities in the Superior Oil Company's old Coffee No. 1 on Sec. 1, 28-28, in the Poso Creek field is announced.

According to reports, Harry Failing will try to get production from the well, which proved to be a duster at 1761 feet. Superior abandoned the hole several weeks ago after striking dry formation.

We take pleasure in announcing that

Late Mine and Oil News from Fields Far and Near

GOLD HILL MINE MILL IN OFFING

Plans Laid for Installation of 100-Ton Plant

Prospects After Two Years' Development Good

Adjoining Claims Taken Over by Angeleno Group

TONOPAH (Nev.) April 6. (Exclusive)—The Gold Hill area, about [illegible] miles north of Round Mountain, is the latest Nevada mining field to claim consideration of large operators. The Gold Hill Development Company has announced plans for early installation of a 100-ton mill on its properties, following two years of vigorous developments. Prospect drills operating from a twenty-five-foot winze sunk from the 400 level are said to have located excellent ore beyond the fault, and the management has arranged to install a 500-gallon pump, preliminary to deeper work.

The Thomas F. Cole interests of Los Angeles and New York have acquired twenty-two claims adjoining the Gold Hill group, and play for early commencement of activities. The four Nonpareil claims have passed to the Gold Hill Consolidated Company, composed of California people, and the Surprise claim is to be worked by the Gold Zone Divide Company. Other strong corporations are reported negotiating for claims in the district. Values are largely in the form of gold.

Development of rich gold ore in the Lucky Strike group at Ellendale is causing considerable local excitement. The A. C. Wilkerson lease reports a thirty-inch shoot of high-grade ore exposed at a depth of thirty feet, and has started shipments. Besides gold the ore carries impressive values in silver and copper. Five sets of leasers are active.

Manager Fred Vollmer of the Indian Mines Company, operating a lease at the famous Mary mine at Silver Peak, reports that the value of the orebody recently uncovered has increased to $30 per ton. The mill is reported as being over five feet wide and improving as developments progress. The product is sent to the mill of the Black Mammoth Company, where an extraction of 90 per cent is said to be obtained. The Black Mammoth lease is reported to be mining good ore.

Smallest Farm Provides Living

SAN BENITO (Tex.) April 6. (AP)—E. Stephens claims to make his entire living out of the smallest profitable farm in the Southwest—four acres of diversified crops.

Only four and one-half acres are under actual cultivation. Half an acre is planted to fruit trees and the rest to truck crops.

Meticulous book-keeping has shown figs to be one of his most reliable sources of income.

Stephens's greatest pride, perhaps, is his reputation for producing the finest eggs in this territory.

By culling English white leghorns he has brought the weight of their eggs to twenty-six to thirty ounces a dozen, whereas twenty-four ounces is the standard weight.

CALIFORNIA CHERRY LEADER

BERKELEY, April 6. (AP)—California leads the world in production of cherries, and the crops are growing every year, according to statistics of the University of California Department of Agriculture. The average annual production of sweet cherries was placed at 15,000 tons, compared with 10,700 tons for Oregon. In 1929 there were 13,000 acres of bearing cherry orchards, and 5647 nonbearing acres, the university report showed.

VETERAN MINER KEEPS IN GAME

New Venture of Ezra Thayer Reported at Phoenix

Forms Company to Operate Old Gold Relief

Property in Good Shape to Start Development

PHOENIX, April 6. (Exclusive)—Ezra W. Thayer of Phoenix, who sold control of the Monte Cristo silver mine to the Julian interests for a price reported to have been $1,000,000, is continuing in the mining business. He has taken over a number of mines that lie between the Bradshaw Mountains and this city, with especial note of the old Relief gold property, twenty-five miles northwest of this point, with reorganization under the name of Sunrise-Relief, though Thayer is sole owner.

The mine for years was operated by George Hamlin, representing local capital and was a consistent producer from a crude mill. The new owner is sinking a new working shaft, 2500 feet west of the old main workings, from which are reported to have been developed around 150,000 tons of ore that sample up to $20 a ton. The whole property has been placed in good condition, with much retimbering, and there is suggestion that a mill will be erected as soon as the ore has been better blocked out.

The famous Bonanza section of the Little Harqua Hala Mountains again has come into news value through discovery of rich new ore on the Harqua Hala Extension property, one which has been managed for three years by a woman, Mrs. Rose B. Johnson of this city. The mine adjoins the old Bonanza and is eight miles south of Salome Station on the Santa Fe California line. As is usual in the locality, the vein was lost through faulting, only recently to be picked up again, though there is possibility that it is a new strike. The ore, said to be of exceptional values, is to be shipped.

The Bonanza property, with gross production of about $10,000,000, was abandoned at least three times, with discoveries of new ores, usually in unexpected places.

GOOD YEAR AHEAD FOR HONEY MEN

Early Blossoming Sets Bees at Work Before Usual Time

SACRAMENTO, April 6. (AP)—It looks like a big year for the honey producers of California, and a year of health for the 20,000,000,000 or so bees inhabiting the 400,000 hives in the State, Frank H. Todd, State bee inspector, has reported to C. H. Hecke, Director of Agriculture.

An early fruit-blooming season and a prolific carpeting of woods and fields with the gold and blue of wild flowers is responsible for the bees ending their winter vacation somewhat earlier than usual, Todd has found.

Reports from all parts of the State indicated that foulbrood is less in evidence and that bees in general are in a far healthier condition than at any time since the State began regulation of the industry. Conditions were reported normal or better in Glenn, Yolo, Kern, Kings, Los Angeles, Merced, Orange, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Joaquin, Sonoma, Ventura and other important bee counties. The same reports, Todd said, showed a prevalence of American foulbrood, chief disease enemy, of less than 1 per cent.

The ordinary colony, in a normal year, should produce about fifty pounds of honey, or about five times the weight of the bees in the hive, Todd said.

ALFALFA TO BE GRADED IN FIELDS

Establishment of New Plan Assured by State Department

SACRAMENTO, April 6. (AP)—Field grading of alfalfa hay under an extension of the Federal-State plan inaugurated last year with establishment of grading service at Los Angeles market was definitely assured with assignment of an inspector to Imperial Valley, C. H. Hecke, Director of Agriculture, has announced. Plans are being made for an inspector in the Stockton district, he said.

F. W. Hoffman will begin training immediately at the Los Angeles grading station prior to receiving Federal certification as an inspector, L. M. Jeffers, chief of the Bureau of Field Crops, reported to Hecke. Gilbert Fuller, who has received a Federal license, will be assigned to the Imperial district.

The field inspection service, established at the request of the hay and dairy industries, is expected to raise the quality of the California alfalfa crop, and is eventually expected to be self-supporting, Hecke said.

Grape Varieties Earn Approval

GRAND RAPIDS (Mich.) April 6. (AP)—Three comparatively new grape varieties have been approved by Michigan State College horticulturists following extensive trials at the experiment station near here.

They are: Urbanan and Butler, which were first developed in New York State; and Tollkins, grown first in Canada. The Butler variety is more suitable to Michigan culture.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analysis will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Crocidolite

LAS VEGAS (Nev.) March 22.—Question: Please analyze the sample mailed to you under separate cover. The sample was obtained near Las Vegas, Nev., and occurs in a ledge form. Would be very interested in knowing if the specimen carries any mineral of a commercial value. E. M.

Answer: United States Geological Survey bulletins refer to crocidolite as silicate of sodium and iron, a rock-forming mineral belonging to the amphibole group, used as ornamental stone and for gems. It occurs near Lakeport, Cal., of fibrous veins, in schist. It also occurs in Santa Clara county, in bluish-fibrous seams of metamorphic rock east of Hamilton. Your sample occurs in quartz, and the indications are good for higher-grade crocidolite than the California localities given.

Free Gold Absent

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—Q.: I am delivering to The Times, with this letter, sample of ore taken from prospect near Mexico. Will you please furnish analyses giving the gold-silver value per ton ore, and if any other value per ton. X.

A.: It would be a pleasure to give you results as requested, but no fire assays are made by this department of The Times. By physical properties and simple mineralogical tests, the sample would be classified as lime carbonate. There are over 1200 varieties of lime carbonate. By chemical tests the specimen reacts for limonite; uranium absent. Calcite, some dolomite, hematite and zinc present. The specimens are of doubtful representative values unless fire assays return gold and silver.

Greasy Quartz

CASA GRANDE (Ariz.) March 23. Q.: Will you please classify the enclosed specimens? We are in doubt as to whether they are quartz or beryl. Thanking you in advance, H. J.

A.: Your samples were but recently received. They are but seven in the scale of hardness. Beryl is from 7.5 to 8 in the named scale. Glucina and alumina both absent.

Sulphides and Carbonate

LOS ANGELES, March 23.—Q.: I am sending a sample of mineral. Please analyze for gold, silver and lead. The sample was found in Riverside county, and I believe there is a large amount of it. S.

A.: The sample reacts for galenite (lead sulphide) cerussite, (lead carbonate) some hematite, and runs low in zinc (blende.) Free gold is absent. For other gold and silver values please consult assayers.

Milk-white Opal

PICO, March 24.—Q.: The white sample is from a locality in Arizona. Please test for cerium, lanthanum, silicon, magnesium, calcium an dvanadium. Could like material be used for building stone? L.

A.: For building purposes doubtful, and all of the substances named by you are absent. The sample is massive opal, (hydrous silica) it shows no play of colors, nor opalescence. When such rainbow colors appear in a sample it is known as precious opal (girasol) the valuable variety of commerce.

Four Samples

LOS ANGELES, March 24.—Q.: Please give me analyses of samples according to numbers. Do they contain gold, silver, beryllium? All found in this vicinity. Thanking you for past services and courtesies. J.

A.: Free gold is not present in the specimens. Beryllium is absent. The grayish-white microscopical crystals are calcite, and aluminum silicate found. In short, all of the specimens consist of mixtures—including limonite (hydrous iron peroxide,) lime cargonate, and as above set forth. For other gold and silver values kindly consult assayers.

Talcose Schist

BROWN, March 25.—Q.: Would like to know the commercial value of the rock in this sample, which is believed to contain a large amount of talc. Located in Inyo county. S.

A.: The sample as a talc producer is of problematical value. It runs high in silica.

Feldspar

LOS ANGELES, March 25.—Q.: Please state through In the Earth what this rock sample is composed of? I found it in a big ledge near Lang, Cal. Would it make good building plaster? M.

A.: It carries no gypsum. It is albite (soda feldspar) or a mineral near it, in composition.

Two Samples

LOS OLIVOS, March 25.—Q.: Will you please let me know the kind of minerals in samples Nos. 1 and 2? They were found in the foothills of Santa Barbara county some miles from Santa Ynez. W.

A.: No. 1 is a greenish-black iron-magnesium silicate carrying a little microscopic pyrite and taken from a stringer one-half an inch wide. No. 2 is low-grape jasper, a variety of quartz, and of no gem value.

Hydrous Iron Silicate

VENTURA, March 26.—Q.: This sample contains, as far as I know, chromium, molybdenum and shows platinum in the spectroscope, with calcium and radium. The deposit occurs some forty miles from Lovelocks, Nev. H.

A.: The sample looks like "fake platinum ore." It, probably, represents rock of no commercial value unless fire assays give returns for gold and silver. Further on such rock try quantitative analysis.

Black Sand

POMONA, March 26.—Q.: The inclosed samples were found in gold-pan placer mining in Trinity county. Miners claim to be getting platinum returns. I have removed most of the gold and am not interested in a gold test. There may be traces of gold in specimen A. Sample B, was removed from A with a magnet and I understand this is some kind of iron ore. Could you give me a field test, or some common test, for platinum? W.

A.: There are practically no field tests, nor common tests for platinum and platinum ores. Native platinum occurs in grains or irregular masses. Color and streak pale-steel gray. Of metallic luster, opaque. It is ductile and malleable. Of hackly fracture. Hardness 4 to 4.5, and specific weight, 16 to 19. Native platinum, in composition, often consists of platinum, with iron, iridium, rhodium and other metals. Platinum is fusible in the oxyhydrogen flame. Its density when fused is 21.15. When free from iridium it is very soft and malleable. It is soluble in heated aqua regia, (which is prepared by mixing one part of nitric acid with three parts of hydrochloric acid,) and the reddish-yellow solution gives with the salts of ammonia and potassium a crystalline lemon yellow precipitate. This information is about all that can be given by wet methods.

Analyses made in the laboratory of the writer on "black sands" (magnetic iron oxide) from Trinity county, shows that occasionally a minute flake of platinum is found attached to the magnetite, and tests on concentrates obtained from twenty pounds of the iron oxide named, will give values of the named metal of 85 per cent purity. Some platinum flakes are of black-ish color and are slightly attracted by the magnet.

Back to your samples: Specimen A carries 80 per cent magnetic iron oxide, with quarts, titaniferous iron, traces of garnet, flaky micaceous iron, and no platinum. Sample B yielded traces of magnetite, and in the field of a high-power microscope, much titaniferous iron was found, with quarts, and two small pieces of platinum.

It is respectfully suggested that you continue panning for platinum and gold, in the absence of lacking other means of removing the magnetic oxide, and ship the product obtained in the string to thoroughly trained assayers and chemists for monetary values in gold and platinum found present.

FRENCH SCHOOL LIFE DIFFERENT

American Students Abroad Find Queer Customs

Pupils Fight for Seats in Front of Class

Professors Lecture While Audience Applauds

PARIS, April 6. (AP)—Immediately upon their arrival in France to study, several thousand American young men and women annually ask: "What is a French school like?" The answer for them is: "Nothing that you have ever seen before."

Imagine what a great surprise it is to an American student to find that in order to get a seat in the first four rows—which are usually chosen in the United States—it is necessary to show up from an hour to two hours before the lecture. And, again, what a lack of familiarity he feels when he finds the long tables unmarked with initials, queer-looking faces and designs.

There is no substantial reason for believing that French students have any greater yearning for learning than the Americans, but they make it a practice to be in the classroom early. Seats in the front rows are at a premium, for it is to the front rows that the professor lectures. He seldom glances about the room to impart information to the extreme sides and rear.

FIGHTS FOR SEATS

The fight for seats is intense and in some school students who live outside the city are given preferential rights because they are unable to arrive long enough ahead of time to compete with their city brothers. Many intrigues arise. Friends retain seats for friends and often a student who has not made some alliance is forced to take a back seat. Some actually sit through one or two lectures in which they are not interested in order to be certain of a comfortable writing space for their own class.

If fraternities existed in France, the fight for seats would turn out to be a battle among fraternities.

The entrance of the professor into the classroom is a ceremonial affair. Professors, as a rule, teach in several schools. They are not provided with departmental or individual offices in school buildings. Hence, they arrive for their lecture from the street. A small room for their coats and hats is provided. From this room they are ushered into the classroom by a beadle who steps aside with a smile as he passes the threshold and lets the teacher mount the rostrum.

LECTURES APPLAUDED

The beadle's smile has a meaning, for students are prone to greet some professors rather rudely. Regardless, as soon as the usher appears in the doorway, the hall resounds with applause. During the lecture there is frequent applause.

But if the professor is not a strong disciplinarian, the clapping and whistling does not cease throughout the hour, and his voice is not to be heard beyond the front rows. He takes the attitude that it is the students' hard luck and not his. Professors are not infrequently forced to forego their instruction for the day.

Another curious relic of old-time education exists. It is not so long ago that girls began to flock to French schools of higher learning. Professors have not yet become accustomed to them, especially those who have been lecturing for twenty-five or thirty years—and this type is the rule rather than the exception. As far as the professor is concerned, he does not recognize their existence in the classroom. He begins his lecture thus:

"Messieurs," although a third of his audience may be composed of females.

From the serious side, French schools demand two examinations, one written and the other oral. The former is given first, and if the student receives a respectable mark, he is permitted to be questioned orally.

Agreement Ends Contest on Will

WHITE PLAINS (N. Y.) April 6. (Exclusive)—An agreement among three children contesting the will of their father, the late Frank W. Savin, New York City capitalist, who left $1,000,000 to his fourth wife, the Ann Mary Schiele Savin, his ex-chambermaid, has resulted in attempts Master admitting the will to probate in this city.

The will left the bulk of the estate to the widow, former Czecho-Slovakian servant in the Savin household. When the agreement included them a substantial sum, Mrs. Joseph Savin Sargent, Frank E. Savin and Charles E. Monroe Savin, an adopted son, withdrew a suit to contest the will.

St. Elmo's Fire Made by Truck

PITTSBURGH, April 6. (AP)—Londoners now may see St. Elmo's fire, the electrical display which sometimes hovers about the spars of ships.

It is one of the circus tricks on regular exhibition by an artificial lightning truck which the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company has equipped for use on transmission-line development.

When the truck sends a surge of man-made lightning along a miniature transmission line brilliant aureoles of light appear about the wire where excess power is escaping into the air. Sparking up a forty-foot length of wire is another of the truck's lightning strokes.

CROSS-WORD PUZZLE ANIMAL PUT TO USE

FAIRBANKS (Alaska) April 6. Polled Aberdeen and Galloway cattle are being reared at the Fairbanks government experimental station in an effort to build a breed of cattle which can withstand the severe winters of Alaska.

The yaks were brought here from Canada and first experiments were sufficiently promising to continue the plan for several years.

NEWS OF MIDDLE WEST

These news briefs of happenings in the Middle West are collected by The Times' Chicago correspondent, and are sent by leased wire to Los Angeles. Efforts are made to obtain late news which will be of interest to the many former residents of that section, who are now in California.

MISSOURI

The Bank of Wayland at Wayland with approximately $203,000 total resources, has been closed by its board of directors and placed in the hands of the State Finance Department.

King City elected its first woman Mayor, Miss Essie Ward, 35 years of age, lawyer and former postmistress. She had a majority of fifty-one votes over the two men opponents. Another woman officer elected is Miss Ruth Frederick, who defeated C. E. Porter for City Collector.

The strike of employees of the Peoples' Motor Bus Company of St. Louis, which began March 14, has ended.

Thirty-five union granite cutters have gone on strike against six St. Louis stone-cutting concerns demanding a five-day week and an increase of 12½ cents an hour.

Though Lawrence Ghiglione, a trunk maker, and his brother John, a laborer, have become owners of downtown St. Louis real estate worth in excess of $300,000, they can realize only $1500 a year on it for at least half a century. A bank owns a ninety-nine-year lease specifying an annual rental of $1500.

KANSAS

The Chamber of Commerce of Atchison has announced that 160 acres valued at $50,000 will be offered as a site of a new veterans' hospital to be built in Kansas, if the Veterans' Bureau decides to locate the institution in Atchison.

Mrs. W. D. Pendleton, 98 years of age, Atchison, died unexpectedly in the office of the Kansas Life Insurance Company there. Death resulted from heart disease. Mr. Pendleton is the district manager in Atchison for the Kansas Life Insurance Company.

Russell has at least twelve cases of jake paralysis, doctors say. The disease is in all respects similar to that experienced in Wichita and Oklahoma. The first case was noted last week and since then the number of victims has grown rapidly.

Closing of the Farmers' State Bank at Leon, by order of its board of directors, was announced. A slow run was responsible for the closing.

WISCONSIN

The estate of Edward Freschl, amounting to $225,000, former president of the Holeproof Hosiery Company, including the right and privilege to determine their own donations and benefactions was left to his widow, Mrs. Gertrude N. Freschl, and his three children, Lisbeth, Ann and Edward, Jr., the will revealed.

Worth $30,000 and able to borrow thousands from the bank on his own signature ten years ago, Herman Schroeder of Fond Du Lac, former member of the State Assembly, is in prison at Waupun for forging signatures to notes involving approximately $6000.

The last legal bottle of beer manufactured by the Schlitz brewery before prohibition and insured as an heirloom for $25,000 by the company, occupied a position of honor among "Milwaukee-made" exhibits at the opening of the Milwaukee week industrial show.

R. Jones Evans, 60 years of age, auditor of the Horlicks Malted Milk Corporation of Racine, Wis., died at his home there.

ILLINOIS

Joab Goodall, 72 years of age, wealthy stock buyer and director in the First National Bank and Pittsburg Bank, died at his home in Marion.

A pledge to uphold the reputation of Chicago and to defend the city's integrity against its defamers will be given by 700,000 boys under 21 years of age during the annual celebration of Boys' Week May 14 to 21.

Owen T. Reeves, Jr., former president of the Drovers' National Bank of Chicago and a former vice-president of the Corn Exchange Bank of Chicago, died at his home in Great Neck, N. Y. Mr. Reeves was born in Bloomington, Ill.

William B. Miner, Chicago capitalist, died in Plattsburgh, N. Y.

MICHIGAN

More than 1200 acres that have been kept in a wild state, reforested to a considerable extent and added to from the standpoint of its natural animal life, have been donated to the University of Michigan by Col. Edwin S. George, financier and lover of outdoors. The gift is primarily for the benefit of students of zoology, ornithology, botany, nature and landscape studies.

Detroit is faced with the danger of a serious smallpox epidemic within the next year or two unless vaccination becomes more general, Dr. Carl E. Buck, Deputy Commissioner of Health, said today.

Officials of the Detroit and Windsor Ferry Company have announced a 50 per cent cut in the rates on automobiles taken across the river. The action, it was explained, is taken to meet the competition offered by the Ambassador bridge. The new rate is 25 cents for a car and driver.

The business of importing building stone from Germany, said to be a fraud by which he deprived some forty Detroiters of $50,000 really was the guise under which he operated a huge liquor syndicate which paid his clients high profits, Joseph Mayer told Detroit authorities after his return from New York.

IOWA

Sioux City's municipal golf courses will no longer be free. The fee will be 25 cents for nine holes and 50 cents for eighteen.

Three Iowa majors are holding their offices because of their luck in drawing lots. The elections at Plainfield, Ferguson and Polk City resulted in ties and judges decreed that the contests should be settled by lot. James Stippich won over T. L. Graber at Polk City, D. A. Miller defeated O. A. Johnson at Ferguson and Theodore Rockies drew the correct straw at Plainfield, defeating Kenneth B. Orcutt.

Judge B. J. Butler at Orange City, after a hearing in District Court at Orange City, dissolved the temporary injunction obtained by Arthur Moeller and other Sioux City farmers restraining the State from testing cattle for tuberculosis and denied a permanent injunction.

Dr. Arthur Solvsberg, Sioux City dentist and club man, died in his home at Sioux City.

NEBRASKA

The city of Niobrara voted to transfer the 500-acre island of Niobrara to the State for a game preserve and park.

Lyle Morris, while milking a cow at his farm near Alliance, was kicked by the animal and suffered a leg fracture when the cow became frightened as a cat scampered between its fore feet.

William P. Smith, 43 years of age, is dead and L. L. Caselton, 30 years of age, Lincoln, is in a critical condition at a hospital as the result of their truck being struck by a passenger train at Prairie Home.

MINNESOTA

Now comes a statistician of the automobile industry who says the honor of being the first automobile "speeder" should go to Thomas W. Shevlin, of Minneapolis, who was dragged into court there in 1902 and paid $10 for driving his automobile more than ten miles an hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Joercks celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with their six children and thirteen grandchildren at Hutchinson.

One hundred thousand dollars, the bequest of John Jonnson, 83 years of age, who drove his milk wagon about the Hill district of St. Paul, will go to the Vasa Children's Home near Red Wing, according to Rev. E. E. Ryden. Mr. Johnson died at his home in St. Paul two years ago.

Patrick Sheehan, 81 years of age, father of Mrs. S. B. Wilson, wife of the Minnesota Supreme Court chief justice, died at Mankato following a stroke of paralysis.

OHIO

Two groups of twenty-six farmers each near Lima under the leadership of H. L. Marshall and C. B. Ream, have concluded the greatest pest hunt in the history of this area. Pests captured and killed included 1655 mice, 615 rats, 12,879 sparrows, two weasels and one hawk.

Edward DeWitt, 54 years of age, Monroeville, who died from pneumonia at the new municipal hospital at Willard, was the first death recorded there.

Edmund J. Richmond, 49 years of age, secretary and treasurer of the Akron Morris plan bank, died suddenly at his home today as a result of a heart attack.

INDIANA

Repeal of the State bone-dry law which technically makes Indiana the dryest State in the Union, is to be sought as one of the recommendations of the Indiana State Crime Commission when it reports back soon to Gov. Leslie.

Meyer Dembofsky, 96 years of age, oldest man in Goshen, who boasted he shook hands with Lincoln, is dead.

Mrs. Sarah Gooding and Miss Jennie Rife, sisters, and William M. Moore, were burned to death when fire destroyed the Gooding home at Anderson.

Wilbur Ferguson of Edinburg after twenty-four hours of continuous questioning confessed he was one of three bandits who held up Fisher's National Bank of Noblesville. An hour later he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to ten years.

SOUTH DAKOTA

Hunting coyotes from an airplane has been profitable for George Albrecht and William Fischer near Roseglen during the past winter. They bagged forty-six animals.

George Griffin, pioneer Clark county banker and president of the local bank in Clark, was found dead in his garage. The Coroner, after an investigation said he had committed suicide.

KENTUCKY

Death in the electric chair was voted by a Circuit Court jury at Bowling Green for Ben Sexson, 19 years of age, for slaying J. Robert Kirby, Smith's Grove banker on December 26, last.

Elmer H. Hicks, former commissioner of the County Court, Louisville, tendered his resignation and Joseph E. Everhart succeeded him. The latter resigned as member of the Legislature from the Fifty-first District.

Philip J. Boro, 72 years of age, supervisor for the Department of Works at Louisville, was killed when an automobile in which he was riding was struck by a bus.

Locusts Hurt Desert Farms

CAIRO (Egypt) April 6. (Exclusive)—Locusts have again broken through the government forces arrayed against them in the Sinai Desert. They have crossed the Suez Canal and have settled on the cultivated areas near Ismailya in huge swarms. The government is sending 140 flame throwers and 200 tons of liquid destroyer to the afflicted area.

GOAT GOT, CITY GETS GOATS

Herbivorous Animals Named to Curb Spread of Weeds

VALDOSTA (Ga.) April 6. (AP)—If weeds get your goat turn the goat loose on 'em. Valdosta health officials have advised the city government.

They suggested that the city buy a flock of sheep and goats to be turned loose on offending weeds and rank grass.

PILOTS BATTLE FIVE MILES UP

Air Corps Attempt Risky Altitude Maneuvers

Aviators Carry Own Supply of Oxygen Aloft

High Flyers Find Freezing Temperatures in Sky

MATHER FIELD (Sacramento) April 6. (AP)—Pointing the way to aerial battlefields more than five miles above the earth, Capt. H. M. Elmendorf and his thirty-one pilots of the Ninety-fifth Pursuit Squadron will demonstrate the latest high-altitude combat tactics this week in connection with the Army Air Corps field exercises here.

"Cognizant that in pursuit aviation victory falls to the side which can fly the fastest and highest," said Gen. William E. Gillmore, commanding general of the provisional wing, "the Army Air Corps has made successful efforts toward lifting the fighting altitude of pursuit formations to the vast height of more than five miles above ground. Capt. Elmendorf and his pilots have flown in formation, practiced 'dog fights' and executed other pursuit tactics at altitudes above 25,000 feet, where the temperature is -67 deg. below zero even on the warmest summer day.

LITTLE OXYGEN

"At this distance from earth the air is so void of oxygen that each pilot carries an oxygen tank, from which he breathes through a rubber tube. The motors draw their necessary air from superchargers, which enable them to 'breathe' air compressed to sea level density."

A pursuit pilot, equipped to fight in subzero temperatures five miles above the earth, wears about fifty pounds of clothing and equipment, consisting of heavy woolen underwear, thick leather flying suit lined with fur, sheep skin moccasins, extra-heavy mittens, fur-lined helmet and leather face mask, in addition to goggles and parachute. The tanks used on these missions hold enough oxygen to sustain life for an hour.

DANGEROUS FLYING

High-altitude flying is as tricky as it is essential, the air corps has found. Only recently, officers at the field here said, Lieut. D. D. Graves had a narrow escape when the valve on his oxygen tank failed as he flew at 25,000 feet. Graves became unconscious and his ship spun toward the earth for more than two and a half miles before he regained consciousness and recovered control of the plane.

The present combat altitude record in the Ninety-fifth Pursuit Squadron is held by Lieut. George E. Price, who has flown to 31,700 feet.

Boeing P-12 planes, newest pursuit type, equipped with Pratt & Whitney Wasp motors capable of delivering 450 horsepower, are used in these high-altitude missions. These ships have a high speed of 180 miles an hour in level flight and their climbing capacity is such that often the formation of thirty-two planes has climbed to 25,000 feet in little more than twenty minutes. This was done, officers said, with a full military load of two machine guns and 600 rounds of ammunition, in addition to the oxygen tank, which weighs about fifty pounds.

HARD TIMES HURT CHILD LABORERS

Unemployment Situation Serious for Japanese Juvenile Workers

TOKIO, April 6. (Exclusive)—Primary school graduates who must work, of which there are 6148 this term, are the latest to suffer from the unemployment situation which all Japan is facing. For the children who are seeking work the Perfectural Employment Office has but 650 positions, its officials have announced.

Of the 6148 who must have jobs 3252 are girls and many of these are being placed in department stores and in factories. Investigation by the employment officials shows that only a small number of the applicants wish factory work. Most of the boys prefer to work in large offices, where they wear foreign clothes, to learning trades. Some of the girls are applying for positions as maid servants. This is a new tendency and the officials declare that it shows that the young women realize the difficulty of securing office work and believe that the domestic has a better chance of finding a profitable position.

JAPANESE MAIDS HIT BY ORDER

Unmarried Girls Barred from Imperial Parties Hereafter

TOKIO, April 6. (Exclusive)—Young maids of Japan are considerably upset over the announcement made this week from the Imperial Household Department that invitations to the imperial garden parties are to be withheld from the unmarried daughters of Japanese dignitaries and of foreigners. It is estimated that 800 persons will be affected by the ruling and also that much of the color will be missing from the annual spring garden party. In the past the young Japanese girls have worn brilliant kimono, while the older women, in obedience to the custom of their country, are always gowned in more sober colors.

The Imperial Household Department has denied that the change in policy is due to the retrenchment plan. They announce that the inviting of the unmarried women to the parties was a foreign custom, adopted some years ago, and that it is to be done away with.

BEACON ON BRIDGE TO LIGHT SKY

Huge Rail Link Across Suisun Bay to be Built by Thanksgiving

Value in Lead 30 Per Cent, 200 Ounces Silver

Find Surprises Operators in Arizona Section

SUPERIOR (Ariz.) April 6. (Exclusive)—From the property of the Queen Creek Copper Company, just above the Magma, has come report of a notable strike of galena, carrying 30 per cent lead and up to 200 ounces silver, this for at least the width of the bottom of a shaft that has been sunk 150 feet. This shaft has been a sort of side issue in a remote part of the company's ground, the annual assessment work requirements for the past two years used up in the course of development of an attractive vein, a cross-contact in the lime, and one that is traceable for nearly half a mile. The management will continue development, with hope of outlining something of large value, but is making no claims of wealth at the present time. It is noted as singular that no copper has been found, though the Queen Creek heretofore has been considered a copper property.

This mine has been under development for about twenty years, most of the work done by W. E. Defty, a Phoenix engineer, who died a few years ago, and who had great faith in its future. Ownership is in a Scottish syndicate, the same which has controlled the Belmont property in this district, as well as the Dundee Arizona at Jerome. The outside interests especially are represented by Arthur J. Smith of Phoenix, who has been here this week checking over the new find.

It is pointed out that the Magma's great copper ore body was found after years of sinking on the Silver Queen claims, following a silver-lead vein, and that such ores seem to be the capping for copper in this district.

VON HINDENBURG HOUSED

KONIGSBERG, April 6. (Exclusive)—A new manor house, built by private subscriptions on the ancestral estate of the Von Beneckendorf and Hindenburg family in Neudeck, East Prussia, will be dedicated in May. President Von Hindenburg has promised to attend.

Unemployment in Bay District Growing Less

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6. (AP)—Resumption of agricultural and building activities and the departure of the fishing fleets is rapidly improving the unemployment situation, observers here report.

Philip P. McGuire, superintendent of St. Patrick's Shelter, an agency of the Community Chest which houses single unemployed men, said many men have departed for the apricot orchards in Merced county and other districts, while others are now working on highway construction near Santa Cruz.

Redeemable as a whole or in part on thirty days' notice at any time on and after April 1, 1931 and prior to April 1, 1932 at 101 and accrued interest, thereafter and prior to April 1, 1933 at 100½ and accrued interest, and thereafter and prior to maturity at 100¾ and accrued interest. The Company will agree to refund the Pennsylvania Four Mills tax as provided in the Indenture.

THE COMMERCIAL NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, Trustee

The following information is quoted from a letter from the President of the Company to the Bankers:

BUSINESS:—The American Metal Company, Limited, was organized in 1887 under the laws of the State of New York, and has grown to a commanding position in the international non-ferrous metals trade. The operating properties, consisting chiefly of mines, smelters and refineries both in this country and abroad, are owned through subsidiary and affiliated companies, and development work with a view to further expansion is constantly in progress. The Company is now carrying large investments in properties which are still in the process of being developed and equipped.

Among the enterprises in which The American Metal Company, Limited, has substantial holdings are Roan Antelope Copper Mines, Limited, The Bwana M'Kubwa Copper Mining Company, Limited, and Rhodesian Selection Trust, Limited. The mines owned by these companies are in northern Rhodesia, and developments have proven the existence of very large ore reserves at all of these mines.

INDENTURE PROVISIONS:—The Indenture will provide, among other things, that the Company will not pay any dividends on its common stock other than stock dividends, or purchase any shares of its stock of any class, unless after such payment or purchase the consolidated surplus of the Company and its subsidiaries shall be at least $7,000,000. The Indenture will further provide that neither the Company nor any subsidiary (as defined in the Indenture) will mortgage or pledge any of its property without ratably securing these Four-Year 5½% Gold Notes, except for purchase money or construction mortgages and liens, pledges of current assets in the usual course of business securing loan and maturing not more than one year from date of creation, and renewals of any thereof.

EARNINGS:—The consolidated income of the Company for the past five years, as certified by Messrs. Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery, Accountants and Auditors, before depreciation, depletion, interest on bank obligations and provision for Federal income taxes, and before the deduction of the net amount of extraordinary or non-recurring items of income and expense averaging $337,467.18 per annum, has been as follows:

1925	$5,720,104.12	5.20

1929	5,012,766.83	4.55
Average	4,791,884.50	4.35

The above figures are before deduction of depreciation and depletion which averaged $1,142,737.95 per annum, but do not give effect to the use of the proceeds of the new financing except to the extent of the elimination of interest on bank obligations which interest averaged about $235,000 per annum for the above period.

ASSETS:—After giving effect to the application of the proceeds of these Notes, the Pro Forma Balance Sheet as of December 31, 1929 shows current assets of $41,322,557.50, and current liabilities of $6,514,933.48, a ratio of 6.34 to 1. The foregoing current assets do not include investments in various mining properties carried at a cost of $17,576,309.06 but having a market value February 28, 1930 in excess of $25,000,000. The Pro Forma Balance Sheet shows net assets, before deducting these Notes, of $72,385,168.98 equivalent to over $3,600 per $1,000 Note, and net current assets of $34,807,624.02 equivalent to over $1,700 per $1,000 Note.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE:—These Notes are being issued by the Company to retire outstanding bank obligations and to provide additional working capital for developments, extensions and other corporate purposes.

MANAGEMENT:—The properties of the Company will continue to be managed by those individuals who have been responsible for the successful operation of the Company in the past.

Application will be made to list these notes on the New York Stock Exchange.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Boulevard: Washington at Vermont—"Love, Or Please." Without much invention Hollywood becomes a farce and satire with Ben Lyon, Music, dancing and Frank Richardson.

Biltmore, 5th nr. Grand—"Across the World with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson." These intrepid travelers camera and liver and lay bare for placid citizenry Mother Nature at her wildest.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"Happy Days." Fox Grandeur film amazes the public with shows of the great possibilities of the future. The subject matter is a musical show by the stars.

Criterion, 642 South Grand—"Phantom of the Opera." The phantom comes to life again in a revival of the old thriller. Some bad dialogue.

Figueroa, Fig. at Santa Barbara—"Hit the Deck," a rollicking musical comedy which features the frolicsome Jack Oakie.

Filmarte, 1228 Vine—"In Talarne and Jerusalem." Religion and love vie among Jerusalem's sights and Land there, after sixteen reels, is Jerusalem.

Forum, Fig. at Norton—"Half Way to Heaven." A quiet, charming little romance of strange stars. Buddy Rogers and Joan Arthur.

Grauman's Chinese, 6925 Hollywood Blvd.—"Seven Keys," Lawrence Tibbett, as a sleuth, is impressive on the screen this week in a vaguely romance of nearly great quality.

Grauman's Egyptian, 6708 Hollywood Blvd.—"Song of the Flame." Carlo Tajiaa and it is well said that she and Clarence Brown have not spoiled O'Neill.

Loew's State, Broadway at Seventh—"Mother Knows." Ruth Chatterton makes us the desert, then reveals in a society role of wanting her husband's adoring. Chatterton remains the center of interest.

Million Dollar, Broadway at Third—"Street of Chance." A well-made drama about a gambler and his luck. With William Powell and Kay Francis.

Orpheum, Broadway bet. 6th and 7th—"The Lone Star Ranger."

Paramount, Hill at Sixth—"Young Desire." Reminiscent of "Wings," though not nearly as exhilarating. Charles Rogers is the hero again.

Rita, 5900 Wilshire—"The Bishop Murder Case." Crime exquisitely executed and ingeniously solved. Basil Van Dine manner, with Basil Rathbone.

R.K.O., 842 at Eighth — "Officer O'Brien." The father and son theme between Edmund O'Brien, the cop, and Ernest Torrence walks away with both.

R.K.O. Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth—"Ladies of Leisure." A girl's career for "entertainment" purposes. Ina Claire with Barbara Stanwyck and excellent cast.

Tower, Edwy. at 8th.—"The Green Goddess." George Arliss plays it his best manner and again shows that it can do no wrong.

United Artists, Edwy. at 9th.—"Hallelujah!" Romance of Negro's heart, music and life made exciting by King Vidor and script and daily rots. With Lope Velez and Jean Hersholt.

Uptown, Western at 16th.—"The Lone Star Ranger." George O'Brien answers the call of the great open spaces and becomes one of nature's noblemen for an hour.

Warners' Downtown, Hill at 7th.—"Under a Texas Moon." Frank Fay does a mistake and strums merrily away on a guitar. Fairly amusing.

Warners' Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"Hold Everything." A rough and ready musical with Joe E. Brown and Winnie Lightner in hilarious roles.

Westlake, 636 Alvarado — "The Lone Star Ranger."

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at 11th.—"East of Suez." Leslie Ulric dazzles theatergoers with her dynamic personality in this Somerset Maugham love tale of a call-caste.

El Capitan, Hollywood Blvd. nr. Highland Avenue (Direct).—Family life in the raw is always good for a hearty laugh in a while a week. Percy Pollock is starred as the all-American husband.

Hollywood Playhouse, 1733 Vine—"Mr. and Mrs. Bumps." Mr. Bobsoll again attacks the problems of eternal youth and romance in a lively horse play about a man who tried to be the ways of love.

Mason, Edwy. nr. 1st.—"Rah Rah Zaza." Waring's Pennsylvanians entertain with Betty Compson, Hugh Trevor and the rest in fair, fair. Dorothy Lee, Evelyn Hall and others are capable.

Majestic, Edwy. at 9th.—"The Desert Song." Perry Aiken and Josephine Moore sing the love songs of the desert and of the desert by storm.

Mission Play, San Gabriel—The beautiful annual presentation of the settling of California, up to its usual standard. With R. D. MacLean.

Music Box, 6126 Hollywood Blvd.—"The Hero." A story about a man who spent over the top in life, splendidly performed by Grant Mitchell.

Pasadena Community — "Spindrift." Martin Flavin, the author, lends amateurs $10 suitable art colony, with Martha Dean, Otmor Brown and others.

President, Edwy. at 6th.—"Your Uncle Dudley." Harry Tighe plays a small-town character and indulges in some of his regular humor.

Vine-street, 1615 Vine—"Philadelphia." Shenkins and graft in a lawyer's office make a crude sort of drama. Unfortunately Rockcliffe Fellowes is potted in the first act.

YOUTH LEAPS FROM HIGH BRIDGE TO DEATH

PEEKSKILL (N. Y.) April 6. (Exclusive)—Before the eyes of scores of parked and passing motorists, an 18-year-old youth leaped 180 feet to his death from the towering Peekskill-Bear Mountain bridge at 4:30 p.m. today and sank in the swift current of the Hudson River. He was Clifford Kellogg, a student, son of Royal S. Kellogg of Yonkers. The father is secretary of the Newsprint Service Bureau and a prominent figure in the wood-pulp paper industry of the United States and Canada. Friends of the youth could ascribe no motive for the act.

FARMER KILLED WHEN OLD FEUD FLARES UP

OWINGSVILLE (Ky.) April 6. (AP) One man was killed and another probably fatally wounded as a six-teen-year-old feud flared up anew at Olympia, near here, today. Curt Crouch, a farmer, was shot to death and Jim Pergrem wounded in the exchange of bullets. Marshall Pergrem, brother of Jim, was unhurt.

Flyer Mooney Hops to Chicago

CHICAGO, April 6. (AP)—Albert W. Mooney, Wichita flyer whose attempt to establish a transcontinental record for light airplanes ended in a forced landing at Fort Wayne, Ind., yesterday after a 2000-mile flight from Los Angeles, arrived here in the plane today.

Leaving Fort Wayne this morning, he decided to stop over here until tomorrow, when he will hop off for Wichita. He said he believes his flight has set a record for light model planes. Mooney started his cross-country attempt early Friday from Los Angeles.

LEGAL TEACHING ILLS DIAGNOSED

Carnegie Foundation Finds "Two Major Deficiencies"

Sacrifice of Expertness to Theory, Chief Charge

Too Little Stress Put on Morals, Says Report

NEW YORK, April 6. (Exclusive) The sacrifice of practical expertness to theoretical knowledge and insufficient attention paid to moral character and professional ideals are found to be the "two major deficiencies of legal education" by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching in its annual review of legal education, issued today.

The first charge, that of sacrificing practical expertness to theoretical knowledge, the report declares, "is directed primarily at the law schools, but involves also bar admission authorities, who, if the charge is justified, do not take adequate steps either to bring back the law schools to the path from which they have strayed, or to supplement, by independent means, the characteristic deficiencies of law-school teaching. The second charge, that of paying insufficient attention to moral character and professional ideals is leveled primarily at the bar admission authorities, but law schools it is generally felt cannot escape their share of the responsibility.

COMMON ORIGIN

The report finds that the two defects have a common origin, the root of the difficulty being the "peculiar complexity of American law." The problem that confronts practical deans or law examiners seem to be "not how to produce results that would be attainable in an ideal world, nor even results that already in other countries are measurably attained. Their task is to meet the undeniably difficult situation in which they find themselves by taking whatever steps they can to make the coming generation of American lawyers competent and high-minded."

No great reliance, the review finds, can be placed upon the supposedly "practical" tendencies of certain features of law school work, it being "impossible to reproduce under the artificial conditions of a law school, the unsystematized and challenging responsibilities of genuine professional experience."

"RESULTS NEGLIGIBLE"

Likewise "the practical results attained by the direct drive by bar examiners and law schools on 'character' have hitherto been negligible."

The report deplores the public tendency to judge the legal profession by the examples of its least worthy members, saying that "among the ranks of practicing lawyers and judges as in any other considerable body of men there is always sure to be a certain number of evildoers and doubtless the prevailing lax requirements for admission to practice have contributed to increase the number."

Of the various means suggested to make practical experience fruitful for the law student or young lawyer, the most promising is found to be the project of a probationary period or "junior bar," a reform indorsed by both lawyers and laymen which has the special merit of not imposing any real additional burden upon those who seriously intend, and are temperamentally qualified, to take up the practice of law as a profession.

Negro Confesses Murder of Boy

DUBUQUE (Iowa) April 6. (AP)—Anthony Mann, 40 years of age, negro, confessed slayer of Earl Tague, 16-year-old St. Paul youth, was returned to St. Paul today in the custody of Minnesota officials.

Arrested last night by Dubuque officials as he hopped off a Chicago Great Western freight train, Mann shortly after confessed the killing. He related that he had lured the boy to his home, beaten him with a pick, stripped him and took the body to a lonely spot along a railroad track near the St. Paul Airport. Mann would add nothing to his confession today. He gave no reason for killing the boy in his statement to Chief of Police Giellis. Police described the slayer as being subnormal mentally.

BRITISH STATESMAN TO WED FOURTH TIME

LONDON, April 6. (AP)—Will Thorne, veteran Labor member of the House of Commons, is about to marry for the fourth time. He is 72 years of age, and his prospective bride is 42. His third wife died in 1926, leaving him with two sons and six daughters. Thorne was working in a barber's shop at the age of 6. With others in 1889 he founded the National Union of General and Municipal Workers and has been its general secretary since.

BOMB WRECKS SALOON AND JARS POLICEMEN

CHICAGO, April 6. (AP) — A bomb exploding in the doorway of a Southside saloon operated by Patrick Gallagher as two patrolmen were passing today showered the officers with debris. Neither was injured, however. The resort was closed at the time of the explosion, which wrecked the place. Police attributed the bombing to a beer feud.

YOUTH HOLDS UP MOTHER

SACRAMENTO, April 6. (AP)—John Cautley, 14 years of age, who barricaded himself armed with a shotgun in the attic of his home here last month, was reported by police to have held up Mrs. George Krausse, his mother, today and robbed her of $5. The police lodged him in the detention home.

AUTOMOBILE OVERTURNS

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) April 6. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Herman Chap of Chicago, their daughter and a friend, escaped injury when their automobile overturned on the highway thirty-one miles east of Douglas today. They were traveling from their home in Chicago to Los Angeles.

SENATE RIVALS HURL CHARGES

Ruth McCormick's Hot Shot Aimed at Deneen

"Record of Silence" Sprung on Illinoisan

Incumbent Retaliates With Vague Allusions

CHICAGO, April 6. (Exclusive)—Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick and United States Senator Charles S. Deneen, who are conducting stirring campaigns for nomination for United States Senator from Illinois on the Republican ticket, assailed each other with redoubled fury and zeal today and the placid Sunday afternoon echoed the strife of the Senatorship battle.

The two leading Republican contenders expounded each others' Congressional records and both protested against "propaganda of misrepresentation." As Tuesday's finish approached it took on the appearance of a knockdown and drag-out fight.

PULLS HIS RECORD

Mrs. McCormick discussed Senator Deneen's "record of silence" in the Senate, "the debating body of the national legislature." She declared that in five years the Senator has spoken on only two subjects of State-wide importance. She asserted Mr. Deneen "did not utter a word in the Senate on farm relief, Illinois waterways, immigration, veterans' relief or the Kellogg peace treaties, while on tariff he made one address" "for higher protection for aluminum."

Senator Deneen in his speeches charged Mrs. McCormick with a "shifty campaign." He dwelt upon "alliances with the Crowe-Galpin-Snow machine and the City Hall" and spoke of "players with new masks, but whose voices would show their identity." He declared a "systematic whispering campaign" has been in the background of the "shifting World Court issues."

TO COLORED BRETHREN

Both candidates filled the afternoon with meetings. Each drew a great colored audience, Senator Deneen at Wendell Phillips High School and Mrs. McCormick in the Eighth Regiment Armory, which was packed.

Final blasts are to be fired tomorrow. At noon Mrs. McCormick will appear at the Apollo Theater and Senator Deneen at the Grand Operahouse, where Prof. Charles E. Merriam will preside. These are the last platform meetings and scorching speeches are heralded.

Thence the two candidates take to the air. Senator Deneen will talk over the radio tomorrow night and Mrs. McCormick will speak over a direct hook-up from her farm home on Rock River, near Byron.

MAN SHOT IN RAID ON RADICALS

Italian Sought by Police for Deportation Escapes Amid Disorder

NEW YORK, April 6. (AP)—While police attempted to arrest an Italian alien for deportation today, as he spoke against Fascism to an audience of 1500 in Cooper Union, an unidentified member of the audience was shot dead, another man wounded and five others arrested.

As the officers entered Amanda Borghi, the alien, jumped from the speaker's platform and fled through the crowd, shouting "Stop the police!" He escaped through a door.

Detective Thomas Lillienthal said he dashed after Borchi, but was held and attacked by the crowd. He said he fired one shot in self-protection. The bullet apparently glanced across the chest of Salvator Veluci, 31, of Brooklyn, and buried itself in the abdomen of the unidentified man, who died later in a hospital.

In the disturbance that followed, police reserves arrested five men, three in the auditorium, and two others who said they were helping the critically wounded man to the hospital. The dead man was about 27 years of age. Neither Veluci nor the detective were seriously hurt.

Immigration authorities said Borghi has been sought since 1926, after he came to this country from Canada and overstayed his leave. They said he was marked for his radical and anarchistic activities.

Ten Injured by Launch Blast

LAKEPORT, April 6. (AP) — Ten persons, including a 3-year-old girl, were seriously injured today in the explosion of a pleasure launch in Kenochti Bay on Clear Lake.

The blast is said to have occurred while the launch was at anchor. Among the injured are Duke Evans, owner of the launch, and Mrs. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Zander, 3-year-old Valerie Zander, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Campbell of Berkeley, Mr. and Mrs. Renfree of Richmond and William Cassidy, Lower Lake.

U.C. STUDENT WINS LAW SCHOLARSHIP

WASHINGTON, April 6. (Exclusive)—Eric Cyril Bellquist of the University of California was announced today as one of twelve American college students winning the international law scholarship of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace for the academic year 1930-31. Bellquist will be required to register at some American or foreign university and devote his entire time for the year to the study of international law and relations. He will receive from $1000 to $1800, depending upon the school he attends.

OUTLAW GUSHER SUBDUED

Oklahoma's Wild Well Muzzled for Third Time; Oil Men Doubt Stopper's Holding

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 6. (AP)—The Mary Sudik was shut off at 7:15 o'clock tonight.

For the third time a crew of expert roustabouts has succeeded in muzzling the gusher which for eleven days has ripped and snorted in defiance to all ordinary methods of control.

Engineers of the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company, which owns the well, said tonight they believed the new cap will hold, but doubt prevailed among others.

The doubt arises from the fact that two control gates placed on the well since it blew in March 26 have failed to hold and also because the Mary Sudik has ways of its own. It is something more than an oil-gasser; it is a gusher which contains in its stream a sand blast more powerful than any ever devised by man.

It is this sand blast that has caused engineers worry and thwarted the ordinary methods of controlling such a well. An ordinary well usually cleans itself out after a short blowing period, but the Mary Sudik's stream seems to come from reservoirs which the pressure of the well's great source must have churned for eons. Engineers point out that there never is damaging friction on the casing of an oil well except at the top, where the cap must be placed.

The sand coming from this gusher has chewed all valves placed on it into steel sponge cake and keeps the top casing rim honed down like a razor. Once a leak bubbles through the control valves, havoc sets in and the gusher soon bucks its way to freedom.

A workman who kept watch over the spouter Friday night after the second cap had been clamped down, stopping the gusher's flow temporarily, told about seeing first a bubble appear at the connection and hearing a slight hiss. Soon the hiss became a screech. Realizing that the flow was fast eating out the connections, the engineers gave orders to open the valves and let the well have its way.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

POR EL PROFESOR R. GUERRERO
Encargado de la Sección Española de Este Diario

"¡Hombre! Mañana era su santo, y no tenia más remedio que hacerle un regalo." Con estas palabras comienza el articulo de Belda publicado en esta columna el dia pasado. "Su santo" significa "el dia de su santo"; es decir, el dia en que la iglesia católica celebra la festividad del santo cuyo nombre lleva la persona de quien se habla. En tal ocasión, se hace generalmente una fiesta familiar para agasajar a esa persona, y amigos y parientes le hacen regalos. Tanto estos regalos como los que se dan a alguien el dia de su cumpleaños se llaman "cuelgas", y así se dice, "Carmen tuvo este año muchas cuelgas"; "¿Qué me vas a dar de cuelga, papacito? Mañana es dia de mi santo (es mi santo)".

El protagonista del relato que comentamos nos habla del estado "cloroanémico" de su bolsa, con lo que nos da a entender que sus recursos se reducen casi a cero. En sentido propio, con el nombre de "cloroanemia" se designan diversos estados mórbosos que participan a la vez de los caracteres de la clorosis y de los de la anemia. La clorosis, según nos dice la Enciclopedia de Espasa, es una enfermedad de la sangre propia del sexo femenino en la adolescencia. Se caracteriza por la sensación de fatiga y cansancio extremados, sobre todo por la mañana, en que se quejan las enfermas de hallarse más postradas que cuando se acostaron. Pierden la afición a todo trabajo físico y mental, ya que resulta penoso el esfuerzo más leve. Generalmente durante el dia sobreviene una disminución de estos fenómenos de astenia, y al llegar la noche, la enferma se halla más animada. Hay, además, disnea y palpitaciones cardíacas acompañadas de dolor de cabeza del tipo de cefalagia frontal, y, a veces, de desvanecimientos, lipotimias y síncopes. Es característico el color pálido

CROPS NORMAL IN SOUTHLAND

Agriculture on Even Keel, Chamber Report Shows

Market Conditions Good in East for Citrus

Soil Moisture Declared to be Better Than 1929

Southern California agriculture is normal in every respect at the end of the first quarter of the year, according to Southern California News, the monthly market and crop report of the Chamber of Commerce, issued yesterday. This report states that, while rainfall so far has been below that of last year in some districts, because of its distribution and character precipitation so far has been of much greater value in building up soil moisture than last season. The report continues:

"Markets for most California specialties are receptive with good demand prevailing and the prospects for the next four weeks are promising inasmuch as we are now entering on one of the periods of the greatest consumptive demand for California products. Prices on the early fruit—taking the five-year average for this time of the year they are normal or slightly above normal.

OPTIMISTIC SPIRIT

"One of the most gratifying features of the present agricultural situation is the morale of the growers themselves. Even with the other disturbing statistical position in regard to prices during the coming harvest season facing them, growers of the State are putting their full cultural programs into effect for several years past. They are, however, heeding the advice of extension agencies who have raised a 'go slow' sign before them. While there is a very optimistic feeling throughout the industry that it will be a profitable year generally for agriculture in California, a 'wariness' of new interest in agriculture is seen in the increased interest in farm lands. This is especially true in the San Joaquin Valley, where sales have shown a startling increase since the first of the year. The fact that most of the land purchases in this section have been made by persons living in the same county or district is a testimony on the underlying soundness of these sections. Most of the land sold is undeveloped property; the movement of improved acreage has not been great. It is the belief that with the strengthening of the agricultural situation owners do not have the urgent desire to sell improved properties at less as evidenced a year or more ago.

HARVEST CONSUMPTION

"Fruit is the heaviest consuming crop in California oranges and, with Florida shipments tapering off, the orange market is expected to continue in the strong tenure of the last few weeks. There should be no difficulty experienced in putting the remaining light Navel crop into consumption at good prices before the crop start to move. Miscellaneous varieties have been selling well.

"The avocado industry is showing remarkable new strength with the increasing membership of the California Growers of California, the co-operative marketing organization in the industry. During the first part of April prices were much higher than at any previous time in the same quality of fruit. The crop of Fuertes declined rapidly during March and the miscellaneous varieties which are running are extremely large size are now moving. A preliminary estimate by the Calavo Growers of California indicates a total crop of avocados for 1931.

SEASONAL BLOOM

"Reports from conditions in the deciduous-fruit districts are reported as generally with normal bloom for this season. Additional rainfall is needed, although the soil moisture situation in most deciduous districts is far better than last year at this time. Frost hazards are yet to be met, with the entire month of April a danger period. It will be recalled that last year the deciduous crop in Northern and part of Central California was practically ruined by April frosts.

"Generally, dried-fruit markets are in better shape at the present time, a situation attributed to the improved economic situation in eastern consuming centers. However, stocks of many California dried fruits are low and it is expected that there will be little, if any, carryover this year of certain prunes going into the trade at the opening prices.

"Interest is being planted throughout the state with acreage in prunes and apricots showing the greatest increase."

LITTLE MERMAID HERE FROM HAWAII

Josephine Hunter

"Little but Oh, My!" is Josephine, 9-year-old daughter of Boatswain and Mrs. John L. Hunter, arriving from Hawaii yesterday bound for the Navy base at San Diego.

For plain and fancy diving she has a small trunk full of Hawaiian gold medals, ribbons and such, many against grown men and women. Her record put briefly, still is quite lengthy, but nothing to what it promises to be.

In 1927 she learned to swim. In 1928 she won a gold medal and school letter in Honolulu city-wide school meet, and a gold medal in the Acme League.

In 1929 she "settled down to work." That is, competing against grown nymphs, she took second place in the women's high tower plain diving under A.A.U., and first place in women's ten-foot fancy springboard diving.

Only nine of the eleven meets in 1930 were completed when she left Hawaii, but she had piled up enough points to assure her first place. These all were against grown women. Incidentally she received a silver cup for beating five gold medal men in five meets out of nine.

She is expected to figure in coast competitions this summer.

WOODHOUSE OBSEQUIES TO BE TODAY

Body of Wealthy Doctor Will be Cremated After Rites in Pasadena

Funeral services will be conducted at the Turner & Stevens mortuary, Pasadena, at 2 p.m. today for Dr. Henry J. Woodhouse, wealthy retired physician, 79 years of age, who shot himself Friday night in a fit of despondency over failing health. Rev. J. B. Bell will officiate at the obsequies, following which the body will be cremated.

The death of Dr. Woodhouse was established as suicide following an investigation by deputy sheriffs when they learned bullet wounds had been found in the body during an autopsy, although the physician originally was reported to have died of heart disease. Corroboration of the suicide theory was given by Charles Woodhouse, a brother of the physician. He told deputies he had exhibited a .22-caliber re-

WARNERS PLAN LARGE OUTPUT

Year's Film Productions to Cost $20,000,000

Forty-two Pictures Will be Feature Length

Half-Million Involved in Studio Expansion

The largest production program in the history of Warner Brothers Pictures is planned for the coming year, Vice-President J. L. Warner announces. More than $20,000,000 is to be expended on 1930 productions, he said.

"This year's expenditures will exceed those of any previous year by many thousands of dollars," Warner stated. "We will make forty-two feature-length pictures, at a cost of more than $17,500,000. Our short subjects will cost an additional $2,500,000. All of the feature pictures, and most of the short subjects will be made in Hollywood."

NEW CONSTRUCTION

In order to care for this increased production, Warner said, a half-million dollar construction program is just being completed at their Sunset Boulevard studios, the Vitagraph studios and Warner Brothers ranch, south of Burbank on the Los Angeles River.

Every Warner Brothers picture is now an all-talking picture, and in addition to the English versions, many versions are being made in various languages, requiring the services of foreign directors and actors. These, too, are being made in Hollywood.

There will also be a number of road show attractions entirely in Technicolor, Warner said.

LIST OF STARS

Stars who will appear in Warner Brothers pictures during the coming year include John Barrymore, George Arliss, Al Jolson, Winnie Lightner, Joe E. Brown, Frank Fay, Alice Gentle, Marian Nixon, H. B. Warner, Vivienne Segal, Grant Withers, Elsie Ferguson, Lila Lee, Lotti Loder, Noah Beery, Conrad Nagel, Walter Pidgeon, Tully Marshall, Oiesen and Johnson and a number of Broadway stage players recently brought to the Coast on picture contracts. Included in this list are Irene Delroy, Jack Whiting, Claudia Dell and Evelyn Knapp.

Directors now under contract to Warner Brothers include Roy Del Ruth, Alan Crosland, Michael Curtis, John Adolfi, Lloyd Bacon, Archie Mayo, Ray Enright, Al Green, William Wellman and Robert Milton.

OTHER DEPARTMENTS

The writers now under contract are Vina Delmar, Oscar Hammerstein II, J. Grubb Alexander, L. G. Rigby, Arthur Caesar, Walter Anthony, Joe Jackson, Charles Kenyon, F. Hugh Herbert, George Rosener, Wilson Collison, Cyril Hume, Sid Silvers, Rex Taylor, Harvey Thew, Perry Vekroff, Maude Fulton, Lucien Hubbard, Goettler, Meyers and Mitchell, Oliver H. P. Garrett and Marshall Neilan.

The music department is under Robert Crawford, with Erno Rapee as musical director in chief and Louis Silvers musical director. Among the composers are Sigmund Romberg, Jerome Kern, Oscar Straus, Al Dubin, Joe Burke, Otto Harbach, M. K. Jerome, Harold Berg, Bud Green, Sam Stept, Eddie Ward, Al Bryan, Lou Pollack and Mort Dixon.

J. L. Warner is in charge of production, Darryl Zanuck, associate executive. The West Coast short-subject department is under the supervision of Bryan Foy, with A. M. Saloman business manager, and Foy, Larry Ceballos, Roy Mack, Del Lord, Carl McBride and Robert Alton directors.

Beach Survey Plan Approved

A request that the City Council shall transfer to the Playground and Recreation Department the Venice shore-protection fund of $30,362.36 for use in surveys and projects to protect the whole of Santa Monica Bay beach, from Topanga Canyon to White's Point, has been approved by the Playground and Recreation Commission, on recommendation of Supt. Hoyt.

Providing the fund is made available the department plans to employ an outstanding engineer in a consulting capacity and a civil engineer from the civil-service list to make a survey of currents, changing of the sands and effects of groins at an estimated cost of $8500.

FOUR LITTLE MAIDS FROM TOKIO

Bring Nippon's Thanks for Aid in Time of Woe

Ambassadresses of Amity

A ROUND of entertainment has been planned for the four Japanese girl envoys of good-will who will arrive in Los Angeles this morning. Dinner parties, official visits, entertainment at the motion-picture studios and trips through the Southland are in the plans.

These four young women, chosen as being among the fairest in all Japan, come to give thanks to America for aid given their country after the earthquake of 1923. The affair is arranged by Jiji Shimpo, a newspaper of Tokio. A trip to the principal cities of the United States is planned.

In the party are Miss Kimi Asino, daughter of a naval officer; Miss Sumiko Tokuda, daughter of an army officer; Miss Yoshiko Sato, daughter of Baron Sato, and Miss Yoshiko Matsudaira, cousin of Princess Chichibu. They are accompanied by Mrs. Toshiko Matsudaira, Miss Keiko Nakamura and H. Yokayama, representing the newspaper which sent them on their mission.

Charles Cooke of the Chamber of Commerce with a representative of the Japanese Consulate will meet the party at Santa Barbara and will convey it to the Biltmore on arrival here. The girls will make an official call on Mayor Porter at the City Hall between 11 and 12 o'clock, after which they will go to the Chamber of Commerce for luncheon and will meet the publishers of Los Angeles newspapers. DEATH FAILS TO STALK ON AUTO ROADS

Only Five Injured in Sunday Traffic Accidents; One in Critical Condition

Only five victims of traffic accidents were reported by the police yesterday and only one of those was of a serious nature. The critically injured victim is Arthur Collins, 26 years of age, who suffered a crushed chest when the car in which he was riding crashed into a telephone pole at Ninety-sixth street and Central avenue. The driver of the car, Ben W. Haynes, was taken in custody on suspicion of intoxication charges.

Collins lives at 117 Florence avenue. At the Georgia street Receiving Hospital physicians asserted he may die.

L. Ladigan, 31 years of age, of 247 East Sixth street, Long Beach, received a broken leg when the car in which he was a passenger, collided with a freight train at Sixth and Alameda streets. He was rid-

LONG BEACH, April 6.—Twins—young ones, old ones, heavy ones, light ones; some that cannot be distinguished one from the other and some that do not resemble each other in any manner—held the center of attention here this afternoon.

They flocked here—310 pairs of them—to compete for prizes in the annual twin convention and parade along the amusement strand.

After reviewing a number of duplicate couples competing for the prize offered for the pair most alike the judges gave up in despair and called this contest off.

They awarded prizes for other classes, however, with Lillian, Elisa-

Leo and Leota Dodson, 12, 444 East State street, were judged the most unlike. Leo weighs 130 pounds and his sister eighty pounds.

An interesting group consisted of the oldest twins present together with a pair of the youngest. A. T. McCarger and A. L. McCarger are 80, exactly the same height and weigh within a pound of each other. During the contest they fraternized with Baby Kenneth Homan and Baby Don Howard Homan, 8-months-old twins.

PARK PLAN OPPONENTS WAGE FIGHT

Half of Property Owners in Arroyo Seco Project Protest Move to Council

One of the most interesting battles in municipal annals is to be expected when the City Council resumes its deliberations on the acquisition of 186 acres in Arroyo Seco for Victory Park No. 2, next Thursday afternoon.

For four days last week the Council listened to appeals against the assessments, which will aggregate $867,014, and they are by no means completed.

While 600 legal appeals were filed, many contain a multitude of names, so that approximately 7000 property owners of the 14,598 parcels of property involved are said to be protesting. While without legal standing the result of a postcard referendum showing 8000 opposed to the project is being read into the record.

According to former Councilman Alber, one of the protestants, the City Charter requires that before property can be acquired for park purposes it must have the approval of the Park Commission, which this project at present lacks. That may be arranged during the week, however.

Before the hearing is resumed the Council will make a visit to the site of the proposed park.

Money Left in Trust for Child

Ruth Wilde, 7 years of age, will enjoy the income of a $50,000 trust fund from the estate of her father, the late Ted Wilde, it appears from records of probate court. Mrs. Phyllis Wilde, Ruth's widowed mother, known on the screen as Phyllis Andrews, will return to motion-picture work, according to her attorney, Isadore Morris.

Wilde died while working on a picture for Harold Lloyd last summer.

DEPUTY LEAVES TO RETURN FUGITIVE

William Pittman, secretary to former United States District Judge Henning, left yesterday for England to bring back Claude W. Daniels, 24 years of age, former book-keeper for the First National Bank of Fresno, indicted here on a charge of misapplication of bank funds. Daniels is accused of misapplying nearly $7000 of bank funds, but his activities are said to cover about $70,000. He was traced to Houston, Tex., and from there to England, where he was arrested.

FRIEDLANDER MAKES DENIAL

Berman Story of Campaign Deal Declared False

Former State Corporation Official Cites Record

Appointment Due to Strong Indorsement, He Says

Emphatic denial that his appointment was the result of any funds contributed to the campaign of Gov. Young by S. C. Lewis, convicted former head of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, was made yesterday by Jack Friedlander, former State Corporation Commissioner.

At the same time Friedlander, in discussing charges made before the grand jury by Jacob Berman, that Lewis had used $250,000 in backing Gov. Young with a view to influencing the handling of affairs in the Corporation Commissioner's office, declared that his connection with the Julian corporation is a matter of official record.

FILES WILL SPEAK

Friedlander also made it plain that the files of the office during his two-year incumbency are available to the grand jury for investigation, and will reveal his complete connection with the Julian matters.

"The files will speak for themselves," Friedlander said. "They are very complete and will show the most minute and correct details of all activities under my supervision. I have not had occasion to go through them since I resigned the office, but they will state facts which I already know. They are available, however, for any kind of investigation."

The former commissioner, focal point of the testimony of Berman and the asserted campaign contribution, also let it be known that he does not know the grand jury witness. He also said that his acquaintance with Lewis is very limited, and confined solely to a visit to his office early in 1927.

NO HINT OF DEBT

"The only time I met Lewis," said Friedlander, "was when he came to my office to try to readjust the Julian mess. That must have been in March or April, 1927. It was, as I remember it now, immediately preceding the collapse and blow-up.

"I did not meet Lewis before my appointment by Gov. Young, and I have never met Berman," he said.

Friedlander, in discussing his appointment as State Corporation Commissioner, declared that it was made plain to him at the time that he was named on account of the strong indorsements sent the Governor by Los Angeles business men and political leaders.

"There was never any intimation of any kind that my appointment was to pay a political debt or fulfill a pre-election promise," Friedlander said.

"I knew that there were several applicants for the position, and when I received my notification from Gov. Young by letter I was informed that it came to me because of the numerous indorsements forwarded to him by prominent bankers and business men. The letter made that particular point very plain, and also let me know that I was not the personal choice of the Governor."

Investigation by the grand jury will be resumed tomorrow, and it is reported that Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan, asserted to have been Gov. Young's choice for the Corporation Commission appointment at the time Friedlander was named, will be a witness.

MAY FACE JURY

Just what phase of the ramifications of the Julian inquiry will be taken up with the Lieutenant-Governor, who was one of the receivers for the defunct corporation, and now head of the reorganized company, was not made known. Information that Mr. Carnahan would appear before the jury tomorrow came through the issuance of the summons.

There were some reports yesterday that Friedlander will also be called. The jury, when it adjourned for the week-end, had spent three days in hearing former employees of the Corporation Commission office, as well as some now on the office staff.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

I CAN'T help a half-regret that Mexico is steaming ahead toward progress.

It will not be long until the wise old burro has to yield the road to the Ford truck.

Mexico is so colorful and so beautiful.

THE WISE BURRO

Until now its destiny has literally been carried on the back of the burro. We pass hundreds of them every day—burros packed with firewood split for the market—burros hitched in double teams three abreast drawing huge wagons, which threaten to engulf them; burros with little bare-legged boys; burros standing in philosophical calm in the middle of the road.

MEXICAN RANCH HOUSES

All through this part of Mexico is a type of house that I have never seen before . . . the rural ranch house—the home of the hacendado.

Most of these ranch houses are very old; their land titles reach back to the days of the Spanish conquistadores; their great beams show the crude scars of Indian axes.

NATIVE ARCHITECTURE

The architecture of all these houses is very much the same.

Usually a wide hall goes from the front of the house straight through the middle to a beautiful patio filled with palms and rose gardens. At one side of this hallway are the bedrooms; on the other side the dining-rooms and kitchens.

The casa at the old mill at Los Angeles (Sonora) is the most beautiful I have seen. The rooms are enormous. The white bed looks like a feather floating on a sea.

There is one general bathroom; but the bathtub is a cement lake. The tub at the mill is at least fifteen feet long and about six feet deep.

PEON HUTS

All peasant architecture of all countries is beautiful, because it is made of the landscape.

Even the little huts of the peons have charm.

Every Mexican laborer brings along his wife and children to the job. The laborers on Gov. Elias's new roads have built themselves ramadas that are lovely. They hug the banks of the wide irrigation ditches where the women wash the family clothes by slapping them on the wet rocks.

In most cases the houses are four upright poles which twist and squirm just as they grew. The roof is a thatch of palm-fronds and the sides are of arrow-weed lashed together by tules. It is unimaginable that there could be anything more unconsciously beautiful or simple.

A HERDER CAMP

I visited a vaquero station where the herder lives with his wife and children. It is near an old well dug down by hand for seventy-five feet and lined with masonry. You see the well through a great gate of beams so old that they are faded to soft grays and delicate shades of tan. This gateway dates back to Spanish grandees whose names have been forgotten. Wandering around among the dogs and the children is a pet deer—as gentle and as indifferent as the burros. The family of peons "goes with the ranch." For centuries its forefathers have herded its cattle. Owners change, patron families die out; but these herders are

OLD STREET OPENS EASTER

Paseo de Los Angeles New Name for Olvera; Shops Ready for Preview

After more than a year's effort to obtain co-operation in the project and to carry out the reconstruction program, historic Olvera street which contains two of the oldest houses in Los Angeles, will be thrown open to the public on Easter Sunday, the 20th inst., according to an announcement made yesterday.

Rechristened as Paseo De Los Angeles, (Pathway of the Angels,) the street that was once trod by Felipe De Neve when leading his conquistadores and a group of mission fathers and Indians to found the city of Los Angeles, will be opened as a permanent attraction along the lines of an old Mexican market place.

The old Avila adobe, once American army headquarters after the seizure of the city from the Mexicans in 1847 and which was built about 140 years ago, is one of the central attractions in the street. Besides this building, the street also contains the old Pelanconi winery, the first brick structure erected in Los Angeles, which has been refinished and will contain La Golondrina, an attractive Spanish cafe, and several shops. All of the shops on the street will carry out their decorative scheme in keeping with the atmosphere of the street and many are already completed awaiting the opening. Further to carry out the atmosphere, all of the venders and shopkeepers in the street, of which there will be nearly 150 will dress in Mexican costume.

The street was recently paved with old padre tile, the improvement being carried out on the plan of the Mexican v-type street. Several trees have already been planted in the roadway itself which is

CENSUS GAPS TO BE FILLED

"Shock Troops" Will Take Field This Week to Get Answers From Obstinate Citizens

The "shock troops" of the Federal census enumerators will take the field some time this week, according to officials of the United States Census Bureau here, to finish the few cases where full information has been refused to the regular enumerators. The census enumerators have been instructed, the supervisors said, to pass over homes where violent opposition is shown against giving the required information and await the arrival of a trained group of field men.

The field men will be expected to use their most diplomatic and "high-powered salesmanship" in obtaining the census answers from obstinate citizens and then if all else fails, the supervisors will call in the long arm of Federal law.

Instances where full information has been refused to the enumerators have been rare, the supervisors said, and the only real reluctance has been when a few persons have imagined the queries would take a long time and asked the enumerators to return at some other time.

A. C. Munson, supervisor of the Los Angeles central district, declared yesterday that the average time required to answer all of the questions is from three to five minutes. "No one should fear that the enumerators will take a great deal of time to fill in their blanks simply because the sheets are very large. The fact is that each sheet has space for 100 names and the process is really very simple."

Mr. Munson declared that the Los Angeles area should be completed in another two weeks and outside supervisors estimate their time required variously from another week to a full month in the rural districts.

BANDIT QUEEN SUSPECT HELD

Talking Too Much Results in Her Apprehension

Asserted Spree Declared to Have Caused Arrest

Man Later Put in Custody Accused as Aide

She talked too much and now Miss Virginia Wilbanks, 22 years of age, of 210 West Forty-third Place, is in the County Jail charged with being the "bandit queen" who held up and robbed two pharmacies, one confectionery store and a taxi cab driver in one night last October.

Because Miss Wilbanks insisted on having the last word with a police officer, Theodore M. Anderson, 25, of 2108 Maple avenue, also is charged with robbery in the University police station. Anderson, according to Detective Lieutenant Donohue, drove an automobile for the girl during the robberies.

Confessions of the robberies have been obtained from both suspects, Donohue said.

Miss Wilbanks was taken into custody on Jefferson street near the police station for being in an intoxicated condition. She is said to have been singing and dancing with one shoe missing. When an officer stopped her she began to talk. Unable to quiet her, the officer took her to the station.

Three several detectives undertook the task, but the girl kept on talking. Taking advantage of several remarks she made the detectives succeeded in getting admissions from her, they said, which implicated herself and Anderson as bandit suspects.

Anderson was found serving six months in the Lincoln Heights Jail for carrying a concealed weapon. He once served a sentence in the Arizona State penitentiary, Donohue declared.

According to the detective, the girl and Anderson both admitted robbing a taxicab driver near Westlake Park and then using his cab to hold up the pharmacies and the Academy Den, a confectionery store at 4823 South Normandie avenue.

Chamber May Urge Additional "Guest Houses"

California's new "guest house," recently opened by the State Department of Agriculture on the west bank of the Colorado River, opposite Yuma, to be jointly used by the department's quarantine division and the motor patrol, may be urged by the Chamber of Commerce here as a model for the erection of similar buildings at other gateways to the State.

Details of the new building were outlined recently by R. R. Rowland, traffic manager of the chamber, from officials of the Department of Agriculture with the view of presenting the matter of additional buildings to the chamber's transportation and highways committee. According to Brashear, both President Austin and Secretary-Manager Arnold of the chamber have received letters from tourists, commenting on the "guest house" and expressing the view that necessary examinations of new arrivals in the State by agricultural quarantine officials and the motor patrol is made more agreeable with the facilities of the guest house.

Dr. Woodhouse killed himself in a house he owned at 2560 San Pascuale street, San Marino. Prior to taking his life, however, he had made his home at the residence of Mrs. Ida E. Allen, 307 Henrietta street, Pasadena.

Besides his brother, Charles, Dr. Woodhouse leaves a son, Edward Woodhouse, professor of botany at Stanford University, and a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Woodhouse, associated with the New York Public library.

THREE SCHEDULED IN COURT

Three men will appear today before United States District Judge Willis in connection with charges of possession of counterfeit 25-cent pieces. Pearl E. Bell will appear for sentence and the date for the trial of George Gourdin and Arthur Stager will be set by the court.

pect well below the record crop of last year. Present estimates are for about a 22 per cent cut in acreage in the State, which means a planting of around 250,000 acres, or practically equivalent to the 1928 acreage. Arizona will cut her acreage 30 per cent; Lower California, 20 per cent, and New Mexico about 5 per cent.

COTTON STOCKS LOW

"Although buying demand for California beans has been quiet during the month, storage stocks are low and it is expected that the remainder of the 1929 crop will move into the trade at present satisfactory prices with promises of advances on lima beans and blackeyes.

"Sugar-beet plantings show about a 10 per cent reduction over last year, but due to the character of rainfall so far received good stands have developed on most acreage and tonnage prospects at this time are excellent. Thinning is going forward in some sections.

PRICES SATISFACTORY

"During the last weeks of March, storage stocks of alfalfa still in the producing districts were fairly heavy, although some sections were moving out old hay rapidly. Cutting will start in earnest in most alfalfa districts during April. Green feed continues to be plentiful with most dairymen taking advantage of this supply. However, increasing interest is being shown in future orders of alfalfa at present prices, which show a range of $17 to $21 a ton, according to grade.

"Movement of spring vegetables from California and Arizona is under way in volume with prices satisfactory. Movement at this time is confined largely to Central California districts, where earlier shipments of lettuce, peas, cauliflower and carrots are going forward. Arizona is completing a satisfactory lettuce deal."

LIBRARY TO OPEN TODAY AT VENICE

Beach Building Will be Forty-ninth Branch of Los Angeles Institution

The Los Angeles Public Library's forty-ninth branch, at California and Electric avenues, Venice, will be thrown open to the public today, following dedication ceremonies at 7:30 p.m. The program includes addresses by Mrs. C. W. Holbrook of the Venice Women's City Club, Mark Horton of Venice High School and David J. Witmer, architect, who designed the building. Music will be provided by the Venetian Trio of the Venice Institute of Music. City Librarian Perry will be chairman, assisted by Mrs. C. C. Holliday, in charge of the new branch.

The building is of Italian architecture, with gray stone walls, a tile roof and numerous high windows. It is the thirty-eighth structure in the chain owned by the Los Angeles Public Library, and the fourth completed since May, 1928.

Others are the Felipe De Neve branch, at 2820 West Sixth street, the Sidney Lanier branch at 5311 Tujunga avenue, North Hollywood, and the Henry David Thoreau branch at 3976 South Hobart Boulevard. Two other branches are now under construction, namely the Memorial branch and the John Muir branch, and plans are being drafted for still another, the El Sereno branch on Huntington Drive.

STATUS QUO IN GASOLINE PRICE WAR

Meeting of Independents, This Evening May Lead to End of Hostilities

Pending the meeting of independent gasoline station operators called for this evening, the gasoline price war remained in status quo yesterday with stations handling the major brands maintaining their prices of 18½ cents and 15½ cents a gallon, and stations selling the product of the smaller refineries posting prices which ranged from 15 cents all the way down to 10 cents a gallon. The majority of the latter were selling their gasoline, however, at seven gallons for $1, or 14 2-7 cents a gallon.

The assertion of officials of the major producing companies and of the large retail chains that the independents in the present war have been unable to take enough business from them to make the hostilities worthwhile has led to a belief that the meeting of independents tonight is for the purpose of calling a halt to the warfare. L. W. Sockman, business agent of the independents' association, would not admit, however, that this is the purpose of the meeting. It is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Fraternal Brotherhood Hall, 345 South Figueroa street.

Mission Play to Have First Fiesta Night

Caballeros, dons and senoritas will exemplify the spirit of a by-gone era at the first Old California Fiesta night at the San Gabriel Mission Play, Saturday, under auspices of a committee of Southern California business and social leaders.

A parade and program are scheduled over a course which will begin and end at the Mission Playhouse. The pageant will revive the deeds and habiliments of half a century ago. Spirited mounts and daring riders, costly equipage, two bands, early-day stage coaches and other relics will be displayed to pay tribute to the producer and members of the cast of the Mission Play.

ASSESSMENT SPREAD FOR WATER SERVICE

A report of the Public Works Committee has been adopted by the City Council spreading over the assessment district for the improvement of Clybourn avenue from Victory to Burbank Boulevard half the cost of laying water service mains. The other half is to be absorbed by the Bureau of Water Works and Supply. The property owners' share will amount to $3023.

Jean Maschio

Miss Jean Maschio, junior co-ed at the University of Southern California, has been selected to direct the dances of "Footsteps," the annual all-university extravaganza which is to be presented May 1, 2 and 3 in Bovard Auditorium.

A feature of "Footsteps" will be a fraternity-sorority show act in which the "hits" of past extravaganzas presented at Southern California will be reproduced as song-and-dance numbers.

SCOTCHMAN GETS MONEY FOR STORIES

Robert Watson of Canada, Best Seller Writer, Visits Port After Hawaiian Trip

Most Scotch stories are thrust upon one, but Robert Watson, who arrived from Hawaii on the liner Calawait yesterday, gets real money for his.

ROBT WATSON

But the only thing Scotch about his stories is his nativity, which as Canada's outstanding author, he has been trying to live down many years.

"The little fellow full of big ideas" is the way he is known at Winnipeg, where he dashes off hundreds of marketable yarns, including ten "best sellers," such as "The Mad Minstrel," "High Hazard" and "My Brave and Gallant Gentleman."

Between stories he delves into original Canadian history, and edits Hudson Bay Company's Beaver, now coveted on history bookshelves in both Canada and United States.

Trained seven years as a strong man under Sandow, he became a dash star of Scotland, an accountant, a reporter at Vancouver, and finally, an explorer, fiction writer and publicist.

Over in Hawaii his observation was the islanders are the happiest people alive. He is taking back to Winnipeg several thousand feet of film depicting their lighter vein.

Death Comes to Mrs. Galer

Mrs. Sylvia Etta Galer, 80 years of age, a resident of Los Angeles since 1886, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. Douglas Jackson, 5301 Ninth avenue, early yesterday morning.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Dellenbaugh Chapel, 630 Venice Boulevard, tomorrow at 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. Galer was born in Columbus, O. Her death resulted from ailments attributed to her many years.

She leaves, besides Mrs. Jackson, another daughter, Mrs. L. B. Darby of Glendale, and three sons, Charles E. Galer of South Pasadena; William A. Galer of Long Beach, and one in Oakland. She also leaves two great-grandchildren.

DESERT ISLAND STORY TOLD

Archeologist Here Writes on San Nicolas Finds; Primitive Relics Exhibited at Museum

San Nicolas Island, traditionally famous desert isle, is the subject of an article appearing in Art and Archeology, the official publication of the Archeological Institute of America. This month's installment is the first of two by Bruce Bryan, Los Angeles archeologist, and is an account of the Los Angeles Museum's two months' expedition in 1926. It is one of the few authoritative reports on this little known island, 100 miles off of the Southern California coast.

An enormous collection of prehistoric Indian material was taken off the island, which now is on exhibition at the institution in Exposition Park. Bryan was field archeologist in charge of this scientific expedition, and the results of the work of exploration and excavating are fully told in the article.

Because of its remoteness and inaccessibility, San Nicolas has been more or less free from the depredations of plunderers and relic-hunters. In the last century it engaged the attention of the Smithsonian Institution, which sent a party that remained on the island for about eleven days, collecting the primitive artifacts to be found there. It was the home for twenty years of the famous "Lost Woman," who was abandoned when she jumped overboard from a Santa Barbara Mission rescue boat to find a forgotten infant. San Nicolas has been the scene of expeditions of various natures, of abalone fisheries, smuggling and rum-running activities, and not long ago of a killing.

The Los Angeles Museum's expedition thoroughly and scientifically investigated the aboriginal remains of this barren island.

"Here are undoubtedly the seat of perhaps the mightiest culture of the Pacific Coast in North America, and the Channel Islands were once the center of a thriving, teeming native commerce," Bryan says.

The article is illustrated with photographs taken by the expedition and with pictures of the artifacts and remains brought in. A preliminary report on the exploration of San Nicolas Island also has been forwarded to the Smithsonian Institution by Bryan.

LEGION HEAD TO BE HERE NEXT WEEK

National Commander Will Adress Mass Meeting at Patriotic Hall

O. L. Bodenhamer, National Commander of the American Legion, will be in Los Angeles Tuesday, the 15th inst., to address a mass meeting at Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street, it was announced yesterday in dispatches from national headquarters at Indianapolis. While in the city he will stay at the Alexandria.

Bodenhamer is a native of Texas, but moved later to El Dorado, Ark., where he has played an important part in its progress from an oil-boom town of 2800 population to a thriving community of 30,000. During the World War he joined the Army as a private and two years later was discharged as a major of infantry. As commander of Roy V. Kinard Post, No. 10, of El Dorado, he represented his comrades on the national executive committee, and also served in 1925 on the national legislative committee. He was elected national commander at the Louisville convention.

WEEK-END HOLD-UP AT LOW MARK

One Man Knocked Down and Robbed of $32 Cash; Housekeeper Victimized

Bandit operations in Los Angeles were at a minimum this week-end, according to police reports.

B. L. Lee, 2108 Ripple street, was sitting in a parked machine with two friends at Riverside Drive and Meadowdale avenue when he was robbed of $36 by two armed bandits, according to one report. The men escaped in a large sedan, the victim said.

Pelled by a blow from a bandit's revolver, Ralph Bay of 282 East Forty-sixth street was rendered unconscious and lost $32 in currency. He had been crossing a vacant lot at Main and Forty-sixth streets, his report stated.

Mrs. Seferina Hernandez, a housekeeper at 330 South Westmoreland Place, reported that a man followed her into the drive at that address and snatched her purse containing $10 after threatening her with a revolver.

Girl Tells of Taking Poison

Worry over parental punishment for having run away from home induced Dora Weinstein, 16-year-old daughter of William Weinstein, San Francisco merchant, to take a poison tablet while en route to Los Angeles on the steamship Harvard, the girl declared yesterday. She is at St. Mary's Hospital in Long Beach, where she was removed after the liner docked at Wilmington Saturday morning.

Weinstein arrived in Long Beach yesterday morning and a happy reunion took place at his daughter's hospital cot. Assured of his forgiveness, she explained that she had run away from home and boarded the Harvard at San Francisco on an impulse, and while en route south became suddenly fearful of parental discipline and swallowed a poison tablet.

According to physicians, Miss Weinstein will recover, but will be forced to remain at the hospital for two days for further treatment. She will return north under her father's care.

Law Sanctions Friendly Talks

The fact that Frank N. Kaye, retired Hollywood business man, likes to talk to Herman Schmels, his gardener, does not make him incompetent to handle his business affairs nor does he need a guardian, according to a decision on file in Superior Judge Crail's court.

Relatives of Kaye, who is worth $200,000, filed the petition for guardianship, because, they said, Kaye "acted funny."

Kaye's wife died twenty years ago.

DENTIST'S WIFE FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Cora R. Entriken has sued her husband, Dr. Frank A. Entriken, 510 Wilcox avenue, for divorce, charging that the defendant, who is a dentist, spent too much money entertaining others. Mrs. Entriken asks $500 a month alimony, asserting her husband makes $12,000 a year.

SYMBOLIC TREES PLANNED

Six seeds from the "Friendship Tree" in Bath, Pa., one of twelve saplings presented to George Washington in 1785 by "Lighthorse" Harry Lee, and until 1925 the largest Mediterranean horse chestnut tree in America, have been received by Supt. Frank Shearer of the Park Department for planting at some suitable point in Los Angeles parks.

The seeds were forwarded by Barbara Bayne, tree historian of America, who lives in Inglewood, along with a communication stating that seeds from the famous trees have been sent to many parts of the world to foster international friendship through growth of these trees as symbols.

The Park Commission has directed Shearer to thank the donor and have referred to him the study of the best disposition of the seeds of the tree, which was badly damaged in a gale in 1926.

REVERSAL WON IN LIQUOR CASE

Mrs. Heinke of Long Beach Slated for New Trial

Contraband Found in House That Defendant Owned

Man Found Guilty at Same Time Loses Appeal

Mrs. Belle Heimke, convicted in the Municipal Court at Long Beach on a charge of illegal possession of sixty-nine and one-half gallons of assorted liquors which the police found in a vacant house owned by the defendant, proved to the satisfaction of the Appellate department of the Superior Court, when she appealed her case, that she is innocent. The higher court has reversed the decision of the lower court and remanded the case for a new trial.

The conviction of Henry H. Jewett, formerly a roomer at the house involved, who the police assert was carrying a key to the place and had a case of empty liquor bottles in his car when arrested, was affirmed. He was convicted at the same time as Mrs. Heimke. Both were fined $500.

Mrs. Heimke was ill in a hospital at the time the liquor was found in her house, according to the records. At the trial in the Municipal Court no evidence was adduced by the prosecution to show she had knowledge the stuff was in the house, which was vacant at the time.

Superior Judges McLucas, Shaw and Bishop, presiding in the Appellate department, held that the information against Mrs. Heimke had been sworn to on information and belief and the judgment of the lower court was contrary to the evidence.

Testimony in the lower court against Jewett was to the effect he drove his automobile to the vicinity of the vacant house and when apprehended by the police was carrying a key to it and had a case of empty pint liquor bottles in his car. Jewett, it is asserted, formerly roomed at the house when it was occupied by another tenant. He said he had neglected to return the key.

Trees Removed From Coliseum

In preparation for the enlargement of the Coliseum to accommodate the crowds expected at the Olympic Games in 1932, the Park Department has removed and boxed ninety-five cedar trees from the area around the structure. Some of the trees, from fifteen to twenty feet high, have been replanted at La Fayette Park, at other portions of Exposition Park, and some have been removed to Elysian Park nursery for future planting.

Because of complaint by Mrs. W. G. Brain of 615 South Commonwealth avenue, that eucalyptus trees in La Fayette Park are so high the park view is obstructed from her apartments, the trees, grown to hide an unsightly lot on the corner, are to be topped. The lot has become a private putting course.

Superior Judges McLucas, Shaw and Nelson, presiding in the Appellate department, held that the information against Mrs. Heimke had failed to state an offense and that the judgment of the lower court was contrary to the evidence.

The theory in the lower court was that Jewett was to the effect he had an automobile to the vicinity of the vacant house and when approached by the police was carrying a key to it and had a case of empty pint liquor bottles in his car. Jewett, it is asserted, formerly rented at the house when it was occupied by another tenant. He is said to have neglected to return the key.

SOLO FLIGHT MADE BY HIGH SCHOOL BOY

Walter Lovblad

Just past his sixteenth birthday, Walter Lovblad, Hollywood High School student, has already experienced the thrill of making his first solo flight as an airplane pilot.

At Los Angeles Airport last week young Lovblad, who is barely old enough to pass the government's age requirement for student pilots, was checked on all flying maneuvers by Capt. Peyton Gibson, chief pilot of the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service School, and then soloed.

The youth's quick assimilation of things aeronautical is traced to the fact that he has been studying aviation "on the ground" for several years, waiting until old enough to get Department of Commerce permission to take actual flight training.

Young Lovblad, who gets in his flying hours at the airport three days a week after school hours, lives with his mother, Mrs. Rosalie Lovblad, at 1939 North Kenmore avenue. They moved to this city recently from Rockford, Ill.

MORTALITY IN BUSINESS ANALYZED

Chamber of Commerce's Magazine Devotes Study to Causes of Failures

Declaring that the person starting a business in which he is inexperienced is headed for failure before he is fairly started, James H. Collins, editor of Southern California Business, official magazine of the Chamber of Commerce, devotes his lead article in the new issue of the publication, out today, to a discussion of the reasons for the mortality in business.

Statistics of the United States Department of Commerce on failures in the restaurant business, occasioned by the fact that too many eating places are started by persons unfamiliar with that line of business, gives the author of the article the theme for his title: "How Much Soup Is In the Restaurant?"

Gaylord B. Kirker, for more than three years in Asia and the Philippines for the Chamber of Commerce in the interests of local industry, writes another article in the new issue of the magazine on trade opportunities to be found there for local manufacturers. "The Orient Hears What We Manufacture," is the title of Kirker's article.

Harry L. Harper, executive of the local branch of an international electrical concern, writes on the growth of factories here, and others contributing include Willis Booth, William R. Smith, Gerald B. Burtnett and T. C. Hoadley. A reprint of the address of Calvin Coolidge, delivered at the annual banquet of the chamber, is featured.

HARVEYS TO FACE COURT IN SLAYING

Couple Accused of Killing Gottschall Appear Today for Arraignment

William E. Harvey and Lillian B. Harvey, his wife, are scheduled to appear today before Superior Judge Wood for arraignment on a charge that they murdered Roy F. Gottschall on March 1, last, while they were attempting to remove furniture from Gottschall's home at 1606 West Eighty-ninth street.

According to the complaint the defendants are accused of entering Gottschall's home to remove furniture claimed by Mrs. Harvey. Shortly after the couple entered the house, investigators assert, Gottschall appeared and fired several shots at Harvey, who retaliated by hitting his assailant over the head with an iron bar. The blow proved fatal.

COURT DEFINES USURY STATUTE

Opinion Given in Bankrupt Paper Company's Case

Distinction Made Regarding Accounts Receivable

Sale of Invoices Alsq Held Legitimate Practice

To brand as usurious certain transactions which are not considered loans by the business world would tend to bring into disrepute the California usury law, according to Superior Judge Yankwich in a decision for the defendant in the case of W. H. Moore, Jr., trustee in bankruptcy for the Pacific Paper and Envelope Corporation, against the Finance and Discount Corporation of Los Angeles.

Judge Yankwich's ruling holds that finance and discount companies who purchase accounts receivable from merchants on invoices, or warehouse receipts, taking control over the goods, are not engaged in loaning money.

The paper company was adjudged a bankrupt on December 6, 1928. The trustee in bankruptcy brought suit to recover $54,350.25, being treble the amount of asserted excess interest declared to have been paid by the bankrupt concern during the year 1928 to the finance company.

NATURE OF DEALS

It was the contention of the trustee that the transactions on which the payments were made were straight loans.

The evidence introduced at the trial showed that the payments were made on purchases or accounts receivable, or purchases of merchandise by the discount company which they resold to the paper company, subject to the trade discount, transactions which the business world is declared long to have held as not loans.

"The men from the paper company," testified Charles Kramer, president of the discount concern, "came to me and asked us to handle their business by buying their accounts receivable.

"We advanced them at first $12,000 to close their account with another finance company. They brought in their accounts on which we gave them money, reserving out of the money a 20 per cent reserve to take care of possible losses. As these accounts were paid we gave them credit for the reserve. This is the method adopted in all our transactions. We are not in the business of loaning money.

NOTES ALSO TAKEN

"Because this method involved a lot of book-keeping on their part they later asked us to advance the money on their invoices of goods they had bought. This we did, taking their invoices. Sometimes when the goods were in transit we took notes, which were really interim certificates, until the goods arrived.

"When the goods arrived they were stored under our name. They could not be withdrawn without our consent. We had no intention to adopt this as a subterfuge. It is a method adopted by all firms engaged in discounting accounts receivable or advancing money on invoice or warehouse receipts.

"The business was not profitable to us. When the company went into bankruptcy they owed us $27,127.50 which is still unpaid."

In giving judgment for the defendant Judge Yankwich said:

"The usury statute embodies a social policy which aims to protect against oppression. As such it should be given effect by the courts.

DETERMINING USURY

"To constitute usury there must be: First, a loan, express or implied. Second, an understanding between the parties that the money lent shall be returned. Third, that for such loan a greater rate of interest than is allowed by law shall be paid or agreed to be paid. Fourth, there must exist a corrupt intent to take more than the legal rate for the use of the money loaned.

"I am satisfied," Judge Yankwich continued, "that the transaction here was not a loan. It was a purchase and sale of accounts receivable and merchandise on invoices or temporary receipts. Transactions of this character, particularly as relating to warehouse receipts, have long been recognized in the business world as partaking of the character of sales and not loans.

"It is well established that a sale at no matter how high a profit is not usurious. I feel there has been no intent to violate the usury statute here and to apply the statute to transactions which are not loans is to bring an otherwise good law into disrepute."

SMUGGLING CASES WILL BE RULED ON

Five Men Face Charges of Bringing Chinese to Country Illegally

Five men accused of smuggling Chinese into the United States will face Judge Killits of the United States District Court today for disposition of their cases.

Glenn T. McBee and Frank E. Taylor were arrested in an automobile near Santa Barbara under the name of McBee and Davis by State Highway Patrol officers and immigration inspectors, who reported they found four Chinese huddled in the back of the car.

George E. Flaherty, John Frank Smith and Eddie Collins landed nine Chinese on the American side of the border by automobile at the same time that a large airplane, said to be owned by Flaherty, landed in the Imperial Valley, immigration officers charge. The Chinese are held for deportation.

BILL FOR SIGNALS REFERRED BY COUNCIL

The bill of the Acme Traffic Signal Company for $14,430, representing the charge for the installations at seven intersections, has been referred by the City Council to the Finance Committee and to the Board of Building and Safety Commissioners.

THIS ISN'T A JOKE

Seagrave, holder of the world's to speed record, has been fined ten mes for breaking the British speed w. We give him a chance overe here.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH

Dean Inge says there are some per- ns, "nearly all of the female sex," who ffer from a chronic rush of words to e mouth. The exceptions must all go the Senate.

INSTEAD OF THE HOOK

Hungarian device, when attached to ato, flashes a red light when a tire is ing flat. Now if that invention could applied to some of our comedians' kes what a lot of time would be saved.

GINGER ALE-MENT

And now they say that the rum aralysis prevalent in the Middle West as caused by ginger ale. Some of these men they will blame rattlesnake bite lillies of the valley.

ANOTHER OPTIMIST

The thief who burglarized the adena church and secured one but- n and a lead dollar from the collec- on plates, is the prize optimist of the our. The preacher had been hunting some of the same stuff there for ars.

DOVE OF PEACE

Dr. Visceglia, a recent addition to e University of Southern California, is ported in the Trojan Owl as saying at Europe has never known peace— nd never will. We are trying to intro- uce that bird into Europe at this very me.

THE HUB

The hub of the universe was once Boston. Then James Whitcomb tley, George Ade and Gen. Lew Wal- ce stole it and set it up in Indiana. ow it has been transported to Iowa by erbert Quick, Hamlin Garland and merson Hough. With the exodus of all wa to Long Beach, we know where the esky thing will turn up next.

THE SEAMY SIDE

Some wear the seamy side on the utside. You never get anything else in heir company. In case of repair it is ecessary to turn the inside outside. his necessity seems to be upon us in os Angeles. A foolish optimism must ot soothe our complacency.

A glance at the home section morning fter morning is convincing. With all ur sunshine and prosperity, the dis- greeable may not be denied. Since hicago's asserted clean-up, there ap- ears to be a noticeable influx of an un- esirable type of tourist.

A high-powered car loaded with well- nown gangsters from the Windy City is eralded as entering our gates from the orth. Robberies have almost ceased to e news. Thirteen burglaries made a ecord on a recent week-end. Pullmans s well as breakbeams are furnishing heir complement.

Too many girls are being attacked n the street. The number slipping out f sight along the abduction route stirs he blood. Every place from banks to urses' homes has been raided by andits. The ease with which it is done auses some to think that organized rime is directing the invasion.

When vigilance slackens and internal olitical squabbles draw off attention, he signal is hoisted in the underworld. The long list of unsolved murders is not eassuring. It is not only good publicity, ut an invitation to the vicious. Vice cents its quarry from afar and knows he smell of carrion coming down the vind.

When other cities tighten up enforce- ment, they squeeze the dregs out into djoining neighborhoods. England gives hort shrift and empties her jails; but direct ratio America has to build igger and double her capacity.

Los Angeles has her intriguing side. She specializes in sunshine and sport at- ire. However, she shows the smirch more easily. She must not be adver- ised as a more healthful place than Chicago for gangsters to live. We are ot conducting a health resort of that kind.

A GOOD TIME TO BUILD

Right now is the best time to build, to remodel or to repair that Southern California has seen in a decade. Proof of this statement is found in figures gathered by The Times, which show that costs of material are low, that building funds are abundant and cheap, making easy credit, and that there is a large supply of highly skilled labor—the three together making a fortunate combination for home owners or owners of business property and offering an unusual opportunity for speculation or investment, upon which large returns may be expected.

These conditions probably will not continue, since rising markets, rising interest rates and rising labor costs are looked for, but while they last the prudent will take full advantage of them.

By doing so, they will not only help themselves, but will hasten the return of general prosperity, which needs the stimulation of employment and of money in circulation doing productive work.

It is estimated that a thirteen-story building can now be erected at the cost of one of ten stories put up in 1923; that a house of six rooms may now be built for rather less than a five-room house cost in that year. Building materials are at 10 per cent to 60 per cent under the prices of 1923—which was a boom year in building—among the items that are lower being sash and doors, 30 per cent; builders' hardware, 25 per cent; roofing tile, 33 per cent, and so on through the list.

Because of these and other reductions an average Class A building which cost 60 to 75 cents a cubic foot in 1923 may be built, in 1930, for 40 to 45 cents a cubic foot. Home alterations, on the average, are about half what they cost seven years ago.

Similar ratios obtain for other improvement undertakings. Thus five miles of street paving, with curbs and gutters, can be laid now for the same cost as four miles in 1923—a decrease of 25 per cent.

The money market is favorable. Loans for building purposes may now be had at 6 to 7 per cent without bonus, and there is an abundant amount in the market.

As for the income possibilities, they are increasing. Building of homes was lessened during 1929 by nearly 25 per cent and apartment building by approximately 37 per cent, without any lessening of the number of new arrivals in town. In 1927 there was a vacancy average in houses of 12.9 per cent; in 1928 of 8.9 per cent and in 1929 it was 7.4 per cent. This year it is lower. Apartment vacancies averaged 22.1 per cent in 1929 and this year the figure has dropped to 18.4 per cent, all of which shows clearly that the slack is being taken up and that a housing shortage looms as a possibility of the near future, unless construction is increased.

There is a greater efficiency of labor now than in 1923. The average open-shop bricklayer here will lay 1600 bricks in a day, while a day's work in 1923 was figured at 900 bricks. Plasterers were paid $10 a day in 1923 and spread an average of forty yards a day; in 1930, while the ruling wage is $12, the daily production is about seventy-five yards, so that the cost per yard has been materially reduced.

Increased building will help to create the conditions which are relied upon to make it desirable—a greater demand for housing because of generally bettered business conditions.

Los Angeles is not unique in offering these opportunities—the same conditions are to be found also in most other cities. But they are sufficiently striking here to call the situation unusual and to give warrant both for investigation and action.

It is a good time to build—the best time to build that this country has seen in a decade, and better, probably, than it will be in a year or so, or even in a few months. The wise will take advantage of it.

C. OF C. SAYS IT

Slogans as a rule attract attention for the moment, if they be smart or apt, and have small influence afterward on the cause they were expected to boost. Salvation by slogan has proved a poor prescription for treating chronic ailments.

There is nothing smart or novel about the slogan just put out by the Chamber of Commerce, but it is so apt and sensible, it should command the attention of all interested in the future of Southern California, from a commercial and even more from a humanitarian standpoint.

Says the C. of C. with due emphasis on present-day tendencies, "Buy home-made goods." That is perhaps the oldest and most shop-worn slogan in the United States. Yet by heeding this advice our country has builded and secured fresh hives of industry and made two pay envelopes grow where only half a one grew before.

At the present time every city needs this local patriotism, Los Angeles, perhaps, in as great measure as any on the eastern seaboard. Buy home-made goods, home manufactures, home products so far as we can legitimately do so. Make the purchasing power of local consumers, and the purchasing power of Los Angeles is second to none, the one big practical remedy for unemployment.

Dollars spent on goods from distant States and foreign countries put little into the pay envelopes of local workers. Much local money must, of course, flow into outside channels. But if, wherever feasible, Southern California consumers patronize home growers and home factories, the extra money thus spent at home and the extra demand on factories would come pretty near cleaning up the present unemployment situation.

Of course this buying at home must be kept within sensible limits. There are articles which it is more advantageous to buy from centers in other States which are better fitted for their production. Just as we expect to sell our California specialties to communities outside our own State, so we should be willing to recognize the excellence of the goods in which other communities have specialized. The Chamber of Commerce issued the slogan in no spirit of isolation or insularity for Los Angeles. It was not intended to offset the proper application of the rule of "give and take."

In certain circles, however, there is a strong tendency to purchase goods with foreign labels in preference to those of the Los Angeles brand, for no better reason than that they are "imported." This is indulged in at the expense of our own workers. Los Angeles is able to take care of them, without recourse to charity of artificially made jobs, by patronizing home industries.

Not only does home spending mean more home employment, but by demonstrating the purchasing capacity of our city, it attracts here more industries to make more money to provide more jobs.

A LOSING BATTLE

By James J. Montague

Scarcely passes a day that we all do not read
Of some virtuous insect or other
Which, if loosed in a garden or orchard, will feed
On his greedy and pestilent brother.
The borer, we thought, would be shortly the prey
Of a fly that would eat him for luncheon,
And a bug from Siam, or Japan or Bombay
The wild wicked weevil would munch on.

We pictured the carnage on many a plant,
When some sturdy destroyer or other
Would sit on the leaf of an elm tree and pant
For the blood of his sap-sucking brother.
We longed for the day when some saber-toothed bug,
Would bare his long fangs to devour
The mushy and short but insatiable slug
Which smites the potato in flower.

But the borer still tunnels the tasseling corn,
The weevil still chews on the cotton;
By the jaws of the aphis the melon is torn
And falls from its stem, soft and rotten.
Not a bug we have ever imported as yet
Has been found by its hopeful employers
To make any more than a weak, futile threat
To destroy the unworried destroyers.

The farmer still spends many wearisome days
Making all sorts of poisonous mixtures
Which he puts into powder and drops into sprays,
But the plant-eating bugs remain fixtures.
The so-called destroyers are licked in each round
And we soon will lack food for our dinners
Unless, in some country or other, are found
Some bug-killing bugs which are winners.

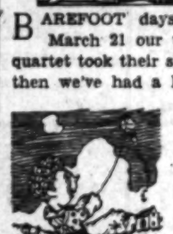
LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

BAREFOOT days are here again. March 21 our twenty-mule-team quartet took their shoes off and since then we've had a hard time getting them to wear them any of the time. For boys are wonderful strategists. They are so fond of going barefoot that as soon as you let them take off their shoes the first really warm day they proceed to get a few stone bruises on their feet. And, of course, you can't make them put on shoes when they have stone bruises.



Because it is the most spread-out city in the world, with most open space in it, Los Angeles probably is the only large city in the United States in which a large proportion of children go barefoot in summer. It's no fun going barefoot on hot asphalt and concrete, but our fair city still is cooled by frozen assets. Vacant lots and even vacant acreage, as well as large yards, make it the roomiest and airiest and sunniest city in the world. The kids of every neighborhood have vacant ground at hand in which to play baseball and football and fly kites—and go barefoot.

Each fall, when we get the stone bruises cured up, we vow we'll never again let our boys go barefoot. But each spring we're so busted from buying shoes all winter that we grow tender-hearted again and let them go shoeless the very first warm day. If we didn't they'd take their shoes off anyhow, as soon as they get a few blocks from home, and probably would forget just where. So this year we let all five of our youngsters shuck their shoes at home—only one week after the four boys had hiked from our house up to Orchard Camp for a snowball fight!

Corona Takes Plant Census

Have you any idea how many different kinds of trees, shrubs and flowers grow in your town? The garden section of the Corona Woman's Improvement Club has made a survey of the plants in Corona and is so proud of it that it has been published in booklet form. The idea was to show what plants grow well there, and what care is required, and those rare plants which require extraordinary care were not listed.

The report lists thirty-two kinds of trees, fifty-one varieties of shrubs, twenty-nine vines, seventy-six perennials, thirty-seven annuals, fifty-four roses, fifty-seven irises, eleven principal divisions of bulbs, each of which includes many different species, thirty-four native California plants and fifteen water gardens which may be visited. That gives a total of 369 varieties of trees, shrubs and flowers, not counting any bulbs or water-garden plants. And that ought to be enough to make any town lovely.

Old Stuff in New Guise

Beautiful Rain

It isn't raining rain to me,
It's raining dollar bills.
They roll themselves like little balls
Atumbling down the hills.

The valleys catch 'em as they come
And hold 'em tight and fast.
The sun comes up and smiles at 'em
From the first unto the last.

The world rejoices in the feast
And smiles deelightedlee,
The tourist comes and he smiles, too,
And sings his humteedee.

The tourist adds his dollar bill
To the one we have out here,
And one and one make TWO, by heih,
And they increase every year.

In some parts rain is only wet,
In some parts it is, cold,
But rain out here is money—yet
And money backed by gold.

So here's to sunny CALIFORN
Where rain means dollar bills
And money grows in long straight rows
On all the sun-kissed hills.

They Learn It in School

Friend Leeway: A young Hollywooder noticed that his dad's new car was muddy and volunteered to wash it for the same price the super-service station would charge. Encouraged by such enterprise, dad agreed, and the young man did a thoroughly good job, working all afternoon on it. After collecting from a pleased, proud dad, he said:

"Say, dad, my flivver's suddenly developed an awful cough and I'm dated to take a swell girl to a swell dance tonight. Can't I borrow your car?"

He got it and departed hastily.. And then it began to dawn on dad that his son has the makings of a successful politician.—Alex McLaren.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

CHILDREN AND THE REDS

[New York Sun]

Of the million children in the public schools of the city exactly fifty-five were found by attendance officers near the scene of the Communist demonstration early this month. With few exceptions, it later developed, the youngsters remained away from their studies without parental consent, just as they might have done had the circus come to town that day. They were interested in the widely advertised spectacle at Union Square, not in the theories of Communism. In less than a dozen cases did the school authorities deem it advisable to bring the parents before a magistrate for violation of the compulsory school law. In view of this record Superintendent of Schools O'Shea is speaking accurately when he asserts that, so far as the schools are concerned, "the Communist scare has been exaggerated."

KANSAS HAS RECIPE

[San Francisco Chronicle]

On what seems good authority, and we sincerely hope it is, we learn that the Legislature of Kansas has by a single act of its all-powerful will added a new word to the language, simplified English syntax and solved a problem that has been discussed by learned philologists for generations.

The new word is "ihn," personal pronoun, third person, singular number and, we presume, any old case. In its possessive relation it would be used thus: "The boy or girl can go to ihn class." This saves the clumsy "his or her" locution. That is as far as our authority enlightens us, but we presume that a use in the nominative case would read: "If the boy or girl comes to the library, ihn will get a book."

While we admire the beauty and simplicity of the new word our greatest enthusiasm goes to Kansas for its new demonstration that there is no human problem which cannot be solved merely by passing a law about it. Now let Kansas force the English-speaking world to use "ihn." A good stiff jail sentence for failure to do so should do the trick.

WHEN BORAH WAS SLOW

[Detroit Free Press]

Is it possible that Senator Borah was obliged to read for three whole hours in order to find out whether a book is actually salacious and unfit for human perusal? Ordinarily the Senator can arrive at a hard and fast conclusion about the toughest and most intricate subject in about three seconds. It is to be hoped that the Senator——. But, oh, my goodness! Perish the very thought!

NO WONDER THEY DON'T GO

[San Francisco Chronicle]

Now we understand why Communist agitators do not want to go back to Russia.

An explanation of the collective farming policy, printed in Pravda, official soviet publication, explains that the land, live stock and implements belong to the community, which means that so far as the individual is concerned they belong to nobody.

The farm workers get from 45 kopecks (22½ cents) to 1 ruble 20 kopecks (60 cents) per day of ten hours. Out of this they must buy their food and clothing and pay their trade union dues.

No wonder the Communist agitators prefer to stay here and organize for "work or wages"—preferably wages.

Anglican Communion?

SACRAMENTO, March 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In your issue of Thursday, March 27, 1930, the closing paragraph of an Associated Press article telling of the election of Bishop James De Wolf Perry to the primate of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America, appears thus:

"The office of presiding bishop of the church in America, some of the delegates explained, is equal in the angelical communion to the post of archbishop of Canterbury in England . . ."

Now, Episcopalians will not deny this lofty association. In fact, in the Book of Common Prayer, in the order for the administration of the Holy Communion, appear these words: "Therefore, with angels, and archangels, and with all the company of heaven, we laud and magnify thy glorious name . . ."

However, is it not barely possible that your correspondent of the Associated Press, or perhaps his informants, the delegates, referred to this large body of Christians as the Anglican communion?

A Wild Flower Champion

LOS ANGELES, March 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] You missed an opportunity to do the State of California and yourselves a real service.

In today's (Sunday's) pink sheet you had a fine article glorifying the wild flowers. It was a real work of art and a fine boost for California, but there wasn't one word of caution as far as I noticed about ruthless destruction of the flowers. You even showed a picture of scores of autos being driven helter skelter all over that magnificent bed of flowers. Is that the way we want people to treat our flowers? How long will they last if we allow that?

Conscientious Objectors

HUNTINGTON PARK, April 1. [To the Editor of The Times:] During the past eight years we subscribed to the Los Angeles Times. Generally speaking we prefer a conservative point of view, and so do not agree with your prohibition stand. Prohibition is no religion—there is nothing sacred in respect to it.

Because you have become a crusader for the Eighteenth Amendment, using both news columns and the editorial page to create sentiment in its favor, we do not feel we can conscientiously continue to support you.

LA VERNE, March 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am proud of The Times because of its stand for prohibition and law enforcement. It seems to me there is an opportunity for you to render a great public service by investigating the methods of the Literary Digest in its straw vote on prohibition.

MASKS

By The Foothill Philosopher

For fifteen years I had been riding with him, to town and back, on the street cars. Always we had talked about the weather or politics or the cost of living. One day I chanced to mention a book by a noted Christian mystic and my neighbor's face beamed. He told me he had been reading such books for many years and that he owned 200 interesting volumes on philosophical and religious subjects which I was invited to read.

There is a preacher in town who, because of the fact that he once had made a sensational appeal from his pulpit, I had classed as a "showman," devoid of either spirituality or genuine interest in his fellow-men. Recently I heard him give an address at a meeting of the Ministerial Association—and then I realized that his power over his congregations is not the result of scholarship, personality or "sensationalism," but that it is attributable to a deep sense of the divine presence and a flaming ambition to lift others to his own plane of realization.

It is remarkable how we don't know one another. It is strange how we continue to wear masks to hide from others our warm hearts and shining souls. It is interesting to note our mutual distrust of one another and to speculate as to the reason therefor. Our ideals, our finer thoughts and feelings are so precious and so beautiful that probably it is difficult for us to realize that millions of other human beings share the same glorious inner life. Yet if one dares tear off his mask in the presence of his friend, a casual acquaintance or even an enemy, or if he challenges the best and finest in any one of these, he invariably discovers in his companion an angel who, for some indefinable reason, has long been hiding his face from a world that is hungering for light and beauty, sympathy and love.

Fording the Styx

One of the employees of the Ford plant dreamed that Henry had died. In his dream he saw the rust-proof nickeled casket being borne by six of Henry's oldest and most faithful employees. As the cortege came by Henry suddenly popped up in the casket, gave a quick glance around and exclaimed:

"If you'd put rollers under this thing you could easily lay off five men."—[Pathfinder.

SPEAKING OF POPULATION

BY. J. M. SCANLAND

Los Angeles' increase of population from 5416 to 1,250,000 or more in half a century is a record paralleled by no other city in the United States. On my first visit to Los Angeles in the spring of 1870 its population was given as 5416. Its present estimated population ranges from 1,250,000 upward. Ten years ago the population was 576,673.

A half century ago this was a "sleepy" town. It looked forward to the completion of the Southern Pacific Railroad, the then connection with San Francisco being by stage and steamer. There were also visions of a street-car line, extending southward from the Plaza on Main street for about two miles, and doubling back on Spring street. There were also great expectations and hopes of "eastern capital" and lots of tourists.

One day, shortly after my arrival, I listened in on a group of talkers in front of the Bella Union Hotel on North Main street, then the principal hotel in the town. After outlining the street-car line and the completion of the railroad, one of the "boomers" ventured the prophecy that some day this town would have a population of 50,000. Another boomer, as an anticlimax, exclaimed: "Yes, 100,000!" He joined the others in the laughter.

By 1880, or ten years later, the Southern Pacific had been finished and the population had increased to 11,183—more than double. The Atlantic and Pacific Railroad (later known as the Santa Fe) was heading this way, and that gave additional wind to the boom. It was finished in 1885 and a "rate war" followed. The fare from Chicago to Los Angeles was cut repeatedly and tourists came by carloads. By 1900 the population had reached 102,479. In 1910 it increased to 319,198; in 1920 to 576,673.

In 1842 there was an incipient boom on the discovery of gold in the San Fernando Valley, and there was an exodus when gold was "first" discovered in the north six years later.

At the time of the American conquest, in 1846, El Pueblo Nuestra Senora la Reina de Los Angeles had a population of about 1500, not counting 200 or 300 Yang-na Indians scattered along Los Angeles street from the Plaza to First street. There were about 100 "foreigners" in the pueblo, mostly Americans. Within the next four years the population had increased by 400—mostly Americans.

By 1880 the population had increased to 3323—more than doubled. But, during the Civil War, from 1861 to 1865, the town was at a standstill as to population, but was very lively as to politics.

The first census of the pueblo was taken in 1833. It showed a population of 1635, including forty-two "foreigners," ten of whom were Americans.

Usually, a town grows up around a neighborhood blacksmith shop, a cross-roads saloon, or wayside hotel. Los Angeles started as a pueblo with a population of forty-four, and these were imported and paid a salary to live here under a five-year contract. When Gov. Felipe de Neve selected the site for a pueblo in the south, he detailed Sergt. Rivera y Moncado to go to Sonora and enlist "twelve good families" and bring them to the pueblo. The bonus for settlers was $116.50 a year for the first two years and $60 a year for the next three years, with a house lot for each family, fourteen acres of grazing land, two cows, two sheep and two goats, also farming implements. Nothwithstanding this very liberal offer, it took Moncado about one year to persuade twelve "good families" to enlist for the journey to this land of "beautiful scenery and fine climate." And one of these fell by the wayside and returned to his hut in Sonora. From this circumstance that part of the city was locally known for many years as Sonoratown.

In this colony of our first citizens there were eleven men, eleven women and twenty-two children. Within a few months three families were "exiled" as useless to the pueblo and to themselves. That was better than feeding them at public expense.

Within ten years from the founding of the pueblo the population had increased to 139. It was not a rush, but from births and discharged soldiers from the presidios. And during the next decade, or by 1800, the population had increased to 315—also by births and wornout soldiers discharged from the pueblos. The next decade showed an increase of only fifty, mostly from Sonora—the deaths and births being about equal. There seems to have been a small boom, for during the following ten years the population had increased to 730—mostly from Sonora. During the next decade the Sonorans turned their eyes to Upper California and by 1830 the population had increased to 1240. The influx continued and three years later, or in 1833, the City Council ordered a census. It was found that the inhabitants had increased to 1635. That was not quite a century ago.

PEN POINTS

Wives of great men often remind us that the greatest of men make mistakes.

It isn't really necessary to spank your kid when he needs it. A jail sentence later will be just as effective.

Money will buy just so much leisure, and if you don't take any of it your kids must take too much.

A free country is one in which a witness is punished for contempt if he doesn't answer questions who insult him.

Another nice thing about the fad of repainting the furniture is the lovely polka-dot effect on the kitchen floor.

Things seem to even up. The lighter bridge tables are worn by the heavier players get.

And then perhaps your romantic money-grubber keeps busy in order to forget how little his wife is getting.

At times we fear the greatest aids to longevity records are a poor memory and some skill as a free-hand liar.

Americanism: Thinking a thing great because he has the unwavering approval of people who look like idiots at sight of him.

The garden-seed catalog shows every picture of the gardener's dream except one of the neighbor's hens choking to death.

The German liner that serves meals every two hours has the right idea. You must eat that often to keep even.

It would be more to the point to poll 20,000,000 citizens to find out how many are obeying the law.

The old-fashioned girl may have been greek, but she didn't fall for a stranger just because he rode in a four-wheeled vehicle.

Mencken's latest book ridicules Christianity. You will remember that he also ridiculed the South and West without having seen them.

The manners of a Congressional investigating committee indicate that a lot of shyster police-court lawyers missed their calling.

The New York Times has decided to spell "negro" with a capital. This approval, though tardy, doubtless will make the dictionary very happy.

Correct this sentence: "The reason we treated you so courteously," said the policeman, "is because you seemed pore an friendless."

Most of that synthetic gin is sympathetic gin. Two of the drinks and your friends sympathize with you.

A newspaper is nearly everybody's goat.

One thing you can usually be sure of is that you can't.

A friend in need is indeed a friend if a friend in deed.

HUNTING FAULTS

In our wheat there's always weevil, in our oats there's always rust; in this country there is evil that occasions much disgust. Some of us are always looking for some matters to deplore; with great groaning and gadsooking we admit our hearts are sore. Volstead laws are daily broken, people sip illicit beer and we say it is a token that grim anarchy is here. All our bulwarks are up-ended, our pantheons are shrunk, just because some fellow wended to a joint and there got drunk. There's another gangster shooting some city by the lake; news of this the press is bruiting, and our hearts begin to break. "Law's become a hopeless farce," you may hear our critics recite; you may see our salt tears course zle down our whiskers to the ground. All our cops are now as lepers and their characters as frail, all our judges are lightstepers, and they ought to be in jail. Everything goes to hooting to the bow-wows, it's plain, just because there was a shooting and some gangsters were slain. Some of us can read the papers and be cheered by fearful capers—very little do we mean. Here and there a heart is dented by some bold and reckless men, but they soon will be presented with a sentence to the pen. Here and there a shyster's creaking where the pinions are too strong, but stern justice will be speaking to the erring one ere long. There has never been a season in the chronicles of time when no fellows branded treason and the other kinds of crime. There are always people insisting that the air is full of bats, but a few of us are certain that they're talking through their hats.

ROAD TO HEAVEN TOLD IN SERMON

"Heaven, seen in visions of men and told by them in the Bible, becomes for the Christian more real than any earthly location," said Adjt. Frank Howell in his sermon yesterday at Salvation Army Temple. "Jesus spoke of heaven as a house of many mansions and John saw the kingdom of glory and described it to us in Revelation," said Adjt. Howell. "Every Christian sees heaven in his dreams. The question is, how shall we get there? If I am going to New York I know that to get there I must start. Thousands pass idly by with no definite aim. We must start and must start on the right road. It is not a denominational road, a sectarian way, for Jesus said, 'I Am the way.' He said, too, 'I Am the door.' With Him as the way, we must board the right train. Having boarded the right train, we must keep on the train. There are no stopovers at 'Pleasure Point" or 'Lukewarm Valley.'"

CRUCIFIXION CALLED TRIUMPH FOR GOD

"The 'Death of the Cross' was more than the death of the body—it was the death grapple of the Living One with the sin of the world," declared Dr. J. George Dorn in his sermon yesterday at Hollywood Lutheran Church. Dr. Dorn said in part: "Christ's victory was two-fold: His body broke the bones of the grave and His spirit took command of the power of hell. His victory on the cross shows the complete lordship of Our Lord in the realm of the other world. As a result of this victory the grave is no longer a prison for the believer, but a mansion to which Christ has the key. With the key in the hands of the Redeemer, the grave has no longer any power to injure His people."

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS DISCUSS "UNREALITY"

"Unreality" was the subject of the lesson-sermon yesterday at all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. One of the Scripture selections related Christ Jesus's parable of the tares and wheat, concluding with the following verses: "So the servants of the householder came and said unto Him, Sir, didst not Thou sow good seed in Thy field? from whence then hath it tares? He said unto them, An enemy hath done this. The servants said unto Him, Wilt Thou then that we go and gather them up? But He said, Nay; lest while ye gather up the tares, ye root up also the wheat with them. Let both grow together until harvest: and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them: but gather the wheat into my barn." A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" contained these words by Mary Baker Eddy: "God, Spirit, alone created all, and called it good. Therefore evil, being contrary to good, is unreal, and cannot be the product of God. . . . Only those, who repent of sin and forsake the unreal, can full understand the unreality of evil."

RELIGIOUS BIGOTRY SCORED BY SPEAKER

"For a Jew to become a believer in the Lord Jesus of Nazareth does not mean that he has renounced Judaism," declared Dr. Armin A. Holzer in his sermon yesterday at Bereal Hall. "No real Christian ever can be against the Jews and any professing Christian who is against the Jews is no Christian in the biblical sense of the word," said Dr. Holzer. "Christ did not come to destroy Judaism but to preserve it. Christ came to destroy ignorance, spiritual poverty, pride and separation between man and man and between man and God. In order to reach this point of culture it is necessary for one to become born again through the teaching and the work of Christ."

ALL SORROW HELD DUE TO IGNORANCE

"Freedom" is the subject of a sermon preached by Bramacharee Nerode yesterday at Mt. Washington Center. Excerpts from the address follow:

"The Christ within man is immune from all those weaknesses and sorrows that his mental and physical natures become sullied with. Sorrows are foams of life which man gathers on the shores of experience. As long as man refuses to see the profile of eternity that is in him he will always succumb to sorrows as they are born of limitation. His three-fold sorrows arise from his physical, mental and spiritual natures due to his ignorance of fundamentals."

FIGUEROA STREET BORE TO START NEXT WEEK

Actual work on the boring of the three Elysian Park tunnels, part of the North Figueroa extension, will start the 15th inst., according to the announcement yesterday of the H. W. Rohl Company, the successful bidder, who got the contract for $652,789.20.

Approximately 125 men will be employed, it is stated. The contractor announced that he hopes to be able to complete the project by the end of the year, although he is allowed under the contract 480 days.

There will be three tunnels, totaling 996 feet in length. They will be forty-six and one-half feet wide, with a forty-foot roadway. The contract also calls for the paving of several stretches of the project, which extends from the river to First street.

RESUMPTION OF RED CASE SCHEDULED

Task of Picking Jury in Riot Trial Expected to be Lengthy One

Trial of fifteen asserted Communists arrested by police during the Red demonstration near the City Hall on March 6, last, will be resumed this morning before Municipal Judge Bogue. The first two days of the trial were held last week and selection of a jury will probably not be completed for at least three days. Leo P. Gallagher, defense attorney, has used fifteen of his peremptory challenges and has seventy remaining while Deputy City Prosecutor Hornaday has used only three of his eighty-five challenges.

Two of the defendants, Carl Sklar, asserted Red leader, and Frank Waldron, are defending themselves, while Gallagher is representing the remaining thirteen. They are George Haka, Bakunin Fuguuaga, Alfred J. Lucas, Isuge Yamaguchi, Alfred Fuguvich, Richard Drake, Louis and Harry Schneiderman, Fred Sitter, Bulgian A. Marijon, Mrs. Goldie Katz, Mrs. Dillian Silverman and Mrs. Minnie Smaller. Two other asserted Reds, Mrs. Fannie Relin and Claude H. Brohn, charged with blocking the sidewalk, will be tried separately. The other fifteen are either charged with participating in a riot or failing to leave the scene of a riot when lawfully ordered to do so by police.

AQUATIC PROGRAM CHANGED

Commission Gives Backing to Plan for Two Divisions in City Undertakings

A reorganization of playgroun department forces so there will be two divisions in the city's aquatic program this year, one consisting of municipal beaches and the other of Los Angeles playground pools, all under direction of the supervisor of aquatics, has been approved by the Playground and Recreation Commission, at request of Supt. Hoyt.

It is proposed to appoint a director of beaches and chief pool director, also a number of captains of lifeguards. Additional funds will be required for the two directors and the guard captains.

The program also provides for close inspection of filters, chlorinators, complete safety equipment, maximum load attendance at any one time in each pool, with a designated number of guards on duty at certain hours, rescue equipment, testing of water in each pool daily, measurements to show the depth to patrons, and provision that those unable to swim shall wear white caps until a test shows they are able to get along by their own efforts.

Each guard will be given explicit instructions that his sole duty is to protect bathers and swimmers from drowning or injury.

The work of renovating and repainting pools already is in progress, according to Hoyt.

London Debt in Legal Row Here

Whether a Los Angeles court can compel payment of debt contracted in London must be decided by Municipal Judge Wilson in a case now before him.

Mark Benson, stationary engineer, is being sued by Edna H. Harker for $273 asserted due Gieves, Ltd., of London for clothing purchased in 1924. The claim was assigned by the London firm to Miss Harker for collection after Benson removed to Los Angeles.

Whether the English laws or those of California will be followed at the trial of the action is another point to be settled by Judge Wilson.

Damage Suits Arising From Fire to be Tried

Two suits, one asking $110,000 and the other $25,000 damages, arising out of the fire and explosion that followed at the Club Russian Eagle, 8545 Sunset Boulevard, on June 6, 1928, will be on trial today before Superior Judge Burnell. Both actions are brought against the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, accused in the complaints of negligence for asserted failure to shut off gas after an alarm of fire was turned in. The gas, it is contended, caused the explosion.

One of the suits is by Theodore Lodijensky, general manager of the club at the time of the fire, who asserts that he received personal injuries because of the explosion. He asks $110,000 damages. The other action seeks to recover $25,000 for asserted property damage.

Bird's Counsel Will Make Plea for New Trial

Owen R. Bird, Los Angeles sportsman, will appear before Superior Judge Hardy today when his attorneys are expected to present a motion for a new trial, following his conviction on a charge of having killed his friend, Percival G. Watson.

Last week Bird was convicted of fatally shooting Watson during a quarrel at the Bird home, 3514 Dahlia avenue, on November 25, 1929. Bird contended that he had fired the pistol at Watson intending to frighten him away from the house, believing that it was loaded with blank cartridges.

JUDGE WILL TALK

Municipal Judge Valentine, presiding in traffic court, will address the noon luncheon meeting of the Federation of State Societies today at 532 South Broadway. His topic will be "Law and Order and Law Enforcement."

Situation in Europe Balks Many Addresses

KHJ Ends Filmland Voice Series Tonight

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:20 p.m. Glenn Hood, "Songbird of the Yosemite." Wide-world news, 12:30, 4:30 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Although free from government control of programs, American broadcasters are freely putting addresses by public men on their programs, while abroad, where in most countries the government maintains a rigid hold upon radio, such programs are infrequent.

While the chief delegates of all of the five great powers addressed the American public by radio on the question of naval limitations, the only other countries to obtain any broadcast during the conference were France, Japan and England, and to the first two nations only their own delegates spoke. This country was the only one to hear the views of all who had met to further the reduction of naval expenditures.

ALL HEAR KING

All countries, of course, were able to hear the address of King George at the opening of the conference. Secretary of State Stimson was the only foreign delegate to speak over the radio in England, and in no country was public interest in the conference manifested as it was in the United States, the only country to send "radio reporters" to the conference.

Much of the restriction on the broadcasting of programs of political personages or events abroad is due to the strangling effect of government control or influence. To offer an address on a current problem by a member of the party in power would result in a howl of protest from the opposition and might even result in throwing a ministry out of office. In the United States, the facilities of the broadcasting stations are eagerly offered to political leaders and government officials, the controlling idea being that the people want to hear them.

KHJ at 4:30 p.m. today brings to a conclusion the series of entertainment provided by voices of filmland. These programs have been well worth dialing. At 7:30 p.m. a special stringed octet arrangement of "A Londonderry Air" will be presented by Merle Johnson and his Crusaders. Also on this program will be a duet by Audrey Marsh and Veronica Wiggins, and a solo by Fred Vettel. Blue Monday's Jamboree from KFRC at 8 tonight will bring two hours of comedy, music and song. The first hour will be devoted to new artists while the second hour will bring the funmakers that have made the Jamboree a boon to radioland.

FAMILY PARTY AT KFI

KFI at 6:30 p.m. on the Family Party presents seven groups of songs from outstanding operetta, musical comedy and film successes. The program will open with excerpts from the famous old "Fiorodora." At 7 tonight the robust Norwegian dances by Gri ; and an oboe solo add novel appeal to the Rochester Civic Orchestra program.

KECA at 7 tonight. The Two Shades of Blue, Mart and Lill in a half-hour of real song, while at 9 p.m. Ray Van Dyne's orchestra will hold your dial with an hour of popular tunes of the day.

KNX at 7 tonight brings the Pacific Symphony in half an hour of concert music. "Egmont" by Beethoven and Kramer's prelude "Evening" will be featured. At 9 p.m. Paul Taylor's male quartet and the Piano Twins will feature "Varsity Rhythm," "Blue Shadows" and "Puttin' on the Ritz."

KFWB at 7:10 tonight, a musical continuity "Ol' Man River," including the title number and four excerpts from Ferde Grofe's Mississippi Suite, while at 9 p.m. Milton Douglas, baritone, will be heard as guest artist of Art Morans' Southlanders.

KTM at 8 tonight presents Edgar Rice Burroughs, author of the Tarzan books. At 8:30 p.m. Tom and Patsy, the newlyweds, run into a little trouble—for Patsy has cooked a meal.

DEATH CASE ON DOCKET FOR TODAY

Gingell to be Arraigned on Charge of Killing Wife and "Other Man"

Accused of killing his estranged wife and her asserted sweetheart, August A. Gingell will appear before Superior Judge Wood this morning for arraignment.

The shooting occurred at 1225 West Sixth street on the morning of February 21, last.

It is charged that Gingell trailed his wife and Sigurd Bjorneby to her apartment and, surprising them, forced them to stand at attention, while he denounced them both in a loud voice. Then Gingell is asserted have fired five shots which resulted in the death of his wife and Bjorneby.

After the shooting, Gingell walked to Seventh and Lucas streets and surrendered to a policeman.

Alimony Roll Increased for Fourth Wife

Spafford Wyckoff, 38 years of age, 11803 Texas avenue, Westwood, had $100 more added to his alimony burdens the last time he appeared in court, it is disclosed by Superior Judge Guerin's records.

Attorney Otto Emme protested against Wyckoff paying more alimony, asserting that his client already was paying around $200 a month to three former wives for the support of a son by each woman. Judge Guerin replied that Wyckoff should have considered that before he married a fourth time, and ordered the alimony paid.

Wyckoff, who was first married in 1910, pays his first wife $150 a month under a New Jersey court order. Mrs. Adelaide Rance Wyckoff gets $30 a month by order of a Nevada court. Mrs. Leona Wyckoff Tarnish of Barstow gets $25 a month.

BOOTLEGGING CHARGED

It took Mrs. Ethel F. Burkett three weeks to find out that her new husband was a bootlegger, she told Superior Judge Guerin in the course of her suit to divorce Charles J. Burkett. "And as soon as I found out that he was a bootlegger, I left him," said Mrs. Burkett. Judge Guerin granted her a decree.

SUSPECTED WIFE KILLER TO APPEAR

William Burkhart Faces Court Today on Charge of Murder at "Reunion"

William H. Burkhart, accused of shooting his wife, Ann McKnight Burkhart, to death during a wine-tonic "reunion party" when she returned to him after an estrangement, is to appear before Municipal Judge Ballard for preliminary hearing on murder charges today.

Burkhart, who is represented by Attorney Alfred Paonessa, denies shooting his wife, a 22-year-old dancer and film extra. Police assert the shooting took place in his bungalow at 6742 Franklin avenue on the night of March 24.

Boys to Have Annual Circus

"The forthcoming third annual Boy Scout Exposition and Circus, to be held the 14th, 15th and 16th inst. at the Shrine Civic Auditorium is more than just a 'merry gathering' for the boys," according to C. L. Peck, former member of the Board of Education and recently elected president of the Los Angeles Council, Boy Scouts of America.

"In addition to the merit badge exhibition, headquarters has planned a four-ring circus in conjunction with the exposition. Separate performances will be given each afternoon and evening during the three days. Many Scouts will participate in the circus itself in addition to experienced circus talent."

MEXICAN MAIL MAKES FAST TIME TO CANADA

Mail is being transported between Mexico and Canada with the loss of only one business day, Boeing system officials announced yesterday. Mexican mail, collected at San Diego, leaves that city by train at 6:30 p.m., and Los Angeles, at midnight on the Pacific Air Transport mail-passenger plane, reaching San Francisco Bay at 3:30 a.m., Portland, 9:30 a.m., Tacoma and Seattle at noon, and Vancouver, B. C., that evening, saving two days over train mail.

IMPROVEMENT PETITIONED

Margaret A. Boyce and other property owners have petitioned the City Council to institute proceedings for the improvement of Dominguez avenue from Anaheim to D streets with permanent paving, curbs and sidewalks. It was referred to the City Engineer and Public Works Committee.

PUNCTURE VINE PRICKS APATHY

Pest Known Scientifically as Tribulus Terrestris Gets Credit for Spurring Agricultural Agencies to Greater Weed-Control Efforts

Tribulus Terrestris isn't as bad as it sounds. According to George H. Hecke, director of the State Department of Agriculture, it is entitled to qualify as a blessing in disguise.

In a report to Gov. Young, Director Hecke gave credit to Tribulus Terrestris for inspiring all agencies having direct and indirect interest in agriculture to get behind a weed-control movement.

"Enormous spread of Tribulus Terrestris gave a real impetus to weed control," said Hecke.

Interest in the movement has spread to the college of agriculture and the State experiment station and a project is under way whereby the University of California will intensively follow investigation of control measures and co-operate with the Agriculture Department in developing a bulletin containing sound control information.

And Tribulus Terrestris? It has probably been the object of your ire under the name of puncture vine.

EX-GRID STAR ON HONEYMOON

He and Bride Return From Honolulu

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Earle

WHAT becomes of football stars?

They marry and turn to coaching or get smeared with oil, according to Raymond A. Earle, star University of Southern California halfback half a dozen years ago.

"Honey" Earle, as he was known, came back with his bride from Hawaii on their honeymoon yesterday. She was Miss Margaret Broxon, University of Washington, and it was an intercollegiate romance.

Earle is petroleum engineer for Italo Petroleum Company and McKeon Oil Company, and he said a great many gridiron veterans now are in the oil industry.

Corner-stone Lifted From Lodge Edifice

The oldest Knights of Columbus building in Southern California, 612 South Flower street, soon will be no more, workmen having almost completed the task of dismantling it.

Removal of the corner-stone yesterday was marked by solemn rites in which D. Joseph Coyne, Joseph Scott, Edward G. Purpus and others took part. The building was erected seventeen years ago by the lodge and long ago was outgrown.

The corner-stone was laid in 1913 by the late Bishop Thomas Conaty.

Following removal of the stone, its contents were delivered to Edward G. Purpus, present Grand Knight, by Coyne who held a similar post at the original ceremony.

Plans for the new clubhouse are incomplete.

Rodeo Parking Space Cleared

To afford free parking facilities for 18,000 automobiles, 100 acres adjacent to the Baker ranch stadium, to be the scene of the fifth annual Baker ranch rodeo at Saugus Sunday, the 27th inst., have been cleared, said Roy Baker, founder of the rodeo, yesterday.

Baker also announced that the ticket sale for the rodeo will open this morning.

BOARD FAVORS PERMIT TO PIPE LINE COMPANY

A temporary permit for the General Pipe Line Company to make excavations on certain streets and alleys in the Wilmington district for a gasoline pipe line between Torrance and Mormon Island, pending the granting of a franchise, has been recommended to the Public Utilities Committee of the City Council by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation, provided that if the franchise is not granted the streets and alleys will be restored to their former condition.

LEASE RENEWAL ASKED

The Board of Health Commissioners has asked the City Council to renew for three years the board's lease on property at 10321 Compton avenue. The Council referred the matter to the Finance Committee.

CAR THEFTS LESS THAN RECOVERIES

Sheriff's Detail Blames Many Losses of Autos to Neglect in Locking

Persons who fail to lock their automobiles often indirectly aid criminals in the commission of crimes, asserted Capt. Bispham, head of the Sheriff's automobile-theft detail, when he reported Saturday that automobiles valued in excess of $38,000 were recovered last month throughout the county.

"The automobile figures in practically all criminal activities in some manner or other," said Capt. Bispham. "Investigations by this office have disclosed that the major portion of the automobiles stolen in this county were unlocked or not properly locked. Closed cars, doubly secured by locked ignition and locked doors and windows are seldom molested.

During March 132 automobiles were reported stolen in county territory and 147 recoveries made, the recoveries including cars stolen during previous months, Bispham reported. The captain and eleven deputies, comprising the detail, made twenty-four arrests during the month, conducted 609 investigations and worked on an average of seventeen hours each overtime.

NORWEGIAN TO SPEAK ON MUSICAL TALENT

Dr. Jon Alfred Mjoen, director of the Norwegian government laboratory at Oslo, Norway, will give a public lecture on "Genius as a Biological Problem, with Special Reference to the Inheritance of Musical Talent," before the annual meeting of the Southern California branch of the American Eugenics Society at the University of Southern California at 8 p.m. today.

Winners of the essay contest conducted for college students on the Pacific Coast and sponsored by the Eugenics Society will be announced at the meeting.

CAB STAND PLEA STUDIED

Application by the Red Top Cab Company for five additional taxicab street stands at Central station is to be investigated this week by engineers of the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation before taking action. The company asserts its present five stands are inadequate to cope with its business.

THIRTEEN CONSIGNED TO PRISON

Four of Group Sent Up Last Week Convicted on Charges of Burglary

Four of the thirteen defendants sentenced to State prisons by Superior Court judges during the last week were convicted of burglary, according to the weekly report of Presiding Judge Wood of the criminal division of Superior Court.

Of the others sentenced, two were convicted of possession of stills, two of driving automobiles without consent of the owners, and one each of murder, attack, robbery, assault with a deadly weapon, and one of violation of Section 288-A of the Penal Code.

The list of defendants, the crimes of which they were convicted and the sentences imposed follow:

Howard Lee, Folsom, first-degree burglary, fourt counts, seven years to life, each. Second-degree burglary, one count, seven to fourteen years (sentences to run concurrently.)

Pasquale Bruno, San Quentin, second-degree murder, five years to life.

Joseph L. Steinbrenner, San Quentin, second-degree burglary, one to fourteen years (two counts to run consecutively.)

Tom Todoroff, San Quentin, attack, one to fifty years.

Leroy Coffman, San Quentin, first-degree robbery, five years to life.

Willis E. Carter, San Quentin, assault with a deadly weapon (admitting prior conviction of felony,) one to ten years.

Le Roy Jackson, Folsom, driving an automobile without consent of owner (admitting prior conviction,) not less than five years.

Claude J. Pelletier, San Quentin, second-degree burglary, one to fourteen years. Forgery, one to fourteen years.

John Anchor, Folsom, second-degree burglary (admitting prior conviction,) seven to fourteen years.

Robert I. Montgomery, San Quentin, (389-a P.C.) one to fifteen years.

John V. Henry, San Quentin, driving automobile without consent of owner, one to five years.

John Cotton, San Quentin, operating a still, one to five years.

Russian Actress Fights Suit of Producer's Wife

A suit to quiet title to a parcel of Hollywood property, brought by Mrs. Sydney Sprague, wife of a theatrical producer, against Olga Zacsek, a Russian actress, is on trial before Judge Gould in the Superior Court. Miss Zacsek played a leading role in "The Hotel Imperial," a play produced by Sydney Sprague and Warren Millais in 1928. She demanded $450 salary at the close of a performance and later obtained a judgment against Sprague and his wife in the Municipal Court for that amount.

Later the actress levied on the Sprague property in Hollywood. Mrs. Sprague, through her attorney, Glen Behymer, now is seeking to quiet title to this property, asserting that her husband deeded it to her in 1920. Miss Zacsek, represented by Attorney William J. Leete, contends that the transfer of the property by Sprague to his wife was not recorded until 1929.

Counter-Suits Air Affairs of Paint Concern

When the suit of William Milo Quinn against the Lucille Chemical Company goes to trial today before Superior Judge Hahn and a jury, assertions of fraud and counter-charges of persecution will be aired.

Quinn in his complaint asserts that the defendant company, a Nevada corporation with a manufacturing plant here, swindled him out of $1500 by representing that it owned property valued at more than $90,000 and that it held valuable paint-making secrets. He seeks to recover $1500 and punitive damages in the sum of $5000.

The company in its cross-complaint asks that it be given a judgment against Quinn for $24,700. The concern asserts that Quinn's charge he was swindled is false; that he has been waging a campaign of persecution that has damaged the company's business.

Abromson; monitor, George Gartler; assistant monitor, L. A. Schaffer; warden, Harry Friedman; guardian, Martin Pollick; trustees, Peter M. Kahn, chairman; Paul Friedman, L. A. Simon, Ben Schecter, N. Silverman, Ben Rosenthal and David Familian.

JUDICIARY CAMPAIGN BEGINS

Headquarters Opened for Conducting Bar Plebiscite on Superior Bench Candidates

Norman A. Bailie, president of the Los Angeles Bar Association, announces the opening of the judiciary campaign headquarters in the Rowan Building, with Stella E. Bryant as manager. Members of the committee include Louis G. Guernsey, chairman, Charles W. Lyon, Edna Covert Plummer, and Andrew W. Francisco. The advisory committee of trustees is made up of Lawrence L. Larrabee, chairman, Norman A. Bailie and Bertin A. Weyl.

According to Mr. Bailie, the association will take a plebiscite on candidates for the Superior Court between the time of the filing of declarations and the time for filing petitions, and will conduct a campaign on behalf of the candidates indorsed by the members of the association. Until the vote has been taken and the results announced, the association maintains a position of strict neutrality among the candidates, he said.

In discussing the opening of the campaign headquarters, Mrs. Bryant, who has been connected with the association for more than four years, said:

"The Los Angeles Bar Association is committed to the policy of placing and of keeping on the bench, judges whose integrity, ability, industry and independence are above question. The judiciary campaign committee endeavors to put that policy into practice. With the assurance of support and co-operation of the members of the bar that are already pouring into our offices, I feel assured that the splendid judiciary to which the residents of this county are entitled, will be elected at the coming election."

Book Dealers to Meet Here

Book dealers of the country will assemble for the first time in Southern California when the western division of the American Booksellers' Association opens its convention at the Biltmore with a luncheon on the 23rd inst. Delegates to the number of 700 are expected, representing dealers, publishers, libraries and authors, the majority coming from Western States.

Twenty committees have been preparing for the convention, under General Chairman Odo B. Slade of the Hollywood Bookstore.

Between sessions of Friday and Saturday trips will be made to the Huntington Library and other places of interest. The convention will close Saturday night with a banquet and dance.

ORATORIO SOCIETY TRIUMPHS

Bach's B Minor Mass Given Rendition at Shrine Under Smallman's Baton

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The Bach Mass in B minor conducted by John Smallman and sung by the Los Angeles Oratorio Society was given a fine performance at the Shrine Auditorium on Saturday night. This event is a high point in year's music and were it to be sung with the same standards of musicianship and careful preparation in New York or Rome, the response from those cities would be expressed in a sold-out house. Being well done in Los Angeles, simply means that a hard-working, self-sacrificing and intelligent director works years to present a great masterpiece of music's literature to a devoted few hundred.

Mr. Smallman, the chorus and members of the Philharmonic Orchestra have advanced forward in their understanding of this great "evidence of faith" since the first performance last year. The chorus has gained in flexibility. Spirited singing was the rule on Saturday evening. The audience gathered at 5:30 and a dinner intermission at 7 lasted one hour and a half, but during the three hours of music interest did not lag.

Edouard Nies Berger declared his mastery of the organ immediately. He is a newcomer in Los Angeles and his artistry is outstanding. He makes Bach's writings seem contemporary. His phrasing is alive and he seemed to be intuitive in his oneness with the chorus. Although Miss Gregg's work at the piano gives splendid support and is indispensable in preparation, in my opinion the piano is a detriment to performance because of its intruding tone.

The use of ensemble voices also facilitates preparation and the various groups were excellent in unity and nuance, but a certain elasticity and individuality is lost thereby, and I should like to hear the mass with single voices chosen from the choir membership.

Jay Plowe's flute soli in the difficult long passages of Bach gained new admirers of his art and the oboe d'amour, (a low-pitched oboe) played by Philip Memoli and Henri de Busscher provided an especial tenderness and a tasteful rubato. Albert Angermayer's solo violin led the strong section. Franz Huber, as always, gave to the double-bass parts a fine vigor of delineation.

It was all done so enthusiastically and in such crisp and studied utterance that one envied the performers on the stage who were making themselves a part of Bach's magnificent adoration and worship of God.

ORCHESTRA HEARD IN FINE PROGRAM

Leading Viola Players Enjoyed in Bach Concerto; Cadman Work Applauded

BY I. M. J.

Unusual combinations of instruments and an attractive work by a resident composer, balanced the weight of the Brahms symphony No. 1 in the program presented by Dr. Artur Rodzinski and the Philharmonic Orchestra yesterday afternoon. Because of the heat, the attendance was small in comparison with that of other "Pop" concerts this season but the presence of the orchestra's founder, W. A. Clark, Jr., added interest to the occasion.

The Bach double concerto for violas with a very small string orchestra accompanying, proved a very fine offering. Messrs. Kahgan and Ferir were the soloists. While Bach is usually of more pleasure to the performers than to the average listener, this concerto drew applause and appreciation from the audience because of its melodic beauty and the taste and musicianship with which it was played. The two gentlemen have a similarity of style which makes chamber music from them a well balanced affair. Although the conductor in no way intruded upon the performance, it would be especially interesting to hear this work with this orchestra without conductor.

Charles Wakefield Cadman took many a bow after the Oriental Rhapsody from "Omar Khayyam." It is a tuneful and rhythmical piece and highly descriptive withal. The orchestration is good and if played enough, it should easily become one of Cadman's popular successes.

The Korngold suite for small orchestra, including piano and small organ, was again delightful, having been repeated from a previous symphony pair. Humor, real loveliness of theme and a charming, youthful sentiment pervade it.

Dr. Rodzinski programmed the Brahms Symphony No. 1 again also and earned another ovation from the audience. His Brahms has gained a restraint of tone and a calm ardor that indicates spiritual growth. This man has made very big strides with the Los Angeles Philharmonic this year.

NEW BURLESQUE A HIT

"Jazz Babies," with a troupe of attractive leading ladies and two effective comedians, is the current burlesque at the Follies Theater. The production never lags or becomes tedious during the two hours that the show holds the stage, it is declared. Wanda Devon and Evelyn Myers offer singing and dancing specialties, sharing honors with Jane Haselton and Ruth Clemens. The comedians, Maurice Le Vine and Bumps Mack, are as amusing as usual. Others who deserve mention are Ray Parsons, Sam Farnum, George Crump and the chorus of forty.

SISTERS IN NEWS REELS

Renee Torres will make a series of news reels at M-G-M with her sister Raquel. These will be directed by Wesley Ruggles at his beach home. The work of Renee's in Buster Keaton's new picture, "Free and Easy," caused enough favorable comment to warrant her a long stay on the M-G-M lot.

GALA PREMIERE ARRANGED

Warner Brothers will celebrate the second anniversary of their Hollywood Theater for a month starting on the 19th inst., at midnight when "Song of the Flame" will have its world premiere at Warner Brothers' Theater in Hollywood. A large gathering of stars and celebrities is expected to be on hand.

"Song of the Flame" is a First National, Technicolor production, based on the Arthur Hammerstein operetta. The score is by Herbert Stothart and George Gershwin, and its tuneful melodies will again enthrall local audiences, it is said. The story concerns the Russian Revolution and the contests between the Bolsheviks and the Russian royalty.

The cast is headed by Alexander Gray, Bernice Claire, Noah Beery and Alice Gentle. Alan Crosland is the director.

The late premiere of "Song of the Flame" at the Hollywood theater will only be part of an anniversary celebration and the second big event will be the western premiere of Al Jolson in "Mammy" at Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater on the 24th inst.

Criterion Will Curtail Run of 'Phantom' Film

"The Phantom of the Opera" will end its run Wednesday at the Criterion, Thursday, "Montana Moon" will move from Loew's State to the Criterion for an engagement of eight days.

The 19th inst. "The King of Jazz," upon which Universal is said to have expended $2,000,000, will arrive.

"Montana Moon" is said to be scoring such a success at Loew's State that it was deemed advisable to cut short the last week of the "Phantom of the Opera" and to substitute the western musical romance in its place.

Aerial House Party Guests to Entertain

The first public appearance on the Coast of the noted pilots and the Fanchon and Marco entertainers on the first aerial house party is scheduled for tomorrow night at Loew's State Theater.

The pilots, Si Morehouse, Royal Leonard, Maj. Victor Bertrandis and Hal Holloway, and the Fanchon and Marco professionals are due to arrive on the two largest land planes in existence, the giant Fokker ships, tomorrow afternoon. The ships which have a capacity of thirty-two passengers each, have been on their way to the Coast on a maiden voyage. Here they are to be used by Western Air Express for passenger service.

Boy Violinist Plays Tonight

Yehudi Menuhin, 13-year-old boy violinist, will play tonight at the Shrine Auditorium. This youthful artist, who has been greatly honored abroad and in every large city in this country, shows added power and musicianship after two years' study and training abroad, it is related.

Tonight will celebrate the first rendition here of two notable works in Yehudi's repertoire, the first being the Bach Sonata in G major, a recently discovered work especially arranged by Yehudi's teacher, Adolf Busch, and Cesar Franck's Sonata in A major.

Singer Wires Regrets Here

Fox West Coast officials received a cable today from John McCormack expressing the regrets of the popular tenor at his inability to be present at the western premiere of "Song o' My Heart" at the Chinese the 19th inst. Mr. McCormack arrived at his home, Moore Abbey, County Kildare, Ireland, yesterday after two weeks in London. After spending the summer in Ireland the tenor will return to Hollywood in September.

The Chinese Theater will be dark for the six days preceding the McCormack premiere.

CAST FOR 'HOLIDAY' SELECTED

Dale Winter to Essay Chief Feminine Role at Playhouse

Henry Duffy has completed the cast for the Pacific Coast production of Philip Barry's comedy, "Holiday," which will start at the Hollywood Playhouse Sunday.

Dale Winter will be the guest star in the role of the independent minded Linda Seton, while the chief male role will be acted by Alexander Clark, Jr. Clark, a well-known Broadway leading man, recently returned from London, where he appeared in "The Patsy."

Helen Baxter, who played leading roles in the New York productions of "The Love Child," "Get Me in the Movies," "The Behavior of Mrs. Crane" and "The Great Gatsby," will have the important role of Julia Seton, while the chief comedy part will be played by Robert Keith. Others in the cast are Philip Tead, Dorothy La Mar, Clarence Geldert, Olive Cooper, Jane Elton, Herbert Portier, Harry Adams and John Mackenzie. Edwin H. Curtis is directing the rehearsals.

Civic Theater to Hold 'Hero' Over for Week

"The Hero," with Grant Mitchell as guest player with the Civic Repertory Theater, has won favor with audiences to the extent that the governing board has decided to hold it over a third week at the Music Box.

A few weeks ago it was decided to cut the run of all plays down to two weeks, beginning with "The Romantic Young Lady." An unexpected situation developed and it was necessary to hold the Martinez-Sierra comedy over a third week.

Now "The Hero" is bringing such returns to the box office that the board feels it would be bad judgment to limit the engagement. Grant Mitchell's performance as Andrew Lane in Gilbert Emery's play is proving popular with theatergoers. The general make-up of the cast assembled by Director Paul Irving is widely commented upon. Walter Vaughn, Norma Lee, Georgette Rhodes, Helen Keers and little Jackie Searle are responsible for fine portrayals also.

"Desert Song" in Last Week

Lillian Albertson's stage version of "The Desert Song" with Perry Askam, Josephine Houston and the original California cast, is now in its last week at the Majestic Theater, where the operetta will close its fifth Los Angeles engagement Saturday night.

Afterward the present company will leave for San Francisco to open an engagement in "The New Moon."

ANNUAL REVEL ARRANGED

Sam Hardy, the Harlequin of the Masquers, announces that the fourth annual revel of that organization will be held at El Capitan Theater, through the courtesy of Henry Duffy, on Saturday night, May 10.

RANGER ON THEIR TRAIL

Fox's "The Lone Star Ranger" will follow Jack Oakie and Polly Walker in "Hit the Deck," Radio's nautical musical comedy extravaganza, at the Fox Palace Theater on Thursday, it is announced.

CANCER VICTIM REPORTS GAINS

Long Beach Youth Improves Under Treatment

After Eight Injections He Returns to Job

Clinic Heads Decline to Comment on Case

For the first time in many months a 15-year-old Long Beach boy now is able to perform a limited amount of actual work each day as a result of treatment received at cancer clinics being conducted here by Dr. Walter Coffey and Dr. John D. Humber, codiscoverers of the anticancer extract, it was learned yesterday. A few weeks ago the case was considered beyond hope, but with the administration of eight treatments the young patient has gained twenty-two pounds.

Adhering to their announced policy, Drs. Coffey and Humber are still unwilling to pronounce the boy cured. Only time will establish whether or not the relief is permanent, Dr. Coffey said. Meanwhile the case is being watched with particular interest. The patient is under the personal care of Dr. Renfrew, who is conducting the Long Beach clinic.

Several patients who had to be carried into the clinic on stretchers in the beginning now are able to walk in for treatment and most of them report marked improvement.

A new record was established by the number treated this week-end, approximately 1500 persons receiving injections. It is announced that more than 1000 cases are now under regular treatment in Southern California.

A delegation of specialists from the American College of Surgeons is expected to attend next week's clinic, which will be held at the usual location, 621 South Los Angeles street.

DOG ASSASSIN LOOSE AGAIN

Activities of a dog poisoner in the Broadway Park district are being investigated by Deputy Sheriffs Angier and Winternute of the Vermont-avenue Sheriff's substation.

The investigation was ordered by Capt. Neighbors following a series of reports from residents in the vicinity of One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street that dogs owned by them have been poisoned. The most recent poisoning was that of a police dog owned by J. L. McGrew, 1350 West One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street, the animal dying after having eaten poisoned meat near the McGrew home.

Possibility that a gang of petty thieves working in the locality may be throwing the meat about to get rid of the dogs is also being investigated.

Sentencing Due in Money Fraud

Three men who pleaded guilty to possession of counterfeit coins are scheduled to appear today before United States District Judge James for sentence. The three are Hubert Crenshaw, Henry Alexander and John Hatala. They were arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Wolf and Davis and Chief Agent Ashe of the Treasury Department. The officers raided the apartment of Hatala on South Vermont street, and are said to have found molds for the making of 50-cent coins.

BOWLERS PLAN TOURNEY

An application by the Southern California Lawn Bowling Association to hold its semi-annual tournament on the greens at Exposition Park from the 18th to 19th insts., inclusive, and to serve lunches during the tournament, has been referred by the Park Board to Secretary Hassett with power to act.

Wooden Leg of Suspect Alibi

A wooden leg, usually considered a handicap, proved an asset to Harold Esboldt, 23 years of age, of 4121 Hooper avenue, when he appeared in Municipal Judge Russill's court for preliminary hearing on charges of holding up a service station at 2210 North Broadway.

C. T. Woodman, operator of the station, described a hold-up on March 16, last, identifying Esboldt as the bandit. He said, however, that the bandit ran to his automobile after the robbery. When Judge Russill found Esboldt is unable to walk without a decided limp he ordered the case dismissed.

Two Will Plead in Liquor Case

Harry Cohen and Sam Abrams are to enter pleas today in the court of United States District Judge Killits on charges of violating the national prohibition act. The two were accused jointly with Jack Ormsby, former Federal prohibition officer, with operating a large still on a ranch near Palmdale in Antelope Valley.

Tuberculosis Clinic Reports Many Bookings

A report on the first week of effort of the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association's early diagnostic campaign, according to Miss Sidney Maguire, secretary, shows hundreds of parents have made appointments to have their children examined.

The campaign is concentrated on children from infancy to 16 years of age. Children up to 2 years will be examined by appointment only at the Child Welfare Conference clinics of the City Health Department. Children from 2 to 16 will be examined, by appointment, at the clinics maintained by the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association and the City Health Department. All appointments can be made by phoning FAber 5211, Station 432, or TRinity 6584.

Author Lofting to Arrive by Air

Hugh Lofting, creator of "Doctor Dolittle" and author of other children's books, will arrive tomorrow from New York via Transcontinental Air Transport-Maddux Air Lines. Mr. Lofting plans to finish his new book "The Twilight of Magic" while on the Coast. It will be brought out in the autumn by his publishers, Frederick A. Stokes Company. He will give a number of lectures while in California.

OVERSEAS AVIATORS ANNOUNCE BANQUET

The Overseas Aviators will hold their annual banquet at 6:30 p.m. on the 19th inst. in the Bendix Building, according to an announcement by Paul Penland, president. Col. William Thaw, one-time commanding officer of the Lafayette Escadrille, and Gen. William Mitchell have been invited. The group has nearly 200 members.

SUSPECTED GANG CHIEF REBOOKED

Youth Faces New Charge; He and Eight Others to Be Shown in Shadow Box

Albert Guy, 19 years of age, whose asserted confession of more than a score of robberies implicated and caused the arrests Saturday of eight other suspects, was rebooked yesterday at the City Jail on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

The rebooking was the result, according to Detective Lieutenant Gottlieb, of Guy having shot at and narrowly missed an attendant in a gasoline station at 3205 Mission Road March 30, last, during one of the hold-ups.

Guy with the other suspects will be shown publicly in the shadow box at Central Police Station in an effort to have victims identify them in recent robberies.

Others in custody are: Henry Guy, 20, brother of Albert; Bernie Betz, 21; Al Miller, 19; Johnny Sabina, 23; Thomas Diez, 19; Chester Leisner, 19; William J. Haldpoff, 20, and Edward McCue, 18.

The Guys and Betz, according to Gottlieb, are the ringleaders of the gang which, it is suspected, has been responsible for nearly thirty recent robberies. Albert Guy was arrested after a license number of an automobile he used was traced. The round-up of the others followed in a house at 146 Alma street by Gottlieb. The Guys and Betz were in possession of revolvers, Gottlieb reported.

Peanut Problem

Notwithstanding the enjoyment over her first bag of peanuts, Nancy Vera, just past 2, was experiencing difficulty in breaking the shells of the monster goober with her tiny fingers.

"Muvver," she asked, holding up a big peanut, "will you unbutton this thing for me?"

ROBBERY SUSPECT SHOT

Bullet Halts Youth's Flight Following Arrest With Two Companions in Hold-up

An asserted service station bandit was shot in flight yesterday as he attempted to escape after two West Los Angeles policemen had placed him and two companions under arrest in Palms.

The wounded suspect is Billy Fisher, 21 years of age, of 418 Cattaragus street, Culver City. He has a flesh wound in the leg, which physicians report is not serious. His companions are Cliff Payne, 17, and Buddy Hatton, 19, both of the Golden West Apartments, Fifth and Figueroa streets. All three are booked on suspicion of robbery.

The shooting occurred in front of 12425 Mitchell avenue, Palms, said to be the address of a girl friend of the trio. Traced there, the youths were taken into custody, when they drove up in an asserted stolen automobile, by Officers Lampkin and MacDonald. Payne and Hatton submitted to arrest, but Fisher, according to the police, bolted down the street. Policeman Lampkin fired, and Fisher fell.

According to the arresting officers, Fisher admitted holding up a grocery in Palms and an oil station in Venice last week, stating he needed money with which to meet traffic fines.

Tire Changer No Operator

Angelo Pontrelli, 652½ North Spring street, does not know how to drive an automobile and has no intention of trying to drive one, he told Municipal Judge Valentine when he appeared in traffic court charged with failure to have an operator's license.

"What were you doing with a car when Officer Bell gave you a tag on Sunset Boulevard," the court wanted to know.

When Pontrelli explained he was merely changing a tire for the owner of the car, who was getting a cup of coffee in a near-by restaurant, Judge Valentine dismissed the charge.

CLASS FOR LIFE GUARDS

A course of training for swimming instructors is announced by Metropolitan Evening High School, 234 West Venice Boulevard. Classes will be conducted Tuesday and Thursday evenings, beginning tomorrow, under direction of Albert C. Gordon, Los Angeles chapter, American Red Cross.

School Chain Organized to Teach Gliding

Organized to train students in glider flying, Pacific Coast Gliders, Inc., is to establish a chain of schools on the Coast at once, according to a report received by A. W. Poole, manager of the Chamber of Commerce aviation department. It will use the Bowlus training system and the sailplanes.

The company is to open the Los Angeles school this week and will take over the school already established by Mr. Bowlus in San Diego. Sponsors of the project are Norman Kerr, S. R. Moore, D. Martin, P. E. Keeler and Edwin Gardner. Temporary offices are at 961 I. W. Hellman Building.

LEASE RENEWAL ASKED

MODES OF THE MOMENT

by Honore Booth

FASHION EXPERT OF HARPER'S BAZAAR

NEW YORK, April 6. (Exclusive) You have by now saluted the twenty-first of March, official first day of spring. Even before then inevitable omens had made you suspect that spring was not far behind; the Paris openings would have told you even if the weather had failed to. For the smart woman this is an exciting and crucial wardrobe time. It's off with the old, and along with the new that you are donning you must plan new "undernaths." Your summer lingerie will be as radically different from your winter as though you had worn woolens to ward off the cold.

Corselettes, a Summer Solution

I saw a collection of spring and summer foundation garments the other day which told the corset story splendidly. The combination garment which I described to you the last time I wrote about lingerie (corset, panties and bandeau all in one) is called a corselette. The first one in this particular showing was made of a fine cotton net. It is unquestionably cool and does the supporting work of a heavier fabric capably. It should tub ideally, and it is definitely dainty and attractive looking.

There followed a grand model for the active sportswoman, in tricot. It was shown in a figured navy blue, but might be had in the conventional lingerie colors. The cutting was a triumph. The top was made like a pair of overalls, no back at all, a little apron-top front, held into position by the straps, strong practical ones that crossed low down in the back. The little front is so well held in place that it actually does the service of an honest-to-goodness bandeau. Below the waist the garment is fitted snugly, and three triangular pieces of elastic are set into it—one on either side of the front of the hips, to draw it tight over tummy and hips, and one just below the decolletage in back to mould the waistline a bit.

The Corset Wardrobe

Lightness, flexibility, freedom of motion are a few of the essentials of the summer undergarment. A real wardrobe is needed. Light, but strong corselettes for sports which will launder as easily and indestructibly as your chemise. Afternoon ones that are a little less free, but made of cool fabrics. The chiffon afternoon dress will require as trim and slim a foundation line as the evening dress does, and must be arranged so that you do not have to wear a number of garments with their resultant array of shoulder straps. To this end the corselette has a little skirt as well as panties. There you have one pair of shoulder straps from which depend all the underneaths you need. For evening, the skirt is not necessary and you will wish a very filmy and dressy garment as gossamer as your frock.

An excellent feature of the best corselettes today is the treatment of the shoulder strap. About two inches before it reaches the back decolletage, it splits into two and the two straps are joined to the bodice about an inch and a half apart. This keeps the strap from slipping and sliding off the shoulder. But better still, this little forked section is made of elastic, so the whole strap is kept taut, without too much pull on the wearer's shoulder, allowing complete freedom of motion.

noted her loss. A complaint was lodged with the police.

Mme. A. Rieffel gave a large reception last week at the American Women's Club of Paris in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eichheim of Santa Barbara. Mr. Eichheim, the American musician, is well known in Asia, Europe and America for his studies and experiments with oriental music, and has passed many years collecting oriental music and musical instruments. He will conduct his latest composition called "Java" in which is used the Javanese orchestra or "Gamalan" this month in Paris, where Mr. and Mrs. Eichheim are for several months.

Josef Haberboch and his daughter have been stopping at the Grand Hotel in Vienna. Mr. Haberboch will visit Florence, Rome, Milan and St. Gallen on his way to Paris, and will sail for America on the liner Berengaria. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Adler and Earl V. Bignall, also of Los Angeles, are other guests of the Grand Hotel, while Dr. Louis J. Regan of Hollywood is stopping at the Hotel Hammerand.

George Bromby of Los Angeles and Irvin Willat of Hollywood have been staying at the Europahof in Dresden, Germany.

Leroy M. Edwards, past potentate of the Al Malaikah Temple of Los Angeles, has crossed to Europe aboard the Cunard liner Berengaria from New York. He is accompanied by Mrs. Edwards and their subdeb daughter, Miss Betty Edwards.

A party of Californians who crossed from America recently, staying at the Hotel Wagram in Paris, includes Mrs. M. B. Pennybaker and Mr. and Mrs. John L. De Leot of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Worley, Mrs. Isabelle Konold and Amos Konold of Pasadena; and Mrs. A. S. Hage and Mrs. V. L. McCrady of San Diego.

Ralph Fair, who recently arrived at the Hotel George V in Paris from Rumania, has left for London.

Miss Annie Van der Hooven, 29 years of age, of Los Angeles died in the American Hospital of Paris last week of tuberculosis. She had been ill for some time and her death had been expected daily since her mother, Mrs. Gladys Van der Hooven, succumbed there early last February.

Mrs. Harcourt Hervey of Los Angeles is accompanying Judge and Mrs. William Rhodes Hervey on a tour of the continent. They will remain in Europe until the late spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Sherer were among the passengers who crossed from New York on the liner Rotterdam in February for a Mediterranean cruise. They expect to remain in Europe until the end of April.

Mrs. Price Hague and her daughter, Miss Evelyn Hague, have taken an apartment at the Hotel Plaza-Athenee in Paris. They have just returned to the French capital after a lengthy sojourn in Switzerland.

Jere Lee Blodgett, who has been touring the Mediterranean aboard the liner Carfinthia, was a recent visitor to Constantinople.

George P. Bramberg has been stopping in Milan, Italy.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BUTTERSCOTCH PARFAIT

One teaspoonful of butter, one-half cupful of sugar, one-fourth cupful of water, two eggs, one cupful of heavy cream, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract; place the butter in a saucepan, add the sugar and stir until melted, gradually add the water and cook until it will spin a thread, place the mixture in a double boiler, beat the eggs and slowly add them to the mixture, remove from the fire, place in a pan of cracked ice and continue beating until the mixture is cold. Then add the whipped cream and flavoring, place in the ice box for two and one-half to three hours. Serve in glasses garnished with whipped cream and pecan nut meats.

CHEESE AND SPINACH TIMBALE

Two cupfuls of cooked spinach, three eggs, two-thirds of a cupful of milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one and one-half cupfuls of grated cheese, a seasoning of salt, paprika, and a few grains of cayenne pepper, chop the spinach fine, beat the yolks of the eggs, add the milk, butter, cheese and seasonings. Place in a double boiler and stir until the cheese has melted, mix one-half of the cheese sauce with the spinach, and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs, fill buttered molds with the mixture, place in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven. Turn out on a hot plate, garnish with slices of hard-boiled eggs, and pour the remainder of the cheese sauce around the timbales.

JELLIED MARMALADE SALAD

One and one-half tablespoonfuls of gelatine, one-fourth of a cupful of water, one-half a cupful of boiling water, one-fourth of a cupful of cocoanut, one-fourth of a cupful of orange marmalade, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one-half a cupful of cucumber, one-half a cupful of celery; soak the gelatine in the cold water, dissolve in the boiling water, add the marmalade and lemon juice, when beginning to stiffen, add the cucumber that has been cut in small cubes, add the celery cut in thin strips and then small pieces, add the cocoanut, pour the mixture into a mold that has been rinsed in cold water, allow to harden, serve on lettuce with a French or cream-salad dressing.

OATMEAL FRUIT MACAROONS

Two eggs, one-half a cupful of sugar, one-fourth of a cupful of corn syrup, one tablespoonful of melted butter, one-half a cupful of chopped raisins, two and one-half cupfuls of rolled oats, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, beat the eggs until light, add to them the sugar, syrup, and melted butter. Mix the fruit with the rolled oats and salt. Then combine the two mixtures. Drop from a spoon on a well-oiled baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

MR. AND MRS. QUACK REMAIN

In other folks' affairs don't pry;
It never pays, so never try.
—Mrs. Quack.

Peter Rabbit managed to get around to the Smiling Pool at least once every night. Usually he got there just as the Black Shadows came creeping out from the Purple Hills across the Green Meadows. Mr. and Mrs. Quack, the Mallard Ducks and their friends who had stopped off at the Smiling Pool on their way North, had been there a week now. You see, they were getting a good living for Farmer Brown's Boy was putting out corn for them. Every day he brought down corn. There is nothing that the Quacks like better than nice, plump, yellow corn.

One evening Peter noticed that there was a great deal of uneasiness among the Quacks. They swam about this way and that way for no particular reason. They continually stretched their heads up and now and then raised themselves from the water and flapped their wings. The only ones who did not appear uneasy were Mr. and Mrs. Quack. They seemed to be keeping somewhat by themselves. Finally they swam over near where Peter was sitting.

"What is the matter with those Ducks?" Peter inquired.

Mrs. Quack pretended to be surprised. "I don't see anything the matter with those Ducks," said she. "They look all right to me. In fact, they look better than they did when they arrived. They have been having good living ever since they reached the Smiling Pool."

"Are they afraid of something?" demanded Peter.

"If they are, I don't know it," said Mrs. Quack. "I don't see anything around here to be afraid of."

"Then what makes all those Ducks so uneasy?" Peter inquired. "You certainly can't say that they're not uneasy."

"Oh," replied Mrs. Quack, "they are simply getting anxious to move along."

"You mean to move on North?" asked Peter.

Mrs. Quack nodded. "That's it," said she. "They've been talking about it for the last day or two. They like it here and, of course, they like this nice corn we have been having, but they are anxious to get up to their nesting grounds."

"Aren't you just as anxious as they are?" inquired Peter.

Mrs. Quack looked at Mr. Quack and they shook their heads. "No," said she. "No, we are not particularly anxious to start along. In fact, Mr. Quack and I have talked it over and we have decided to stay a while longer. You see, we have made that journey so many times that sometimes we rather dread it. There are constant dangers all the way. Sometimes it isn't easy to get enough to eat. So we have decided to stay here a while."

"Do you mean that you are going to stay and nest here?" inquired Peter.

"I didn't say that, did I?" retorted Mrs. Quack. "I said we had decided to stay a while. What we may do later I don't know."

"Well," replied Peter, "I think that shows good sense. Anyone who knows when he is well off shows good sense."

"Then what are you doing over here?" inquired Mrs. Quack slyly. "It isn't nearly as safe over here as it is in the dear Old Briarpatch."

Peter pretended not to hear this.

"Oh," replied Mrs. Quack, "they are simply getting anxious to move along.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, eczema and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

DOES YOUR BABY REFUSE TO DRINK WATER?

THE more conscientious mothers become about every single detail of child care, the more apt they are to cling to rules and forsake common sense. Rules are fine guide lines, but they can never take the place of good judgment based on the needs of the individual child.

In the matter of water drinking, it is true that everywhere one reads, "The child needs to have water frequently throughout the day," or something to that effect. The result usually is that no matter how large a formula the child gets, no matter how much orange juice and water he takes, no matter what quantities of breast milk he gets, the mother dutifully stuffs water into him to the tune of spluttering and shrieks.

When the body needs something which is offered, it doesn't "turn it down." If the child is offered plain, cool water by spoon or cup or bottle and wants it, he will take it. If he doesn't, then there is no point in forcing it down. When baby consistently refuses to drink water which is offered him frequently, stop worrying if he won't have it. When he wants a drink and needs it, he will take it.

DON'T SWEETEN WATER

Mrs. A.M.K., and lots of other mothers have been worrying about the above problem. Some of them tempt the baby by putting sugar in the water. That is just the thing NOT to do, for if he needs water it is to quench his thirst and whoever could do that with sweet water? Mrs. A.M.K. says, "I try to give baby water and she takes it in her mouth and then spits it out. I give her orange juice and cod liver oil and she eats cereals and vegetable soups. I put water with her orange juice. Why won't she drink water?"

Through the orange juice, vegetable soup, formula, etc., your baby is getting all the fluid she needs. More would be superfluous to her, so she refuses it.

Try giving water by cup or spoon rather than bottle. If the baby plays with a tiny, light cup the desire to drink something out of it can be fulfilled by putting a tablespoonful or more of water in it. Babies learn to drink water competently from a cup from the time they are able to sit up, not perfectly at first but with increasing proficiency.

Hot weather is also a stimulant for water drinking, for babies get so hot and thirsty that they are eager to accept a drink of cool water. Cease thinking of it as a problem and expect that when the baby is thirsty she'll drink without any urging.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Safer Than Water

When the bisque doll in your family gets very much soiled, rub it well with cold cream and then wipe off with a clean white rag. It will clean beautifully with no injury to this important member.

Better Results

If your yard is small and appears crowded on wash day, try hanging the heavy underwear and other large garments on cheap wooden coat hangers. They can be hooked sidewise on the line, taking up less space and drying in better shape.

Thai Telephone Bell

When the telephone or door bell rings while you are ironing, take time to pull out the plug before answering. It takes but a second and the habit can be formed readily. Even if the iron does not cause a fire it is very bad for the wear of it, to become overheated.

Health and Diet

ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

DO YOU HAVE ELASTIC INNER TUBES?

The little tubes which carry the blood from the heart to the tissues are called arteries. These have an elastic lining which expands and contracts in waves originating with the contraction of the heart. This is the pulse you can feel at various parts of the body. The arteries stretch and contract a good deal like rubber. When the patient grows older, the elastic in his arteries may lose its snap like an old garter, and then he has what is called hardening of the arteries.

It is an old saying and true that a man is as old as his arteries, for the person with brittle arteries is truly aged, while the one with supple, flexible arteries is youthful. There is no reason for having the arteries harden early in life, since by reasonable living their elasticity may be preserved throughout life. Remember that your arteries are a good deal like the inner tubes on your automobile. In fact, they might be called the inner tubes of your body, with the exception that the inner tubes on a car carry air and those in the human being carry blood. The best inner tube is made of springy, live rubber, and the best arteries are those which start out in life with plenty of flexibility.

We begin life with arteries which might almost be stamped, "Guaranteed for sixty years," but both inner tubes and arteries must be treated rightly if the best mileage is to be gotten from them. Inner tubes which are scorched while burning up the road with bursts of speed are apt to wear out, and arteries which are put under a great strain under the exciting press of modern life are bound for an early reconditioning or for the scrap pile.

The ancients really did think that the arteries were inner tubes made to carry air because they found that the arteries were full of air after death had taken place, and they deduced that this was their purpose in the body and gave them the name which signified that they were air carriers.

Hardening of the arteries itself may cause no discomfort. The principal trouble arises in that their hardening prevents the proper flow of blood so that the tissues which they supply suffer from a lack of this important food-fluid. Thus, the main symptoms of arterial hardening arise from the diminished blood supply.

In the beginning, usually the smaller arteries are affected, becoming roughened, thickened and hardened on the inside, but as time goes on, the larger arteries may be affected, causing them to become narrower as the walls become thicker. This throws an extra burden on the heart to push the blood through them and it usually enlarges. High blood pressure is often present, too, as the blood must be under a high pressure to pass through the narrowed vessels.

The three vital organs which are most often affected by the hardening of the arteries are the heart, kidneys and the brain. The brain may be softened, the heart enlarged and the kidneys present an overgrowth of connective tissue. When the brain is affected, the first symptoms are those which are due primarily to a lack of blood, such as dizziness, reeling, inability to arise quickly, loss of power of memory. When the heart is affected, it becomes enlarged and there may be some pain through the heart or difficulty in breathing under the slightest exertion. The signs of derangement of the kidneys will be some phase of Bright's disease.

The electric light and power industry of the United States generated and made available for distribution in 1929 91,000,000,000 kilowatt hours. Of this amount 15,000,000,000 were lost in transmission.

Less Heat

Aluminum pans do not require so much heat as other ware and excess heat frequently causes them to bulge in places. Heat them slowly and these bulged places can be hammered back into shape. Then after they are straight try and remember about using less heat with them.

In the United States alone nearly 150,000 persons have fallen victims to the hobby of catching action pictures of their families and friends, through the small motion-picture camera.

GUESTS MARVEL AT FLAVOR OF GREEN PEAS

Hostess Tells the Secret and Creates Surprise

At a dinner recently, compliments were made about the unusual flavor of the peas which were served. One lady asked where they were bought. Upon being told that they came from the same market that she patronized, she stated that never in her dealings there had she been sold such delicious peas.

Finally the hostess told her guests that she had added sugar to the peas as they cooked. Her rule was a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt. She then went on to say that this combination of sugar and salt produced equally delicious results in the cooking of all vegetables whether canned or fresh.

Many cooks who know the value of sugar in cooking, keep a mixture of sugar and salt within reach. Some use two parts sugar to one part salt—some, equal parts. Either combination is splendid for seasoning meats and stews and also in the making of salad dressings. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

The "HOW" and "WHY" of the Healthful BEN-HUR Drip method,

1. Take the BEN-HUR Healthful Coffee-Maker apart. Insert the patented silk fibre filter papers flat over the perforation in the lower part of the filter.

2. Now pour on top of the filter sheet as many spoonfuls of BEN-HUR Drip Coffee as cups of brew are desired . . . NONE needed "for the pot."

3. Next place water spreader in place and turn it a little to lock it in place. Now you are ready to place the coffee-maker on your coffee pot.

4. After scalding pot with boiling water, to pre-heat its place coffee-maker on coffee pot (or percolator if percolating apparatus is removed)—then pouring BOILING water into coffee-maker for number of cups of brew desired.

5. Now place cover on the coffee-maker and turn to lock. The sparkling amber beverage will be ready to serve in 3 to 5 minutes, according to amount of coffee prepared.

While tens of thousands of people are now enjoying BEN-HUR Drip Coffee, made the Ben-Hur Healthful way, there are others who are not familiar with the Ben-Hur Drip Method of coffee-making. The procedure is very simple. If you are not already a Ben-Hur Drip Coffee enthusiast, read the simple directions at the left.

WHY more delicious .... and healthful

By pouring the boiling water through the coffee, and not boiling the coffee "grounds" the release of the bitter astringent tannic acid in the coffee bean is checked. Eliminating this tannic acid from the beverage greatly improves flavor. Then, by using the patented silk fibre filter paper, the insoluble and indigestible fats, always present in the coffee bean, are filtered out. Coffee made this correct, scientific and simple way is a tonic—strengthening and good for you.

If you are not already a BEN-HUR Drip Coffee enthusiast, visit your grocer today and avail yourself of the unusually low introductory offers on Ben-Hur Healthful Coffee-Making appliances.

WATER BONDS DRIVE PLANNED

Campaign to be Launched Wednesday Next Week

Chamber of Commerce Will Sponsor Luncheon

Many Civic Groups Pledge Support for Issue

Wednesday, the 16th inst., has been set as the date upon which a city-wide campaign in support of the $38,500,000 water bond issue officially is to be launched, it is announced by E. J. Fleming, chairman of the publicity committee of the citizens' water bond headquarters.

At a water bond campaign luncheon to be given under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce, it was announced, an organized movement in support of the bonds is to be set under way. The official campaign will be launched by a proclamation issued by the Mayor and by a statement by Joseph Scott, general chairman of the Citizens' Water and Power Committee.

Formal launching of the water bond campaign will be the signal for a general city-wide rally of citizen organizations in support of the bond issue, it was stated by Chairman Fleming.

With President Austin of the chamber acting as chairman, the principal speakers will be the Mayor and Scott. In addition to Chamber of Commerce membership it is expected that practically every major civic and commercial group in the city will be represented, prepared to pledge active support for the bonds.

GROUPS AID CAUSE

Spokesmen from the Downtown Business Men's Association, the Chamber of Commerce, the Apartment House and Hotel Protective Association, California Branch League of Women Voters, various women's clubs, the federated civic and improvement associations, unions and numerous service clubs are scheduled to be present.

"Scores of the largest civic and commercial organizations already have placed themselves squarely on record in support of the bonds and have pledged their active help to bring about the overwhelming vote for the bonds on May 20," said Mr. Fleming, "and many other groups have indicated a desire to co-operate in this task as soon as they are given material with which to work and objectives to attain."

Water bond headquarters have been established at the Alexandria and all inquiries relative to the campaign should be directed to the Citizens' Water and Power Committee, Hotel Alexandria, telephone MUtual 2913, Mr. Fleming stated. In addition to the general headquarters, a number of district headquarters are being established, it was announced.

DISTRICT HEADQUARTERS

Thus far, Mr. Fleming stated, water bond district headquarters have been established at the following locations: Hollywood Central Building, Hollywood Boulevard and Cherokee street; Highland Park district at 5954 Pasadena avenue; Lincoln Heights district at 2723 North Broadway; Central-avenue district at 4226 Central avenue; Western-avenue district at Third street and Western avenue, southwest district at Eighty-first street and Vermont avenue; Venice district at Venice Chamber of Commerce Building; San Pedro district at 823 South Pacific street.

"The setting of a date for an official launching of the water bond campaign is the first major move in a plan to carry the bond campaign forward in an orderly and effective manner," continued Mr. Fleming.

"The task of obtaining the adoption of these water bonds is a task belonging to every citizen, every property owner, every business man, every wage earner in Los Angeles. The fortunes of each and every one of us, rich or poor, are involved. We must pass these bonds—and pass them by an overwhelming vote.

"The people are entitled to know why this money is needed and how it is to be invested. They are entitled to know how the bonds are to be repaid without involving any sort of tax burden on the citizen. Our committee is prepared to give full information on the bonds, but to do this we will need the active and organized support of every civic and commercial agency in Los Angeles."

CHASED INTO HEN COOP, SAYS COLORED COMEDIAN

"Ah suttinly intends to pros-cute him; 'cause . . . well, jes' imagine mah embarrassment . . . befo' th' eyes of all mah friends!"

Stepin Fetchit, colored comedian of stage and films, whose real name is Lincoln Perry, thus stated his intentions yesterday after he had caused the arrest of Simon P. Johnson, also colored, of 458 North Alvarado street, on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

The deadly weapon, according to Stepin, is a club with which he asserts Johnson thumped him over the head after chasing him with a gun and causing him to become entangled in the wire of a chicken coop behind the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Winston at 427 Mountain View avenue, where a party was in progress.

According to the police version of the case, the feud originated a week ago during another party at the Perry home, 1606 East Fortieth street, when Stepin knocked Johnson under the piano with an iron pipe for "butting in" on a quarrel he was having with his wife.

Steaming Crater Found in Vicinity of Santa Paula

A large volcanic crater whose fires died 1,000,000 years ago, but whose dying gasps of hissing steam still issue from cracks in the brick-red lava, was discovered yesterday by S. Maus Purple, independent Los Angeles geologist, near Santa Paula. Mr. Purple said the old volcano is near the highway which runs between Moorpark and Santa Paula, three miles west of Somis.

A large area of the old cone is heavily charged with subterranean steam, according to Mr. Purple, and a few stokes with a pick opened hissing steam vents. In some places he declared the ground is so hot that it is impossible to stand on it.

Some of the vents carry strong odors of sulphur, he said, and several of them are encrusted with the yellow element, condensed from the hot vapors.

Mr. Purple brought back samples of colored earths and rock which he asserted would be useful in paint manufacture and other materials which he said were used as the base for soap cleaners and polishing compounds.

Gem Bandits Invade Home at Long Beach

LONG BEACH, April 6.—"Yes, this is Warner's house and papa is home," 7-year-old Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Warner, 3809 East Second street, Long Beach, told two men who rang the bell early tonight.

They pushed past him, covered the elder Warner with a gun as he advanced toward them and robbed him and his wife of $1500 in diamonds and $70 in cash.

Police declare that this same pair of bandits have obtained more than $10,000 in loot the past six months, either holding up citizens in their homes or at the garage when they return from trips. In every case the victim has been spotted by the thieves by wearing diamonds in public, the officers state.

After entering the home the thieves pulled down the blinds and locked the three in a closet. They were released an hour later by a neighbor.

Achievements in Palestine Told

The achievements of the Jewish workers in Palestine were described by two pioneers in the building of the Jewish homeland at a meeting conducted by the Palestine Labor Committee of Los Angeles last night at Trinity Auditorium.

The speakers, Dr. David Rebelsky and Samuel Dajan, shared the program with three concert artists, Joseph Borissoff, violinist; Nina Lissauer, soprano, and Joseph Cherniavsky, 'cellist, who was accompanied by his wife, Lora Cherniavsky. The proceeds of the meeting went to the local committee, which is aiding a nation-wide campaign to raise $500,000 for the benefit of the Jewish laborers in Palestine.

Actress Faces Taxi Bill Suit

Mollie O'Day, film actress, failed to pay her taxi bills, according to a suit on file in Municipal Court.

George Matray, operator of the Dow limousine and taxi service, asks $145 from the actress which he asserts is due on an open book account for service. She has failed to pay the account in spite of repeated demands for payment, Matray asserts.

Fox Theaters Acquire Chain in Northwest

Fox West Coast Theaters will extend their operations and building plans in the Pacific Northwest through the formation of a new circuit of theaters in that territory, to be known as the Washington division, a Fox announcement yesterday states.

The new theaters were obtained through a partnership arrangement with Frederick Mercy. They are in Toppenish, Sunnyside, Kennewick, Pasco and Walla Walla.

Operation will be supervised by Earl L. Crabb, division manager at Seattle.

STRAY GOLF BALLS PERIL HORSES ON BRIDLE PATHS

To prevent stray golf balls from striking horses on Griffith Park bridle trails, the Park Commission today will inspect a safety planting strip proposed by Landscape Engineer Hall.

Hall's plan provides for a change in the road between the two golf courses from a point near the foreman's house to a spot near No. 17 green on the Harding course, to provide space for the safety strip between the bridle path and automobile roadway.

That the hazards are not confined to the horses is indicated in the report of the field-house manager that a Dr. Fairfield of Indianapolis swung so hard at the ball on the second tee of the Wilson course that he broke two ankle bones recently.

Automobilists do not get off scot-free, either, for Landscape Engineer of Maintenance Roewekamp reported that while R. Parsley, a park employee, was rolling rocks down the mountain in Griffith Park a twenty-four-inch boulder got out of control and rolled into the road. He blew a warning whistle but a big sedan drove over the boulder and received damage.

Glover Tells of Great Fleet Planned for Pacific

Details as to Developments Not Yet Disclosed

Record Cargo to Be Taken West by Dollar Ship

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

The Pacific Coast, cradle for outstanding shipping brains, but languishing for physical equipment, "will find itself well fortified by a great merchant fleet to meet all foreign competition," in the words of W. Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster-General.

"They will have speed and accommodations of which any nation might be proud," he declared in a statement just released, forecasting the establishment of several "essential routes, all new in the trade of the world."

What developments impend only a few at Washington know. In the trans-Pacific trade, however, the Dollar, Matson and American-Hawaiian lines are seeking mail contracts, each as a basis for fast and costly fleets. Now comes the Kenneth Dawson group from Portland to announce plans for a $20,000,000 fleet.

Equally competitive is the proposal for a Pacific Coast-European service. International Mercantile Marine aspires to that, with liners larger and faster than the host of foreign ships now plying that lucrative trade. Dollar Line covets the same route, and the Dawson group has been openly after it for months.

Action is imperative, it is pointed out with the Nippon Yusen Kaisha throwing into the trans-Pacific trade three new liners greater than any western American craft, Canadian Pacific doing likewise, and Osaka Shoshen Kaisha introducing two faster globe-girdlers tapping this Coast. In the Pacific Coast-European service, it is recited, fifteen services, all with new ships, are operated under foreign flags, with no American competition.

Yet Mr. Glover assures America a greater and finer tonnage than ever sailed, adding:

"One of the outstanding achievements of President Hoover's term of office will be the restoration of the American merchant marine to its proper place among the fleets of the world."

SIX THOUSAND-TON CARGO SETS MARK

Six thousand tons of Southland merchandise will go out for the Near West, as the Orient now is called, on the Dollar trans-Pacific liner President Pierce today. This is the largest freight shipment ever taken westward by a liner from this port.

The President Pierce, which came from the Orient via San Francisco, arrived early yesterday morning, instead of at noon as scheduled, in order to handle the huge cargo and keep her outward sailing hour. She also is discharging 3000 tons, including rubber, cigars, copra meal, hemp and frozen Japanese albacore.

Dollar officials fail to see anything exceptional in the bumper outbound offerings, other than that "Los Angeles is developing trade." The items include 6000 bales of cotton, old newspapers, oil-well machinery, fresh fruit and canned sardines.

A score of passengers disembarked, and the liner will embark two score before sailing today.

A new headpiece was added to the uniform collection of the Calawaii master, Capt. Allen A. Sawyer, yesterday. It was a gift from the ship's officers in token of his birthday today, and it has laurel leaves on the peak, attesting command. The liner came in from Hawaii yesterday with 274 passengers, mail and island products. Travelers included Herbert B. Selby, Australian merchant; Robert Watson, Canadian author; James Ramacy, Alberta capitalist; Lieut. Charles Wellock, U.S.N., en route to Bremerton, Wash., for duty, and Hyatt Cox, broker of Edmonton, Can.

The battleship Colorado, which received 315 recruits this week-end, will sail today to rejoin the Battle Fleet at Guantanamo. She arrived Saturday after undergoing overhaul at Puget Sound navy yard.

Several score Knights Templar and drill team from San Diego will pass through tomorrow on the Lassco coastwise liner Yale, en route to Oakland for the State conclave.

Several changes in the officer personnel are announced on the Panama Mail liner Venezuela, in from San Francisco this morning and out with capacity passenger and freight lists tonight for New York and Central America. Marvyn Stone, chief officer, on vacation, is succeeded by Frank J. Kiley. William McLean broke an arm, and is substituted by Frank Robinson. Dr. Charles M. Wright yields one voyage to Dr. Basil M. Moody and J. Howard Crain gives way to Ernest Sonnefieth, former chief steward.
